U. S. MEN DIE IN BATTLE

TWO HELD AS I. C. BANDITS IN ROUNDUP OF 35

Results Promised by Alcock, Who Takes Charge.

Acting Chief of Police John H. Alcock yesterday took personal charge of a final determined drive to round up the gangs of criminals which have been killing and robbing citizens.

After an all day search, in which every available man on the force was used, it was said last night that at least two members of the band which held up the Illinois Central station at Randolph street, killed Dennis Tierney, and escaped with $1,800 were under arrest. They are:

Harry Emerson, alias Emery, and William Wilson, alleged driver of the car used by the gunmen guilty of the Stein Garter company pay roll robbery. Wilson was recently acquitted of a charge of murder. Another suspect who was identified as a holdup man was Morris Cohen.

Two Others Sought.

Through information given by a woman and further facts which have been elicited from James Pelikan, the chauffeur who drove the holdup men, the police believe they have established the identity of all the men concerned in the murder and robbery. It was stated late last night that a search was being made for George Kaiser, who has been employed until recently as a traveling auditor, and Abe Schaffer, ex-convict and gunman.

The woman who talked to the police is Mrs. Tillie Sullivan, 4140 West Monroe street. It is said she admitted that her place had been a meeting place for thieves and gunmen. She admitted signing bonds for some of them, but denied that she knew anything about any crimes her friends had committed. Her 17 year old daughter, Florence, corroborated the statements made by Mrs. Sullivan.

Men Visited House.

Mrs. Sullivan told the police that Raymond and Schaffner came to her place about 8 o'clock the morning after the Illinois Central crime and that four other men and a woman visited the place. It is believed that Wilson and Emerson were among these callers who come in an automobile.

Other strong evidence which the police have against Emerson is the fact that when arrested he had a bloodstained revolver with one empty shell and about $250 in money of small denomination, such as the slain Illinois Central collector had in his black bag which was stolen.

Woman Outwits Police.

Lieut. John Loftis and Detective Sergeants Crot, Welling, Ronan and Smith of the detective bureau, were close on the trail of the gang Saturday morning, the police believed. A trip to the flat of "Suicide Bess" Davis, 2141 West Madison street, gave them the first clew to an automobile containing four gunmen and a woman.

They next visited the flat of Mrs. Sullivan. She was being questioned when the telephone rang. She shouted through the transmitter that the police were there. She admitted yesterday that she was talking to Raymond. recent robberies looked them over.

Thirty-five Under Arrest.

The police rounded up thirty-five of the worst criminals that have ever been gathered in in a single drive in years. They were taken to the Fillmore street police station, where more than fifty victims and witnesses of recent robberies looked them over.

Partial identification of both Emerson and Wilson was made by several of the many persons who had witnessed the Illinois Central hold-up. Mrs. Jennie King, in charge of the station lunch room, and Mrs. Minnie Gorton, ticket seller, were among those who said the pair looked like men they had seen before, but did not resemble members of the robber gang.

Not I. C. Robbers?

Efforts to connect George Raymond, who was killed in the West side revolver fight between police and criminals Saturday night, and George Moran, his companion, with the Illinois Central murder and robbery were not successful.

The women visited the morgue and viewed Raymond's body. They said he was not one of the men. Moran was brought before the witnesses twice. Several thought he resembled one of

HALF RATIONS OF MILK TODAY; FARMERS STRIKE

Situation May Grow More Acute; Supply from Distance.

Half rations of milk will obtain in Chicago today and it is feared the situation will be more serious tomorrow. The city faces a protracted shortage, as the "passive strike" of milk producers continues to spread throughout northern Illinois and territory adjacent to Chicago in Wisconsin and Indiana.

Reports from the distributing companies last night indicated that less than 30 per cent of the normal supply had been delivered to them by milk producers in the Chicago zone. From the rural districts word came that many farmers who made deliveries yesterday will not do so today.

Five hundred pounds of milk against a normal daily receipt of 25,000 pounds were received at the Barrington plant of the Bowman company. The Bowman company from all its plants received only 20 per cent of its normal supply. The Ira J. Mix company received only 10 per cent. Other companies received between 25 and 60 per cent.

Arrange for Long Shipments.

While saying that the fight is that of the food administration, representatives of the distributing companies met at the Hotel La Salle and made arrangements to get milk to Chicago from without the Chicago zone. Milk is being shipped from St. Louis, Detroit, and other districts where there is a surplus.

Those farmers who are "passively striking" refuse to sell at $3.07, the price set by the milk commission. Any action which the state food administration may take is being deferred until Food Administrator Harry A. Wheeler, who arrived from the east late last night, can go into the matter. Rumors of contemplated action by the department of justice could not be verified.

Mr. Wheeler said he had yet to read the report of the commission and the minority report.

Farmers Will Appeal.

The farmers, in the meantime, are said to be preparing to appeal to President Wilson and congress. The annual meeting of the Illinois Milk Producers' association is to be held tomorrow at the Hotel La Salle. The convention will be careful to avoid any reference to a boycott. It is contended that the "passive strike" is the action of individuals and not of the association.

Appeals of the food administration to the farmers to live up to their agreement were met today in the rural districts by the tart reply that the food administration failed to live up to its agreement to have the commission set a price based on cost of production plus a fair profit.

The Farmers' Contention.

The farmers hang their case on the minority report, submitted by Willis J. Kittle, member of the milk commission. Mr. Kittle said the majority of the commission arbitrarily set a price of 12 cents per quart, then accepted in their entirety the distributors' statement of their costs, and ignored testimony offered by producers, giving them what was left.

In the meantime reports from Elgin, Aurora, Belvidere, Union, Ind., and other nearby milk producing centers said some farmers were preparing to sell their herds for slaughter while others are preparing to make butter from the cream and either feed the skim to hogs or sell it to condensed milk companies which make a milk substitute from skim milk and vegetable oils.

No reports of violence or picketing of bottling plants were received.

Reporter Brothers Save Four Lives at Small Fire

Clement and Raymond Manning, both newspaper reporters, saved the life of their mother last night when fire destroyed the upper portion of their house at 4815 St. Louis avenue.

Mrs. Manning, who has been confined to her bed by pneumonia, was in danger of the flames when the young men, after wrapping her in blankets, carried her to the house of a neighbor.

Two other houses were destroyed, that at 4821 St. Louis avenue being the home of Mrs. Margaret Grown, a widow, whose three small children also were rescued by the Manning brothers.

HEATLESS DAY RULES SLIGHTLY CHANGED TODAY

Cheered in some mild degree by the hope that this may be the last of the heatless Mondays, industries generally seemed disposed to observe today strictly and give no further heed to the matter of possible exemptions. Upon the return yesterday of Robert W. Childs, special assistant to the attorney general, a few changes were announced.

Mr. Childs said hotel news stands may not sell cigars. This rule was suspended by the state authorities last Monday, but is now regarded as necessary to the spirit of the fuel order. The order does not, however, forbid the sale of newspapers. All barber shops, in hotels and otherwise, will be permitted to maintain a holiday schedule, closing at noon.

Saloons are not expected to be open. It is considered probable some will disregard the spirit of the rule and keep open without lights and heat. Transportation lines will operate on holiday schedules as heretofore.

STEALS CHILD THAT RELATIVE MAY GET BLAME

New York, Feb. 3.—Three year old Lillian Rosner, who disappeared from Lenox avenue, in front of her home last Tuesday, tonight was restored to her mother's arms by detectives, who located the child in Brooklyn in the possession of Mrs. Sophia Berg, who came here from San Francisco last October.

Mrs. Berg told W. J. Lahey, second deputy police commissioner, she had stolen the child in the hope that the crime might be laid to Nathan Shapiro, her brother-in-law, with whom she had quarreled.

Protecting Mother, Boy, Dying, Kills Foster Father

Huntington, W. Va., Feb. 3.—Protecting his mother, it is said, against abuses of his stepfather, Harry Adams, 18, was shot by the foster parent, James Clark, in their mountain home at Glen Alum late last night. Young Adams, mortally wounded, fell to the floor of the cabin, where, before he died, he drew a gun and shot Clark to death.

THE WAR

Rome reports that fourteen enemy airplanes and a captive balloon were brought down Saturday on the Italian front. Heavy artillery fighting is in progress along the lower Piave river.

German strikers ordered to return to work today or face death by court martial. Deputy Dittmann held on high treason charge.

Berlin claims the repulse of French and British raids. Paris says German attacks were beaten off at many points.

Finland troops closing in on Red Guard rebels. Trotzky, in Helsingfors, offers Finn rebels Russian help.

BELGIAN FLEES FROM GERMAN 'SLAVERY ARMY'

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 3.—A London dispatch to the Ottawa agency of Reuter's Limited says it has received from a trustworthy Belgian citizen, who has just reached London from the German military zone at Valenciennes, an account of terrible conditions existing in the occupied districts of France, from which virtually no news ever reached England. For obvious reasons it could not be stated how this man escaped. He still bore traces of a heavy blow on the jaw and showed Reuter's representative a handful of natural teeth which had been knocked out by the butt end of a German guard's rifle.

"The Germans have organized a slavery army in the zone of northern France," he said. "When I left St. Amand a few weeks ago conditions were unbearable. All the men between the ages of 17 and 50 had been taken away. Unmarried women under 40 were obliged to work in the fields, while girls from 12 to 14 must collect acorns and nettles.

"Everywhere you meet civilians working under armed guard. Every one wears a brassard showing the town he comes from. Some wear brassard around the leg showing they tried to escape. I saw an old man with a large cross painted on his back. I knew what that signified. If you refuse to work you are fined; if you refuse to pay the fine you are imprisoned; if you refuse a second time you are sent to Germany, from where one seldom comes back alive."

REGISTRATION OF GERMANS HERE BEGINS TODAY

Registration of German enemy aliens will start this morning at every police station in Chicago. Every German born male, 14 years or older, who has not full citizenship papers must register. Registrants should report at their nearest police station. All who do not register by Saturday night face internment.

Natives of Alsace-Lorraine, born of French parents, who exhibit to the registration officers identification cards issued by the "Society of Friends of Alsace-Lorraine," or its successor, the "General Association of Alsatian-Lorrainers of America," and countersigned by a consul general or a consul of France, will be permitted to strike out from the registration affidavit the words "alien enemy."

They will be allowed to insert in place thereof the words "French Alsatian-Lorrainers."

Such persons must, however, fully register, and no other change in the affidavit or method of registration is permitted.

NO PEACE HOPE; 'HIT HARD,' WAR COUNCIL VOTES

U. S. and the Allies Agree on Unified Campaign.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The supreme war council, which met at Versailles, has decided on a vigorous prosecution of the war, according to an official announcement made here tonight. Complete unanimity of policy in fighting the central empires has been arrived at.

Official Statement Issued.

The text of the official statement on the Versailles conference follows:

"Meetings of the third session of the supreme war council held at Versailles, January 30 and 31, February 1 and 2.

"In addition to the members of the supreme war council itself, namely, MM. Clemenceau and Pichon for France, Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Milner for Great Britain, Prof. Orlando and Baron Sonnino for Italy, and the military representatives of the supreme war council, Gens. Weygand, Wilson, Cadorna, and Bliss, there were also present for the greater part of the purely military discussions the French and British chiefs of general staff, Gens. Foch and Robertson, the Italian minister of war, Gen. Alfieri, and the commanders-in-chief on the western front, Petain, Haig and Pershing.

A. H. Frazier, first secretary of the United States embassy at Paris, was present during the political discussions.

Plans for All Fronts.

"The decisions taken by the supreme war council in pursuance of this contingent embrace not only a general military policy to be carried out by the allies in all the principal theaters of the war, but more particularly a closer and more effective coordination under the council of all the efforts of the powers engaged in the struggle against the central empires.

"The functions of the council itself were enlarged and the principles of unity of policy and action initiated at Rapallo in November last received still further concrete and practical development. On all these questions a complete agreement was arrived at after the fullest discussion with regard to both the policy to be pursued and to the measures for its execution.

To Wage War Vigorously.

"Under the circumstances the supreme war council decided that the only immediate task before them lay in the prosecution of the war with the utmost vigor and the closest and most effective coöperation of the military effort of the allies until such time as the pressure of that effort shall have brought about in the enemy governments and peoples a change of temper which would justify the hope of the conclusion of peace on terms which would not involve the abandonment, in the face of an aggressive and unrepentent militarism, of all the principles of freedom, justice, and respect for the law of nations which the allies are resolved to vindicate.

No Hope for Peace.

"The supreme war council gave the most careful consideration to the recent utterances of the German chancellor and the Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, but was unable to find in them any real approximation to the moderate conditions laid down by all the allied governments. This conviction was only deepened by the impression made by the contrast between the professed idealistic aims with which the central powers entered upon the present negotiations at Brest-Litovsk and their now openly disclosed plans of conquest and spoliation.

"The allies are united in heart and will, not by any hidden designs, but by their open resolve to defend civilization against an unscrupulous and brutal attempt at domination.

Will Fight Till Victory.

"This unanimity is confirmed by a unanimity no less complete, both as regards the military policy to be pursued and as regards measures needed for its execution which will enable them to meet the violence of the enemy's onset with firm and quiet confidence, with the utmost energy and with the knowledge that neither their strength nor their steadfastness can be shaken.

"The splendid soldiers of our free democracies have won their place in history by their immeasurable valor and their magnificent heroism, and the no less noble endurance with which our civilian populations are bearing

WORK OR FACE DEATH TRIAL, GERMANS TOLD

Deputy Dittmann Held on a Charge of High Treason.

BULLETIN.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 4.—A new strike movement, the Berlinger Tageblatt of Saturday evening announces, began at Jena Saturday. About one-third of the workmen are striking.

[Jena, a university town in the grandduchy of Saxe-Weimer, has a population of about 21,000. A number of factories manufacturing technical instruments are located there.]

LONDON, Feb. 3.—According to the Socialist paper Vorwaerts, the trial of the Socialist deputy, Wilhelm Dittmann, has already opened before an extraordinary court martial. He is charged with inciting to high treason, resistance to public authority, and transgression of the prohibition against participating in the direction of the strike.

The Lokal Anzeiger says he urged in a speech that the strike must be maintained.

Gen. von Kessel, military commandant of Brandenburg province, in which Berlin is situated, threatens summary punishment of strikers who fail to obey his order that they resume work on Monday morning. An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen says the proclamation set 7 o'clock as the hour at which they must return to work, adding:

"Employés failing to resume work will be tried by court martial, which is authorized to impose sentence of death, execution to take place within twenty-four hours of the time the sentence is imposed."

Strike Breaking Down.

The drastic military measures seem to have had the effect of breaking down the German strike movement.

Very little news has come through today, and that mainly semi-official assurances that the strike is ended and that work will be resumed tomorrow.

These semi-official dispatches admit that the result was obtained by military measures and threats to draft recalcitrants into the army.

Renew Ship Strike.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 3.—After more than half the shipyard workers at Hamburg had resumed work the strikers' committee there resolved to call out the workmen again Saturday, according to a copy of the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger of that day received here.

Ending of the strike in Germany on Monday is predicted in a semi-official statement issued in Berlin on Saturday evening.

Strike at Triest Halted.

A Triest dispatch, received by way of Berlin, reports that a general strike, including the shipyard workers, was declared there. A deputation of the strikers interviewed the governor, demanding peace and food.

After hearing the governor's reply, which dwelt especially on the recent speech of Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, the strikers held a further meeting and decided to resume work. This they have already done.

HAM AND TURNIP JOKES MAKE THE KAISER PEEVISH

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 3.—The artist who designed paper money of the denomination of 50 pfennigs, which now is being circulated in several rural towns of Prussia, has been arrested at Nieberlahnstein on the charge of holding up the fatherland to ridicule. His offense lay, according to the Massbode of Rotterdam, in the ornamentation on the margin of the bills.

After the money had been in circulation for some time, it was discovered that the marginal decorations consisted mostly of drawings of articles of food.

Above a picture of a ham the artist inscribed in microscopic letters: "A tender memory and a fond hope." Over a design of three turnips he wrote: "This is how the Germans live."

ETHEL FORGAN LEAVES FOR EAST ON WAY TO FRONT

Miss Ethel Forgan, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David R. Forgan of Evanston, left yesterday morning for New York, where she will soon embark for France to aid in the work of the American fund for French wounded.

The Misses Helen and Sarah Farwell, who will work with Miss Forgan in the same cause, arrived in New York Friday with their mother, Mrs. Granger Farwell, and will sail at the same time.

SECTOR OF LINE IS TAKEN OVER BY PERSHING

2 Killed, 9 Wounded in First Big Gun Duel.

(By the Associated Press.)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Feb. 3.—American troops now are occupying a sector of the Lorraine front in France. This announcement is permitted by the military censor.

The whole sector is resounding with the boom of guns.

A German barrage fire at sundown last night opened the heaviest bombardment of many days along the American sector, the American artillery replying shell for shell as the firing of the heavy guns spread along several kilometers of front.

Two Die, Nine Hurt.

Two Americans were killed and nine wounded during the bombardment, and one suffered shell shock.

It was ascertained today that the American gunners wrecked several of the enemy dugouts and so badly damaged the first line positions that at one point the Germans were unable to occupy them Sunday.

Concentrate Their Fire.

When the bombardment had reached its greatest intensity the Germans suddenly concentrated their fire at two points, throwing about 250 shells into a town in which the headquarters of a certain regiment are located and which heretofore had been immune to enemy fire.

After the bombardment a wounded American soldier was discovered in a position where it was necessary to carry him over a trench top to a field dressing station. A medical corps man displayed the Red Cross and the Germans ceased firing until the man was removed.

Enemy snipers wounded two Americans slightly early this morning.

Fight in the Air.

A shift of the wind today cleared away the mist which has hindered aerial operations and other activities for several days. A number of battles in the air were fought by patrolling planes early this afternoon. In one instance the French aviators defeated an attempt of German fliers to cross behind the American trenches.

The artillery and snipers also have become increasingly active. American 75s are harassing traffic behind the enemy trenches. The Germans are confining their fire largely to the American trenches.

Machine Guns Rattle.

Throughout Friday night machine guns rattled ceaselessly from German positions.

The French commander of a sausage balloon squadron, who was an artillery officer at Verdun during the heaviest fighting and also participated in the Somme offensive, declared today that the work of certain American batteries at the front is "almost perfect."

The correspondents permanently accredited to the American army have been informed that they may proceed to virtually any point within the zone of fire, except the trenches, without escort and without special permission.

Arrangements were made today whereby newspaper men may proceed to any brigade headquarters a few kilometers behind the trenches after first reporting their presence within the zone to the headquarters of the division of which the brigade is a part. Unless there is some occurrence which makes it inadvisable in the opinion of the brigade commander for correspondents to move nearer the front they may walk from his headquarters to regimental headquarters behind the lines.

IN VERDUN REGION.

The fact that American troops were in the trenches in Lorraine was revealed by the German war office three months ago. At that time, according to an official German announcement, the Americans were on the front at the Rhine-Marne canal, which intersects the battle line near the German border, due east of Nancy.

This announcement was made in the official report from Berlin of the first German raid on the American positions, in which three Americans were killed, five wounded, and twelve captured.

The eastern end of the battle line in France and Belgium runs through French and German Lorraine. French Lorraine, in which is the American sector, is included in the departments of Meuse, the capital of which is Verdun; Meurthe-et-Moselle, whose capital is Nancy, and Vosges, with the capital at Epinal. The length of the front in French Lorraine is about 150 miles.

Where Battle Line Runs.

This section of the battle line extends into the Meuse from the Marne near St. Menehould, and runs eastward to the north of Verdun, south to St. Mihiel, and east to the German border. There it turns to the southeast, and almost parallels the border to the vicinity of Leintry. Below Leintry it cuts across a section of French soil, past Badonviller and Senones, and to the east of St. Die, and again crosses the German border at a point west of Colmar. The remainder of the line to the Swiss boundary is in Germany.

Since the battle of Verdun there has been no fighting of great importance along this front. For the most part it runs through high and broken country. Since the present battle line was established early in the war there has been comparatively little activity on the front to the east of the Verdun sector, the nature of the country making large operations impracticable.

BULGARS MAKE PROTEST UPON PEACE VIEWS

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 3.—A dispatch from Sofia to the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin says strong protests have been made in the Bulgarian parliament against the silence regarding Bulgaria's war aims which have marked recent German and Austrian pronouncements. Premier Radoslavoff, speaking in the chamber of deputies, attributed the omission to "urgent business which Germany and Austria-Hungary had in their own countries."

In the debate which followed it was stated that the Bulgarian people were astonished and disappointed at the omission and demanded unequivocal enlightenment in regard to the attitude of Germany and Austria.

M. Malinoff, leader of the democratic party, asserted that the people would not be content until Bulgarian war aims received the formal approval of the German reichstag.

Dead Soldier's Mother Gets Cross of War

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 3.—The cross of war of the French republic, awarded to Thomas F. Enright, private in the American expeditionary forces in France, who was killed, with two of his comrades, in the first engagement between the United States troops and those of Germany, has been received by his next of kin, his sister, Mrs. Mary Irwin of Pittsburgh. Accompanying the medal was a photograph of the little cemetery in France in which were buried the first American dead. The photograph shows the graves of Private Enright, Corporal James G. Gresham of Evansville, Ind., and Private Merle D. Hay of Glidden, Ia., all killed in the first engagement.

Women Make Fast Time in Auto Race on Coast

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 3.—Women motor drivers made fast time today in what was said to have been the first woman's automobile race meeting ever held under all conditions as in sanctioned races for men drivers. The race was made possible under the suspension during the war of the American Automobile association rule prohibiting women from participating in races.

EXPECT ALLIES TO WIN VICTORY DURING SPRING

Beat German Drive and Then Attack, Is the Program.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—President Wilson and Col. House, chairman of the recent American war mission to the allies, believe that conditions are distinctly favorable to victory for the cause of the United States and the entente this spring.

The first requisite is to hold the line in the west intact against the drive of the reinforced German army that is to be hurled against the allies. All the powers of the nations opposing Germany are being directed to the organization of this resistance.

The reinforcements of the German army on the western front are variously estimated all the way from 500,000 to 1,000,000, chiefly withdrawn from the eastern line since the collapse of Russia. With even the minimum of such forces Germany would be numerically superior to the allies.

America May Be Delayed.

Secretary of War Baker has promised that there will be 500,000 soldiers in France "early in 1918." How many of these will be fit for the firing line when the spring operations open only Gen. Pershing knows.

He has complained of the lack of training displayed by recently arrived officers, and it is assumed that privates as well as officers will be compelled to overcome the defects of training on this side of the Atlantic. If any large proportion of American troops is compelled to undergo extended training in France, the participation of the United States in the spring operations will be considerably diminished.

Britain Sends More Men.

France cannot strengthen the line appreciably, but Great Britain is reported to be sending reinforcements of home troops, which are being replaced from the additional 500,000 civilians being called to the colors.

With these reinforcements the allies are confident that the German drive can be successfully resisted, though the cost may be great. That the line must be held up despite losses is the principle upon which the allies are proceeding.

The president has been assured by his military advisers that the German drive can be halted and that developments at any time may open the way to an allied advance.

Although administration officials are loath to place too much credence in the reports of the wide spread strikes in Germany, it is known that Col. House sees signs that the German people are not prepared to endure another year of warfare and are not disposed to accept with equanimity the defeat of another costly drive on the western front.

Germans in Bad Shape.

"Undoubtedly the internal situation in Germany is bad," a war department official said tonight when I asked his opinion of the strike reports. "It always has been bad in Austria-Hungary.

"My own notion of the immediate cause of the trouble in Germany is that the Berlin officials made too much noise about a projected great offensive on the western front. The German people apparently determined that the government sought peace with Russia only in order to enable the military leaders to conduct another offensive in the west.

"A major offensive on the scale advertised probably would mean the loss of another million men in killed and wounded. This does not appeal to the average German in civil life, who has been going on scant rations for more than three and a half years."

There is no doubt that the reports of the disturbances in Germany have affected the administration policy. It is believed that the leaven of the president's appeals to the German people is at work. At any rate the president has decided to delay responding to the German and Austrian peace speeches pending the outcome of the apparent storm of internal disapproval raised by the refusal of the Prussian autocracy to make concessions.

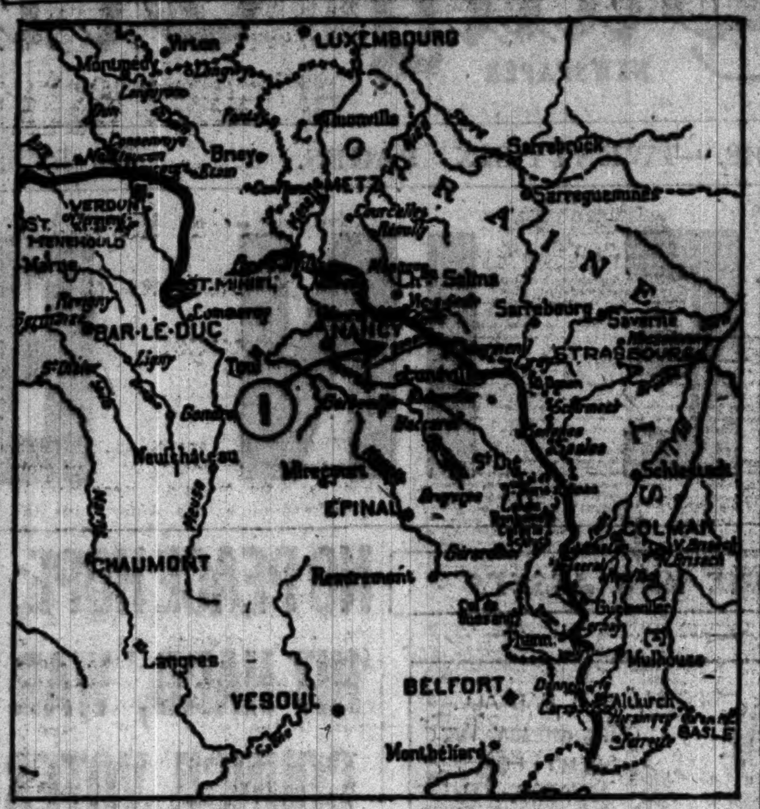
Ask Aid to Bolsheviki.

In connection with the backfire against the Prussian war lords, it transpires that great pressure is being brought to bear upon the administration to recognize the Bolshevik government of Russia. It is the irony of fate that the Bolsheviki, who dealt a terrible blow to the entente by taking Russia out of the war, are now powerfully influencing the German people to repudiate their rulers' ambitions of conquest.

For thus helping the entente to win the war by promoting disaffection in Germany, the Bolsheviki should be rewarded by recognition, argue many officials recently returned from Russia, notably Col. William Boyce Thompson, head of the Red Cross in Russia, who is now here consulting with the administration.

"The present internal troubles in Germany and Austria are directly traceable to the Bolshevik doctrines of democracy, which had begun to permeate across the border before I left," said Col. Thompson. "In this clash between German autocracy, on the one side, and the Russian democracy principles on the other, the German war lords are now beginning to discover that these principles were made of sterner stuff than they bargained for. The doctrines of the Russian workingmen's government are steadily undermining the power of brute force."

WHERE THE AMERICANS ARE FIGHTING



The American sector is on Lorraine frontier, almost directly east of Nancy.

The battle line on the southeastern French front extends from the Marne north of St. Menehould and runs eastward past Verdun, thence southward to St. Mihiel, then east to the German border. Turning southeast the line nearly parallels the border, to a point near Leintry, where it cuts across French soil past Badonvilles and Senones, to the east of St. Die, and thence across the German border again west of Colmar. The rest of the line is in Germany.

The American sector apparently is right on the border, since the Berlin war office has announced that United States prisoners were taken near the Rhine—Marne canal, due east of Nancy.

WAR SUPPLIES OF EX-CZAR ARE TAKEN BY COURT

New York, Feb. 3.—Property in a Brooklyn warehouse, said to belong to Nicholas Romanoff, former emperor of Russia, was seized today by deputy sheriffs under a writ of attachment issued by the Supreme court of Brooklyn.

The court decided last Friday that as long as Mr. Romanoff was emperor no action could be brought against him in New York, but since he has lost the position he could be sued as any other private citizen.

The attachment was to protect the claim of the Marine Transportation Service company on a claim of $2,615,762 for alleged breach of contract for the shipment of supplies to Russia. The property, which is said to be worth $20,000,000, consists of automobiles, rifles, barbed wire, and other war material.

U. S. NOT SURPRISED.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The report that the interallied war council at Versailles has decided that the recent speeches of Chancellor von Hertling and Count Czernin in reply to the war aims addresses of President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George offer no basis for peace and that the war should be prosecuted vigorously came as no surprise to official Washington.

High administration officials have said from the first that they saw little that was really conciliatory in the speech of Von Hertling and that the more friendly tone of Count Czernin was offset by his declaration that Austria-Hungary would stand loyally with Germany in any stand Berlin might take regarding measures directly affecting Germany.

Bliss Represented U. S.

The supreme war council was convened last Tuesday at Versailles, France, under the chairmanship of Georges Clemenceau, the French premier, and ended Saturday. It had been forecast that the council would be important and that at it momentous decisions would be reached, both as regarded the prosecution of the war and the possibilities of peace.

The United States was represented in the council by Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, chief of staff of the American army. For Great Britain the representatives were Premier Lloyd George and Maj. Gen. Sir Henry Hughes Wilson, sub chief of the British general staff; for Italy, Premier Orlando, Foreign Minister Sonnino and Gen. Cadorna, and for France, Foreign Minister Pinchon, Gen. Ferdinand Foch, chief of staff of the ministry of war, and Gen. Maximo Weygand.

4 WINTERS OF WAR FAILS TO SHAKE FRENCH

Poilu, with Quiet Fatalism, "Goes Over the Top" or Stands Guard.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Jan. 14.—[Correspondence.]—Although great military operations have come to a standstill for the moment there is no cessation of vigilance on any part of the French front. Whether in Alsace, Lorraine, around Verdun, in the Argonne or Champagne, or on the Laon plateau, the French soldier stands on guard, just as keen as four winters ago. In mud, shell holes, in snow and almost arctic frosts he watches, or, when it is thought necessary to investigate what the enemy is doing, he goes over the top and advances toward the German lines with the same ardor as at the beginning of French warfare; only to his dash he has added the experience gained in numberless encounters.

The correspondent, who has been in the closest touch with the French troops on dozens of battlefields through months and years of the hardest fighting, has been able to study the psychology of the French soldier, both while he is engaged in mortal combat and while he is at his so-called repose. Nothing strikes the observer more than the quiet fatalism with which these troopers from the farms and factories and offices of all the provinces and cities of France go forward to the attack.

Calm as They Await Order.

A glance at the troops when they assemble in the front line in preparation for an operation shows an absence of excitement. In most cases the men participating in a big attack have been brought from the cantonments in the rear only a few hours before they are ordered to go over.

In the front line they crouch and sit and lie down as well as they can in the muddy and often partly demolished trenches and advanced saps, waiting for their officers to give the word that means death or wounds for probably many of their number.

In spite of the heavy firing and its accompanying casualties among the French troops, the men awaiting the final order remain impassive. Most of them have been over the top before and know the inevitable cost of an advance across No Man's Land and an assault on the enemy's line.

Prepares for Long Stay.

Their coolness in face of these perils is marvelous. Some of them smoke; others take a sip from their water bottles; still others look to the sights and breeches of their rifles or overhaul their hand grenades. All the time their noncoms and officers, just as coolheaded as the men, walk about among them passing a cheering word here or giving a little advice there, and from time to time consulting their watches so as not to miss the time fixed for the attack, for success depends on their absolute punctuality.

At length the minute arrives, and then all along the zigzagging line heavily clothed figures are seen climbing out of the deep trench. Each French soldier when he advances wears his thick overcoat and carries sufficient rations to last him several days, especially when the objective is the capture of an enemy position, for the enemy generally opens a barrage fire which prevents supplies from going forward without enormous loss of life. Besides this, the French soldier carries his rifle and bayonet, several pouches of cartridges, a number of hand grenades, and his entrenching tools.

Waves Advance Slowly.

The pace at which the successive waves of infantry advances is necessarily slow, but, even so, the officers and noncoms have sometimes to check the impetuosity of the men, who otherwise might walk right into the curtain of fire from their own artillery which sweeps before them gradually and forces the enemy to seek shelter.

When the assaulting troops reach their objectives they begin immediately to consolidate their positions by the use of pick and spade and sandbags.

The holding of a captured position is one of the most trying tasks for the troops, for almost inevitably a counter attack, or perhaps several, will be launched by the Germans, and it is then that the discipline and tenacity of the men are put to the severest test. The enemy knows the exact position and outline of the works he has lost and is thus able to turn his guns on the occupants with the greatest accuracy.

LOCATED IN PRISON

Six of Twelve Americans Captured Are in Camp at Tuchel, West Prussia.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—Six of the twelve American soldiers reported missing after the German trench raid on Nov. 3 have been located by the Red Cross in a prison camp at Tuchel, West Prussia, Gen. Pershing reported to the war department tonight.

They were captured in the first assault launched by the Germans on an American sector.

The six prisoners, with two others taken in subsequent actions, are:

Private Herschel Godfrey, 709 Ridgeway avenue, Chicago.

Private Harry R. Loughman, 461 Oakwood boulevard, Chicago.

Sergt. Edgar W. Halyburton, Stony Point, N. C.

Private Daniel B. Gallagher, Blocton, Ala.

Private Clyde F. Grimsley, Stockton, Kas.

Private Hoyt D. Decker, Vincennes, Ind.

Private John P. Lester, Tutwiler, Miss.

Private Vernon M. Kendall, Roll, Okla.

The dispatches confirmed press reports of the death of Private Roy O. Garver of Decatur, Ill., in an airplane accident.

The dispatches reported also that Private John A. Goodrum, infantry, of McLean, Tex., had been severely wounded in action on Jan. 24. Private John L. Bray, infantry, of Drum, Ky., was reported slightly wounded in action on Jan. 30, and Corporal Roy E. Doughty, infantry, of Shaw, Miss., on Feb. 1.

The following deaths by natural causes were announced:

First Lieut. Francis F. Hanbidge, medical reserve corps, pneumonia, Ogdensburg, N. Y.

Private William O. Jones, stevedore, pneumonia, Houston, Tex.

Private Albert W. Nelson, engineers, meningitis, Acme, Wash.

Private Tolliver Quinn, quartermaster corps, pneumonia, 2571 Walnut street, St. Louis, Mo.

Corporal Hollis M. Smith, infantry, Jan. 31, empyema, Rock, Kas.

Bugler Fay F. Chrisman, field artillery, pneumonia, 1220 North Twelfth street, St. Joseph, Mo.

Sergt. Philip J. Callery, infantry, Feb. 1, hemorrhage, Milford, Mass.

FLYER'S OMEN IN LETTER HOME HAS SEQUEL IN DEATH

Decatur Boy Provided for Mother by War Insurance.

Decatur, Ill., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—"In case I am one of the unlucky ones," wrote Roy O. Garver to his widowed mother from England on Dec. 5, when he told her of taking out a $10,000 insurance policy. Today the news of his death, first received here on Thursday, was confirmed by the adjutant general in Washington, who stated that Garver had been fatally injured in an airplane accident and died on Jan. 28. His mother is prostrated. An effort will be made to have the body brought here for burial.

His Promotion Rapid.

Garver, who had recently been made a first lieutenant in the aviation section, had been in England since last September taking intensive training in flying. He had been making trips at the Shoreham school without an instructor for about a month and a half, according to letters received by Decatur relatives. Before enlisting he was a stenographer in the office of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, with prospects of becoming a private secretary.

Garver was given his early training at Columbus, O., remaining there until August. On his arrival in England he was sent to Oxford, where he obtained further preliminary training. He was later sent to Sanford, and a few weeks ago was transferred to the school at Shoreham, Sussex. He was enthusiastic about the training and entered into his work with such a spirit that he was rapidly promoted.

His Last Letter Reassuring.

His last letter, which his mother received on the same day that the first news of his death came, was written Jan. 11. In it he reassures his mother concerning the enlistment of another relative who has also joined the flying service. He says:

"I am glad Ernest chose the aviation section. It is the most interesting of all and is of inestimable value to the ones who last through it and I consider it far less dangerous than the infantry. I wouldn't take a lot for the training I have received and have never regretted my enlistment for an instant.

"I hope you will not worry about us, mother, for we are by no means doomed. So don't worry about us at all, as you are well provided for, financially and otherwise. It will be some time before Ernest can possibly be in danger and he will be receiving a wonderful training."

CHICAGOANS MADE HAPPY.

The news that Privates Herschel Godfrey of 709 Ridgeway avenue and Harry Loughman of 461 Oakwood boulevard were alive and in a prison camp in Prussia, came to their families while they were at dinner together yesterday.

The parents had not known each other before Nov. 3, when both boys were reported as missing. Then mutual sympathy brought them together. Young Godfrey is the son of Mrs. William C. Oberst, at whose home the Loughmans were when the telegram containing the news arrived from Washington.

Both boys enlisted before the draft was operative.

Carrying the Colors to Victory

THE "lines of communication" begin on the Pacific Coast and end on the battle fields of Europe.

So every freight train, laden with the product of farm or factory—or coal and ores from the mines—or lumber from the forests—is on the all important business of war, quite as important as the munition trains to the first line trenches—and must have the right of way.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company finds great pride in becoming thus in a complete sense a great military highway—in now being able to serve under the commander-in-chief in carrying the colors to victory.

Also this company finds great satisfaction in the service it has been performing for the nation since the war began. Great stores of food, of fuel, of manufactured products have poured from the Pacific Northwest over this line—and not one ton of precious coal—not one barrel of oil has been consumed in transporting them across the great mountain ranges—for the very forces of the mountains themselves have been employed to perform this gigantic task electrically—and every day while the war goes on this wonderful electrification achievement will be contributing its tremendous savings of coal and oil, and the railroad equipment necessary to haul them—all so vital to the successful prosecution of the war.

Although curtailing travel luxuries and to some extent readjusting schedules, this railway will continue to operate trains through to the Pacific North Coast, and the service will be characterized by the usual attention to the comfort and convenience of its guests.

FINLAND ARMY CLOSING IN ON REBEL TROOPS

Leader of Diet Is Slain in Prison; Trotzky in Helsingfors.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 3.—Troops of the Finnish government under Gen. Mannerheim appear to be closing in on the revolutionary Red Guards at Uleaborg, on the Gulf of Bothina, according to news reaching Haparanda. A dispatch to the Aftonbladet says the Red Guards in Uleaborg sent a delegation to Gen. Mannerheim for the purpose of reaching an agreement with him, but the general declined to deal with the rebels and arrested the members of the delegation as bandits.

Two hundred of the Red Guard, who left Tornea on Friday to reinforce the revolutionists at Uleaborg, found that the railway had been torn up a few miles south of Tornea and that government troops had taken up positions between Tornea and Kemi.

Government forces also are reported to be approaching Uleaborg from the south.

Russian Officers Flee.

A number of Russian officers have made their escape from Kemi over the ice to Haparanda. They say the soldiers attempted to lynch them and their commander, whose house was fired. The commander escaped.

The situation at Helsingfors is increasingly serious. The Red Guard appears to be entirely in control. It is reported that the Bolsheviki are sending a large body of troops from Petrograd to Helsingfors. The telegraph wires between those cities have been cut.

A telegram from Helsingfors reports the assassination in prison of Deputy Emikkola, a leading member of the diet, and hints at further cases of the same kind.

Scandinavians Quit City.

The Red guard and their Russian helpers are reported to be murdering and plundering in Helsingfors. Thirty bodies are in the city morgue.

The Scandinavians in Helsingfors are leaving the city. Two trains have already departed for a port where four Swedish steamers are awaiting the arrival of the refugees.

The Bank of Finland's gold reserve is reported to be safe in the hands of the government forces.

A delegation of prominent Swedish editors held a meeting in Stockholm and later called on Prof. Eden, the Swedish premier, and Dr. Hellner, minister of foreign affairs, and declared their intention of aiding the forces of law in Finland in their struggle against anarchism and barbarism.

The ministers expressed warm sympathy for Finland but said that no official intervention could be expected.

The Svenska Dagbladet, in a leading article, openly advocates assistance for the troops of the Finnish government in the way of arms and ammunition. Apart from an unimportant group of Swedish Left Socialists, the country's sympathies are strongly with the Finnish government, but there is little sentiment in favor of active intervention.

Trotzky Addresses Finns.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Leon Trotzky, Bolshevik foreign minister, is reported in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen to have arrived at Helsingfors, capital of Finland, which is in the hands of the revolutionaries. He made a speech from the portico of a government building, the dispatch says, and advised the people to follow Russia's example, in which case they would be rewarded by full support from Russia.

Red Guards attempted yesterday to search the house of Gen. Silverhjelm, [illegible] years old. He held them off with a revolver, killing several of them and then committed suicide.

M. Trotzky has been head of the Russian delegation at Brest-Litovsk, whither he went last week, according to an Amsterdam dispatch on Wednesday, for resumption of the peace negotiations. This is the first intimation that he had left Brest-Litovsk.

Bulgarian Premier Joins Parleys.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 3.—Premier Radoslavoff of Bulgaria has arrived at Brest-Litovsk for the continuation of the peace conference, according to a dispatch from Vienna.

The German report on Friday's session of the peace delegations at Brest-Litovsk says it was occupied mainly with discussion of the standing of the Ukrainian and Finnish delegates. The Bolsheviki contended they have displaced the former governments in Finland and Ukraine.

The delegates who represented Ukraine at the former sessions insisted they had been already acknowledged by Leon Trotzky, Bolshevik foreign minister, and declined to retire. Finland's plenipotentiaries issued a declaration denying the Finnish government had been overthrown and insisting the revolutionaries had succeeded merely in assuming power temporarily by forcible means in a small section of southern Finland. The delegates contended that they represented the rightful Finnish government and possessed authority to represent the country in the negotiations.

Samuel J. Birkenstadt Found Dead in Office

Samuel J. Birkenstadt, 61 years old, for forty years head of the cleaning and dyeing concern bearing his name, was found dead in his office in the Stevens building last night.

Mr. Birkenstadt, who lived at 5116 South Michigan avenue, went to his establishment early in the evening, it was said, to complete some inventory work. He had apparently been overcome while trying to stop the leakage from a gas pipe. The body was found by Harry Eickron, an employé.

U. S. EXPOSED GERMAN PLANS FOR SUPPLIES

Spent Millions Before New Yorker Was Interned.

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—In the first few weeks of the European war the German government realized that as the war progressed and the British blockade was tightened it was going to need all the wool, cotton, jute, resin and other raw materials it could possibly smuggle past the allied navies.

The result was the formation of a great secret organization, principally of banks, to go out into the world's market and buy these materials and then get them into Germany.

For over two years the plan worked almost to perfection, and Germany was able to get millions of dollars' worth of sorely needed supplies, especially cotton, wool, and jute. The cotton she obtained in the United States, the wool in this country and in British South Africa, and the jute in India.

Records In a Safe.

And all the time that the big foreign purchasing machine was functioning there was locked up in the safe of Hugo Schmidt, the agent in New York of the Deutsche bank, an almost complete history of all the German transactions in enemy and neutral countries, and had Bolo Pasha remained away from the United States those documents would probably still be in the possession of Schmidt, or some other trusted agent of the German government.

But Bolo Pasha came to New York in 1916 and entered into negotiations with Ambassador von Bernstorff, the head of the German secret activities in the United States, to get financial backing for a plot the purpose of which was to debauch the French press in favor of a separate peace on pro-German lines.

Bolo, with one Adolph Pavenstedt acting as the go-between and Hugo Schmidt as the paymaster, obtained from the German government, through Bernstorff, more than $1,700,000 and then returned to France.

Bolo Getting "In Bad."

On his return he found that the French authorities had grown suspicious and had requested the governor of New York to investigate his activities during the period he was plotting with Bernstorff in New York and Washington.

In the course of this investigation Attorney General Lewis seized all the papers in the possession of Hugo Schmidt.

The papers make an interesting disclosure regarding Hugo Schmidt. He arrived in New York two months after the war began and the first thing he did was to make a declaration of his intention to become an American citizen. He did this despite the fact that the papers indicate beyond a doubt that he came here to further the war purposes of the fatherland. He did not become a citizen, and is now interned as "a dangerous enemy alien."

LOSES FIFTH SON

German Nobleman Receives Condolences from Kaiser in His Sorrow.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 3.—Count von Roon, a German nobleman, has lost his fifth son in the war. A dispatch from Breslau to the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin says Emperor William sent a telegram to the count expressing his deep regret and adding:

"May your pain be soothed by the certainty that the German people are proud of the fathers and sons who, to the honor of their famous names, willingly sacrifice their lives for the fatherland. May God stand by you with his consolation."

SELFRIDGE SAYS AIR RAIDS ONLY IRRITATE BRITISH

An Atlantic Port, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—German air raids over London have not affected business and England has taken them so coolly that Germany has branded the Zeppelin as "utterly useless," according to H. Gordon Selfridge, wealthy London dry goods merchant, who arrived here today aboard an American steamship from France.

Except for the sadness which follows air raids they are merely regarded as irritating, and crowds of Britishers refuse to be stampeded, Mr. Selfridge said. In his store, he explained, word of an impending raid sends customers and employés to the basement, where they are entertained by a phonograph concert until the police announce the danger is over. At night, if there is any danger of a raid, the watchman of the store opens the great cellar and thousands of men, women and children flock there, he said.

Mr. Selfridge said he believes the present labor trouble in the German empire is the beginning of the end for Germany. He takes little stock in the Bolshevik government in Russia, and asserted that Russia today "is like a man with a fever that must run its course."

Mr. Selfridge, who is well known to Chicago business men, left for that city direct.

PRIEST BECOMES ARMY CHAPLAIN.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 3.—The Rev. C. L. O'Donnell of Notre Dame university, this city, has been commissioned a chaplain with the rank of first lieutenant. He has been assigned to the Forty-second division. He is the fifth Notre Dame priest to enter the army within the last three weeks. Father O'Donnell is considered one of the brightest students of English in the United States.

THREE MEN SHOT IN CAR RIOTS IN ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 3.—Three men have been shot during riots and more than 100 persons, many of them Industrial Workers of the World, arrested as a result of the strike of street car conductors and motormen, which came like a bolt from a clear sky shortly before midnight last night.

Albert Hoeldge, a striker, said he was shot from a car window. Another striker was shot at the car barns in the western part of the city.

Some cars were operated today, but all owl service was suspended tonight.

Every policeman in the city was ordered tonight to report for duty at 5:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. A resumption of normal car service on every line in the city will be attempted at 6 a. m. with strike breakers.

For nearly a month agents of the federal department of justice have been watching the local organization of the I. W. W., an operative of the department having joined the order and been chosen an officer.

The demands of the union were presented to the company in the form of a contract Saturday afternoon. They demand 40 to 45 cents an hour, as against the present scale of 26 to 32 cents an hour, and eight hours a day on daylight runs, and nine hours on "p. m." runs.

Motormen or conductors who have been "reduced to make room for a junior motorman or conductor" since Jan. 1 are to be returned to the runs they had Jan. 1.

The term "junior" refers to women conductors, who, the men charge, have taken daylight runs. There is no demand that women be discharged.

GREAT MEETINGS MARK OPENING OF THRIFT WEEK

Patriotism at Its Height as Economy Is Urged.

"Thrift week" opened amid tremendous enthusiasm yesterday. Two monster patriotic meetings were held in the afternoon at the Auditorium and in the evening at the Stockyards pavilion.

In the afternoon a "How to Win the War" meeting witnessed the packing of the Auditorium, every seat of the 4,500 being occupied, and the stage crowded, while 3,000 disappointed would-be spectators were unable to find place. The audience was enthusiastic almost to the point of frenzy, and at times the place was a sea of tiny American flags, which were waved when the band of the United States navy from Great Lakes, which occupied the stage, played patriotic airs and when any speaker made a telling point.

Women Distribute Flags.

These flags were circulated by a band of twenty-five women "emergency drivers," who spread through the theater in their blue uniforms and later occupied seats on the stage.

The theater was decorated by festoons of American flags, while the banners of the nation's allies were also ranged along the walls, stage, and boxes. On one side of the theater was a huge painting of George Washington, surrounded by bunting, while on the other side was a similar painting of President Wilson.

The meeting was addressed by Peter S. Lambros, Lieut. Andrew M. Naismith of the Canadian forces, and Dr. Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago. E. A. Bancroft presided.

6,000 at Night Meeting.

Mr. Bancroft also presided at the night meeting, which was attended by 6,000 persons. The speakers at this meeting were Clarence S. Darrow, Hans Rieg, chief of the foreign language division of the treasury department bureau of publicity, and Brig. Gen. James E. Stuart, commanding the Eleventh Illinois infantry.

Members of Gen. Stuart's regiment were present as an escort to their chief. Mr. Rieg, introduced as a son of German parents, evoked much enthusiasm among the 6,000 present at the night meeting.

"For you born on foreign soil or of foreign parentage," said Mr. Rieg, "I have a special message. Twofold reason applies to you to become enlisted in this great cause. With you it is not only a case of patriotism and thrift, but also of loyalty and gratitude; loyalty and gratitude to that land which gave you of its manifold advantages, of its bountiful resources, and of its great opportunities freely and in the same manner as to those whose ancestors have fought and died for it. You must not forget your duty to this country, and your allegiance to that emblem of freedom and democracy which has never yet been hauled down in defeat."

Darrow Against Criticism.

"I believe this to be the time for a moratorium on everything except that which is necessary to win the war, upon destructive criticism, upon all differences, whether social, religious, or economic. Labor must unite with capital and we must all fight now to preserve the nation," said Clarence S. Darrow.

In opening the meeting Mr. Bancroft said in part:

"This country is not a military land, and I for one hope it never will be. We fight because we need to fight and not otherwise.

"To win the war should be the subject and object of every meeting, however large or small, until the war is won.

Rivulets of Money.

"We must create little rivulets of money that will flow into one mighty river of money that shall sustain and refresh the government until the war is ended. It will refresh us also, for it will enable us to give and yet benefit ourselves in the giving. This will give each of us the satisfaction of adding our share, day by day, to the winning of the war."

Peter S. Lambros, speaking with an accent, at the afternoon meeting said it "takes a good man to deliver an address in broken English," and called himself "a foreigner by accident and an American by heart."

Likening the present struggle to that made by his native Greece, in ancient times, against Persia, he predicted the allies would also triumph over militarism.

Tells of Atrocities.

Lieut. A. M. Naismith of the Canadian overseas forces, who served two years in France and was decorated for bravery in battle, described the battle of the Somme as "an experimental battle," from which was largely evolved present allied strategy. He told of German methods, saying they had even placed bombs under corpses on the field, so that when these were lifted by stretcher bearers the bombs would explode and kill and maim those engaged in errands of mercy.

Dr. Mathews was the last speaker of the afternoon.

"We owe a tremendous debt to France, which we are going to pay," he said. "We also owe a tremendous debt to England. Manila bay was not the only place a British fleet, stripped for action, stood between the United States and Germany.

"England and France have shown that democracies can be efficient, and we must also do so. We are going to see this thing through, no matter what the cost, and pay the bills without asking an indemnity to help us."

THRIFT

Postmaster General Burleson Sends Message Telling What It Means to Nation.

POSTMASTER WILLIAM B. CARLILE has received the following telegram from Postmaster General A. G. Burleson at Washington regarding the national observance of thrift week beginning with yesterday:

"All America thinks and acts on national thrift day. Every citizen must realize the necessity of increased thrift to win the war. The big new meaning of national thrift day is that the future of nation and world depends on widespread thrift this year. We shall look back to the first national thrift day as the beginning of an observance fraught with wonderful power for national good. 'The wise hearted and every one whose heart stirs him up, and every one whom his spirit has made willing,' will support the movement for thrift.

"Let us bear our share of the burdens and practice self-denial. To learn the art of living frugally and wisely is a duty laid upon each of us. Today meetings are being held all over the land, and the postal employés everywhere have organized to make them successful. I wish the great Chicago meeting every success, and you can count on me in every movement inaugurated to promote thrift and win the war."

FRENCH HEROES GET HONOR FOR FEATS IN ITALY

Great Review Held Within Sound of Guns at the Front.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE FRENCH ARMY IN ITALY, Feb. 3.—Gen. Fayolle, commanding the French forces in Italy, today reviewed one of the famous fighting divisions and conferred the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor on Maj. Gen. Dilleman, who commanded the French troops in the recent brilliant operation which swept the enemy from Monte Tomba.

It was an imposing spectacle. The rumble of the cannonade from the near-by fronts of Asiago and Pasubio mingled with the strains of the Marseillaise and recalled the enemy trying to break through to the plain.

In conferring the Grand Cross on Gen. Dilleman, Gen. Fayolle read a citation of the officer's conspicuous career, crowned with the latest exploit of taking Monte Tomba. Decorations also were presented to a number of others for gallantry in the recent operations.

It was a warm and springlike day, and, turning to a group of Italians present, the general remarked:

"These are the days which will soon bring the Italians and French fighting together again for the same cause."

Hear an American.

MILAN, Feb. 3.—The Italian parliamentary union today captured Capt. Fiorello M. La Guardia, representative to congress from New York, who was on his way to the American headquarters in France, and had him speak at a monster massmeeting here. His auditors included senators, deputies, and members of patriotic associations, who vociferously declared themselves in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war.

Mr. La Guardia electrified his audience when, in his opening remarks, he declared that the United States had "entered the war to finish it, not to prolong it."

The speaker carefully explained President Wilson's peace aims and outlined the purposes of the United States in the war, and what the country had done since the beginning of the conflict.

Slap at Loan Slackers.

The congressman discussed food and fuel economy in the United States, and the great crowd cheered his statement that "we are not allotting; we are dividing."

He made a strong appeal for the fifth Italian war loan, and assailed "financial slackers" in terms not often heard in Italy.

"Your premier has adopted the slogan: 'Resist! Resist!! Resist!!!'" he continued. "That of your minister of the treasury will be 'Give! Give!! Give!!!' Then your generalissimo, Diaz, can cry, 'Forward! Forward!! Forward!!!' and Foreign Minister Sonnino's cry will be, 'Trent, Triest, Istria!'"

OFFICIAL REPORTS ON ALL WAR FRONTS

ITALIAN FRONT

ITALIAN.

ROME, Feb. 3.—There was moderate artillery activity from Stelvio to the Piave river, and more severe artillery fighting along the lower reaches of the river. The enemy exploded mines without success in the Pasubio area. Patrol encounters took place on the hills northeast of Monte Grappa.

AVIATION.

Favored by fine weather, our aerial forces, with the effective coöperation of our naval planes, engaged in considerable activity against enemy military objectives. Our aviators yesterday bombarded concentration points and crossings of highways along the enemy lines of communication on the Asiago plateau. Our bombing machine last night damaged the plant operating the aerial cable line between Caldonazzo and Monte Rovere.

Eight hostile machines were brought down yesterday. Six others were shot down by British aviators, who also set fire to a captive balloon along the Piave.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—Italian front: There was lively artillery firing on the Asiago plateau.

FRENCH FRONT

FRENCH.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—There was active artillery fighting on the front north of the Aisne and in the region of Four de Paris. German raids on small French posts south of Lombaertzyde, on the right bank of the Meuse north of Hill 344, in Lorraine north of Bures, and in Alsace in the region of the Rhone-Rhine canal were repulsed.

NIGHT REPORT.

One of our detachments this morning carried out in the sector northwest of Courtecon, in the region of the Aillette, an attack on a small German post, which it brought back in its entirety to our lines, taking thirty prisoners and capturing material.

Supplementary reports show that the enemy attack repulsed by us last night north of Bures was carried out by a detachment of about 1,200 men. The enemy losses were particularly heavy.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—There was a lively artillery duel on the Flanders front, between Houtholst wood and the Lys. Artillery exchanges also occurred in the region of Lens, on both sides of the Scarpe, and west of Cambrai. A strong reconnoitering thrust by the British near Monchy was repulsed.

On the Oise-Aisne canal the French left prisoners in our hands after an unsuccessful operation. Along the Aillette, near Rheims, on the heights of the Meuse, and at Hartmannsweilerkopf the artillery was active. Our infantry brought back several French prisoners from reconnaissances on the east bank of the Meuse and north of Badonvillers.

BRITISH.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—In addition to the raid reported in last night's communique, a second raid, attempted by the enemy yesterday morning in the Poelcapelle sector, was repulsed by machine gun fire.

During the night patrol encounters took place to our advantage in the neighborhood of Mericourt and south of Lens. The hostile artillery has shown some activity in the neighborhood of La Vacquerie and south of Lens.

A hostile raiding party was driven off with loss early last night east of Polygon wood. We had no casualties.

Hostile artillery firing was active today southeast of Epehy, in the neighborhood of the Arras-Cambrai road, south of Armentieres and in the Ypres sector.

AVIATION.

Naval aircraft bombed the Varssenaere airdome [Belgium] on Saturday morning. Fire was caused by a direct hit. An enemy machine engaged in photographing reconnaissance was attacked and destroyed. All our machines returned safely.

Five hostile machines were brought down in air fighting yesterday, and five others were disabled. One British machine is missing.

PALESTINE FRONT

BRITISH.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—During last Wednesday night our line advanced slightly in the vicinity of Arnutieh, twelve miles north of Jerusalem. On Saturday night our patrols were active between Arnutieh and Sheik Abdulla, a mile northeast of Arnutieh, where enemy attempts to penetrate our lines were repulsed.

MACEDONIAN FRONT

FRENCH.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Eastern Theater, Feb. 2.—There was reciprocal artillery activity in the region of Doiran and west of the Vardar. On the Serbian front there were several encounters with Bulgarian patrols.

Faculty of Wisconsin 'U' Protests La Follette Acts

Madison, Wis., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The protest against "utterances and actions of Senator Robert M. La Follette," which was recently put in circulation among members of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin, was signed by 399 instructors of the faculty, from the president down, and sent to the senator Saturday.

The original copy of the protest was placed on file in the library of the State Historical society. The signatures represent 93 per cent of all the faculty members residing in Madison and include men and women.

This protest is an outcome of a faculty meeting at which the actions of La Follette were the subject of much discussion, and the protest was immediately circulated to show where the faculty of the university, of which La Follette is an alumnus, stands.

Two Generals Back from Inspection of War Front

An Atlantic Port, Feb. 3.—Maj. Gen. Thomas H. Barry and Maj. Gen. H. F. Hodges, who have been making a tour of inspection along the section of the French front held by American forces, returned today on the American steamship. They expressed optimism regarding the general situation abroad. Lord Eustace Percy, attaché at the British embassy at Washington, was a passenger on the same vessel. He had been in England on a leave of absence.

WOOD RECOVERS; ABLE TO GREET SOME VISITORS

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, U. S. A., who was wounded recently while on a visit to the French front, was able today to leave his bed in the hospital here, where he is being treated. He received a number of visitors.

Gen. Wood's arm is in a sling. The wound is still painful, but he expects to leave the hospital this week.

Lieut. Col. Charles E. Kilbourne, chief of Gen. Wood's staff, who was wounded in the face, is to be brought to Paris from a hospital near the front. The attending surgeons report that they expect to save his right eye, which it was feared at first would be lost.

Maj. Kenyon A. Joyce, the third American officer wounded, is still in a hospital near the front with a painful wound in the arm.

German Trade Monopoly in South Honduras Broken

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua, Feb. 3.—German commission houses of Amapala, a Pacific port of Honduras, have been cut off from maritime shipping facilities. President Bertrand of Honduras has placed an embargo on all lighters belonging to Germans and has interned their owners in the interior of the republic. Thus ends a German trade monopoly in southern Honduras which lasted for more than thirty years.

Ask Adequate Housing for Ship Men in New York

New York, Feb. 3.—Recommendation that adequate housing for laborers employed at shipbuilding plants here should be the government's aim, rather than improved transit facilities for the workers, is contained in letters which, it was announced today, had been sent to Secretary of Labor Wilson and Representative Alexander, chairman of the committee on mercantile marine and fisheries. The communications were written by Nelson S. Spencer of the City club's committee on city planning, which has investigated the shipbuilding situation at this port.

$2,000,000 Relief Fund for Navy Men to Be Raised

New York, Feb. 3.—A relief fund of $2,000,000 for the families of officers and men of the navy who lose their lives in the war will be raised by a volunteer committee of leading civilians, headed by Edmund L. Baylies of New York, according to an announcement tonight by Rear Admiral N. R. Usher, commandant of the Third naval district.

WILSON WANTS MORE SPEED IN PASSING BILLS

Senate Is Tied Up with Investigations, but House Is Active.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—President Wilson would have congress speed up the legislative program and get away from Washington early in the summer. The senate has made little progress with legislation this session. Most of its time has been taken up with investigations. The house has made good progress. Four of the thirteen big appropriation measures have been passed by the house.

The senate has passed a few bills of minor importance, but has not considered any of the larger measures. Because of several investigations under way, the senate has adjourned three days at a time to give senators opportunity to attend the hearings of their respective committees.

Senators Getting Anxious.

Some of the senate leaders have become impatient with the investigations and would turn now to legislation so as to complete their work and get back to their states for the fall congressional campaign.

To date four appropriation bills have been passed in the six weeks, allowing for the holiday recess. They are:

Postoffice appropriation bill, passed Dec. 14.

Urgent deficiency bill, passed Dec.14.

Indian appropriation bill, passed Jan. 23.

Agricultural appropriation bill, passed Feb. 2.

Other Measures Passed.

The house has disposed of several other bills and resolutions. Among them are amendments to the constitution submitting to the states prohibition and woman suffrage, voted on Dec. 17 and Jan. 10, respectively. An amendment to the federal farm loan act was voted on Jan. 4. The "garabed" resolution offering a free energy device to the government was adopted on Jan. 18.

There remain, however, eight big appropiration bills, to which will be added various definicency bills. They are: Sundry civil, diplomatic, and consular (next to be taken up in the house), naval, army, military academy, fortifications, District of Columbia, rivers and harbors.

$79,450,727 FOR WORK OF RED CROSS IN YEAR

Over Half for Foreign Relief; Vast Field of Activity.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—What the American Red Cross has done with the vast sums of money intrusted to it by the people of the United States is stated in detail in a report just issued by the national headquarters. To date, $79,450,727 has been appropriated for Red Cross work in this country and abroad.

For foreign relief $44,657,795 has been appropriated as follows: France, $30,519,259; Belgium, $1,999,521; Russia, $751,940; Roumania, $2,617,298; Italy, $3,146,016; Serbia, $871,180; Great Britain, $1,703,642; other foreign countries, $2,536,300; American soldiers who may be taken prisoner, $343,627.

The foregoing appropriations are from the time the United States entered the war until April 30, 1918. For the United States the Red Cross has appropriated $2,612,532, and the reason this sum is not larger is because the government provides nearly everything our army and navy needs, and besides, there is no civilian distress in this country of any considerable proportions like in France, Belgium, etc.

Variety of Its Work.

The great variety of the military and civilian relief work being done by the Red Cross is indicated briefly in the following list:

Canteens that afford food, baths, and sleeping quarters for men at the front; rest stations and recreation centers for soldiers in transit and at port of arrival in France; care of destitute children; furnishing supplies to 4,000 hospitals; teaching mutilated soldiers new trades; reconstruction of villages; bringing together families of soldiers scatered by the war; farms for convalescent soldiers; sanitariums for tubercular and other patients; food, clothing, medicine, and shelter for the homeless and destitute, and many other activities.

All Money for Relief.

It is stated by the national war council that all salaries and administrative expenses are paid out of membership dues, so that every penny given to the Red Cross war fund has been spent for relief. This answers the rumors that have been circulated about the expenses of operation.

Of 255 executives in the fourteen divisional offices of the Red Cross in the United States, 59 per cent are women. The policy is to select the most competent person regardless of politics, sex, or religion.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We are now ready to announce publicly that we are prepared to cleanse and renew woolen blankets with the same process as used in blanket mills.

We have visited the finest mills in the country and have installed the proper equipment for taking care of fine blankets.

We guarantee to keep your blankets soft and full sized, provided they have not previously been shrunk, and our charges are $1.00 each for single and $1.50 each for double length blankets. Good wool blankets are now too costly to take any chances in cleaning them, as no one can restore a blanket that is shrunk.

ONLY WITNESS TO MURDER OF OLD MAN HELD

Police Question Story of Brutal Slaying in Hotel.

His realistic narrative of the murder of Henry Hempley, 74 years old, night clerk of the Ford hotel at 2953 South State street, who was found slain early yesterday morning, led last night to the arrest of William Goldstein, a traveling salesman who was a guest of the hotel and is said to be a cousin of Mose Masser, its proprietor.

Earlier in the day Goldstein, as an eyewitness, had told the police a story of as cold blooded a crime as is recorded in the annals of the police. He had explained the finding of a revolver in the hotel near where the shooting had occurred with the statement that the highwayman who had shot the aged night clerk had thrown his revolver at him after he had fired. It was this point in the story which led the police to doubt it and after a day spent in investigation they decided to hold Goldstein. He was taken to the Cottage Grove avenue police station, where he will be locked up pending further inquiry.

Story Told by Goldstein.

Here is the story of the murder of the hotel clerk as told by Goldstein earlier in the day:

Hempley was at the desk and Goldstein sitting in a chair in the lobby when three men entered. All were between 25 and 30 years old, one shorter than the others, shabbily dressed, the other two more neatly attired.

Hempley thought they wanted rooms and offered the short one a pen. Instead of taking it the man drew a revolver, pressing it again the old man's stomach. The other robbers covered Goldstein, compelling him to hold up his hands. They then took $3 from Goldstein and demanded Hempley's money. The night clerk had only small change to offer them, which they took, cursing him because of the small amount obtained. The men then started to leave, but at the first step one returned.

"Let's give him one before we leave," he said, and fired at the clerk, who dropped with a bullet in his abdomen.

Ran Out Laughing.

With a laugh the robber threw his revolver at the prostrate victim, and, still laughing, ran downstairs to join his companions. Meantime Goldstein had been crouching behind a safe. When the robbers left Goldstein aroused the guests of the hotel, thirty-five in number. The police were called and Hempley placed in an ambulance. He died on the way to Wesley hospital.

Once their suspicions were aroused by the improbability that a highwayman would throw away his revolver, the police inquired as to whether any one had seen the robbers enter or leave the hotel. Although that section of State street is by no means deserted at the hour at which the affair is supposed to have taken place, no one except Goldstein had seen the highwaymen.

Cover Arc de Triomphe in Paris with Sandbags

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Measures have been taken by the authorities to protect the art treasures of Paris from air raids. The stained glass windows of the Sainte Chapelle have been removed to vaults. The sculpture on the Arc de Triomphe has been covered with sand bags. The decorations by Carpeaux, illustrating the dance, in front of the opera, and other art works have been protected similarly.

POLICE HEADS QUESTION PRISONER

the robbers. Others said positively he was not one of them.

Frank S. Mahm, 5744 West Lake street, identified Wilson as one of a gang of three men who held him up on the night of Jan. 26. David Podstat, saloonkeeper, 1972 Ogden avenue, was the man who identified Morris Cohen. He said Cohen and three other men were members of the gang which held up his place on the night of Jan. 29.

Harry Hecht, 4746 West North avenue, who witnessed the holdup of the Ebbinger drug store, Fortieth and Kildare, last Monday night, said Wilson resembled one of the three men who took $50 from the owner and various amounts of change from several customers. He gave up $3.

"It is hard to say absolutely whether Wilson was one of the men or not," he said. "They all had caps pulled down with ear flaps so their faces were in the shadow and hard to distinguish."

Women Are Held.

The police refused to say whether any women friends of the Illinois Central robber gang had talked, but it was admitted that several women are under arrest, and all day yesterday a number of west side flats, said to be occupied by women friends of criminals, were being watched by the police.

Every effort was made to land the third man of the trio who engaged police in the gunfight Saturday and wounded Dr. J. M. Hancock, Detective Sergeant Norton, Patrol Sergeant Daniel O'Hara, and Patrolman Daniel Keefe. He was not arrested. All of the injured were reported out of danger except the physician, who was said to be in a serious condition.

Police Heads Confer.

Acting Police Chief Alcock started the day's work with a conference attended by Acting First Deputy Morgan Collins, Chief of Detectives James L. Mooney, Lieutenant of Detectives John Loftus, and George Murray, head of the Illinois Central detectives.

"I am not going to say what we've got and what we haven't got," Chief Alcock said. "We have been working all day, and we'll work all night. We are going to get the men we're after. We'll have more to say soon.

Will Beat Game.

"We are going to beat this game of the criminals, but in order to clean up the city and keep it clean it is absolutely necessary that we have 2,000 more policemen. The police salaries have got to be raised so we can keep the good men, too. It's got so that the men can't support their families on police pay.

"The next thing we've got to do is to kill the parole law. Nearly all the men we're getting in have been paroled men. We've got to stop this mollycoddling of prisoners. When a man commits murder we've got to hang him. Then give men guilty of other crimes the maximum penalty instead of the minimum and we'll soon have a different situation. If a man holds another up with a gun give him life; if he commits burglary give him twenty years.

Blames Crooked Lawyers.

"I am going to ask the Bar association to make a thorough investigation of crooked lawyers. I have evidence that some of these lawyers make it a practice to meet crooks at night in gun joints to drum up trade for themselves. Attorneys who are guilty of such actions should be disbarred. We have got the evidence against some of them to present to the Bar association if it will take action.

"I should say there are fifty such fellows in the city. We have found them hobnobbing with the criminals and when we arrest suspects we find these same lawyers hustling around to get them out on habeas corpus proceedings. It's rotten."

Among the men arrested yesterday a number said they came from Minnesota, Wisconsin, and New York. They would not explain how they came to go to certain Chicago addresses, where they have been hanging out. One of the most obstinate of the suspects was Moran. He laughingly admitted he had served six years in Joliet and was 29 years old. When asked where he resided he was evasive. He said he came from Canada, but told the acting chief he would not say from what city.

Landis May Take Hand.

Judge Landis may take a hand in the case of Moran if the police fail to connect him with any of the recent gun crimes. Moran is accused of burglarizing a freight car and his case got into the federal court because the car was in transit between states. He jumped his federal bond of $5,000, as well as bonds in state cases which he said totaled $20,000 more. He insisted he didn't know who his bondsmen are or what his bonds cost him.

While the police were combing the west side of the city for robber gangs five burglars entered the Davis Supply company factory at 412 West Ontario street yesterday morning, blew the safe, and stole $85.

SCHUETTLER IS ANXIOUS TO GET BACK, SON SAYS

A rumor that Herman F. Schuettler, chief of police, is planning to resign has been in circulation for several days. The story bobbed up almost at once after he started on a vacation in the south to recuperate from a recent illness.

"I don't give the rumor any credence," said his son, Dr. Arthur Schuettler, at his home last night. "I have just received a letter from my father, and in it he told me that he is recovering swiftly, feeling better than in a long time, and is anxious to get back to Chicago and into the harness once more.

"The letter was dated Miami, Fla., and he said he was going to stop in Jacksonville and other places before his return. I am sure my father has no thought of resigning."

SAYS WORKERS SOLIDLY BACK WAR SAVINGS

New York, Feb. 3.—Working men and women throughout the country are solidly behind the war savings campaign, C. L. Baine of Boston, labor's representative on the national war savings committee in Washington, declared in a statement issued here.

POLICE PICK UP 35 CRIMINALS OF BAD RECORDS

Tapped Wires and Women Aid in Capture of Gangsters.

Tapped wires, women friends, and police watches on a number of west side flats have delivered to the police thirty-five of the worst criminals ever picked up in a police roundup, members of the department say. The records of some of the most desperate criminals in cells follow:

George Moran, alias George Miller, gunman and burglar. Admits he has served six years in prisons for burglary; paroled from Joliet in 1912 and been wanted for various crimes since. Forfeited bonds in both federal and state courts on charges of robbery last year. Suspect of the La Grange bank robbery.

Another Probationer.

Morris Cohen, alias the Jew Boy—Convicted of burglary in 1913 and placed on probation. Arrested for burglary in 1914, but grand jury found a no bill. In 1915 sent to house of correction by pleading guilty to petit larceny after being arrested for burglary. In January, 1916, sentenced to sixty days in house of correction as result of burglary charge.

William Wilson, alleged gunman and robber—Recently acquitted of a murder charge and alleged to have been the driver of the automobile for the robber gang which got the pay roll of the Stein Garter company. Identified as member of gangs which held up saloons and drug stores.

Harry Emerson, alias Emery—Taken from the flat of Tony Marino, whose address, 2058 Flournoy street, was found in the pocket of the slain Raymond, said by the police to have been engaged in several holdups in other states. Said to be wanted in Minnesota for burglary. Police have definite evidence involved in Illinois Central murder and robbery.

Once a Fugitive.

Charles Schutz, alias Charles Reser, safe blower and gunman—In September, 1903, found not guilty on burglary charge. Accused of robbery in 1905, but grand jury found no bill. In 1907 tried on robbery charge and found not guilty. March 30, 1907, sent to county jail for thirty days for assault with a deadly weapon. Nov. 28, 1909, fugitive from justice on charges of murder and robbery.

Jacob S. Smith, alias Durham, accused of burglary in Louisville, Ky., in 1899, and later in the same year sent to Joliet penitentiary on a similar charge; paroled in 1908; sentenced to prison in Iowa in January, 1913, and discharged Jan. 15 last.

Furniture Dealer Is Held Up and Robbed

M. Temowitz, a furniture dealer, who was making collections in the Italian neighborhood about Milton and Hobbie streets yesterday, was held up by two young men and robbed of $40 and his watch.

After a week's search the police have failed to establish the ownership of the poker flat at 2220 South Wabash avenue, the patrons of which were held up and robbed last Monday night. According to the police, the place was not Sol Van Praag's.

RAILROADS RUSH COAL; SEE END OF IDLE MONDAYS

Reserve Stocks Stored in Anticipation of Future Blockades.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—Railroads today made good progress in the hauling of coal, and both railroad and fuel administration officials were encouraged in the hope that tomorrow would be the last heatless Monday. Reports of milder weather over most of the country and the movement of a greater volume of coal today provided the basis for relief that the order requiring suspension of industrial activity on future Mondays to save coal would be rescinded after a conference Tuesday between Fuel Administrator Garfield and Director General McAdoo.

Flood Danger Looms.

The railroads today ignored the Sunday holiday in an effort to clear the lines to the coal mines, many of which have been idle for a week on account of inability to get empty cars, or to have loaded cars hauled away. Production this week is expected to be considerably greater than last.

Danger of floods still looms large, however, and the railroads will work hard early this week to accumulate small reserve stocks of coal at consumption centers in anticipation of later interruption of traffic by high waters and ice jams.

Exports Move Faster.

Accumulation of export freight at New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Newport News, and Norfolk was reduced from 41,101 carloads Jan. 1 to 33,593 on Jan. 31, or 18.27 per cent, according to a report made public tonight by the freight traffic committee, which says:

"Of the 33,593 carloads of export still accumulated at all six North Atlantic ports 26,303 is for the United States or the allies, and 7,290 carloads is commercial export. A total of 3,329 carloads is accredited to the United States government, but this includes freight received on both export and domestic way bills at the ports."

Decreases in carload freight, exclusive of coal and grain, at the various ports were: Boston, 16.14 per cent; New York, 24.02; Philadelphia, 6.34; Baltimore, 17.95; Newport News, 22.32; Norfolk, 7.29; all ports, 18.27.

Life Savers Warn Public Lake Ice Is Dangerous

WATCH YOUR FOOD

Evidence Found That German Agents Inject Ground Glass Into Prepared Products in Many Factories.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The government is now convinced that German agents operating on a large scale are injecting ground glass into prepared foods.

The evidence obtained so far indicates that the plotters gain admission to food factories as employés. They stay only long enough to accomplish their purpose and then pass on to other factories. So far the government sleuths have failed to apprehend any of these criminals, although the investigation has been in progress for several months.

Reports of the finding of ground glass in foods have come from various parts of the country. The latest case involves bar chocolate sold in the District of Columbia. Dr. William C. Woodward, the district health officer, after examining the specimens said that fine ground glass undoubtedly had been mixed in the chocolate in the process of manufacture.

PRIEST WARNS AGAINST LYING ON INCOME TAX

Policemen who swear falsely to convict men of crime or persons who make false returns to notaries or other national or civic officials are violators of the third commandment, as well as those who use the recognized forms of profanity, according to the Rev. Francis Shea of the Holy Angels church, who preached on the subject yesterday morning.

Father Shea said the violation of one's oath to rightfully constituted civil authority was as truly a violation of the law of God as the violation of an ecclesiastical oath.

"It is not necessary for a man to hold up his hand and swear solemnly to make his word binding," he said. "The fact that a man goes into court or answers to a document sent to him by officers of the state is evidence he is standing in the presence of God, for the church recognizes the powers that be are ordained of God.

"Persons who make false returns on their income tax or draft registration are guilty of taking God's name in vain."

Boldt Holds Interest in Waldorf-Astoria Property

New York, Feb. 3.—George C. Boldt Jr., who announced last night that a company in which T. Coleman Du Pont is financially interested had been formed to take over the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in this city, stated tonight that he would continue to be heavily interested in the property and would be chairman of the board of directors of the new corporation. Mr. Boldt added that he would retain full control of the Waldorf-Astoria Importation company and the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia, neither of which is included in the new arrangement.

HOOVER FAMILY OBSERVES RULE ON FOOD SAVING

Every Detail Given to the American People Is Obeyed.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Housewives may wonder where it is going to end, but there need no longer be any uncertainty where the conservation of food begins. Like charity, it begins at home. In this case, at the home of Herbert Hoover, food administrator of the United States.

A statement written by a member of the Hoover household declares that "in all the land no housewife follows more closely the rulings of the United States food administration than does Mrs. Hoover, wife of the food administrator, with the coöperation of her famous colored cook.

The conversion of the cook, it is explained, was the first step. Nevertheless, the cook became as enthusiastic over producing delicious meals with the least possible outlay of wheat, meat, sugar, and fats as the strictest "Hooverite" could desire.

"Almost every day is 'meatless day' with the Hoovers," the statement says. "Poultry, sea foods, or occasionally game replace beef or other meats which may be shipped across the sea.

"Meat is never bought for soups. They are made from vegetables or the parts of the poultry not served—the wing tips, feet, the neck, the gizzard—cooked with the carcass remaining."

The Hoover family no longer eat pork in any form, and use in cooking vegetable oils or other substitutes for lard and butter.

10 CENT MILK

It Is Sold at That Price to Those Who Call for It Themselves.

THE person who will walk to one of the 699 distributing stations in Chicago can get milk for 10 cents, under the terms of the milk commission's report. To have milk delivered costs 2 cents more. Families, especially in the poorer districts, are expected to take advantage of the new method of obtaining 10 cent milk.

Consumers may find the store or dairy nearest their homes by calling up the city health department.

In the meantime there is still hope for 10 cent milk, delivered, says the weekly report of the city health department. That branch of the city's government is preparing to go before the second milk commission, soon to be appointed by Food Administrator Wheeler, and, in conjunction with the City club, show that 2 cents a quart can be saved by unification of delivery.

ENGLAND DENIES RECALLING SMITH

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—An official statement was issued by the British embassy today denying reports that Sir Frederick Smith, attorney general of England, who came to this country on a special mission, had been recalled by the British government because of dissatisfaction over some of his public utterances. The statement said there was no truth whatever in the report, and that it had always been Sir Frederick's intention to return home at the end of January.

Hoover Approves Banquet Plans of Security League

Officials of the National Security league were applauded in a letter from Fuel Administrator Hoover yesterday. He thanked them for their decision to close their congress of national service in Chicago on Feb. 23 with a meatless, wheatless, and sweetless banquet. "Your members are performing a truly patriotic service," he wrote, "as the need for saving wheat, and meat especially, has never been more grave."

WOMEN TO WORK ON HOLIDAY TO AID WAR VICTIMS

"Work a day," is the patriotic slogan adopted by the locals of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union and the Chicago Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' association.

Although Lincoln's birthday is to be a holiday, for which the "week workers" are to receive pay, they have agreed to work on that day and turn over the proceeds to suffering families of European soldiers. The "piece workers" also have entered into the agreement, regardless of the fact that they will receive no reimbursement for their labor.

More than 99 per cent of those engaged in the cloak industry being Jews, the fund obtained through their efforts in this connection will be used mainly to alleviate the suffering among the Russian Jews.

"It is a most commendable movement," said Frank Lewis, president of the manufacturers' association, "and if other industries will fall in line and take it up immeasurable good will result. In Chicago alone we expect to raise over $150,000 on Feb. 12."

To Judge Henry Horner, arbiter of labor questions between the workers and manufacturers, belongs the credit for the formulation of the plan.

CLAIM HATRED NOT NECESSARY FOR A SOLDIER

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Fear that W. McCormick Blair's 20,000 four minute men might overstep President Wilson's precepts and start in preaching hatred of the imperial German government and its minions resulted in the issuance of warning instructions today by George Creel, chairman of the committee on public information.

While prohibiting the four minute speakers from voicing hatred of the enemy, Mr. Creel admits that "it may be necessery" to inculcate fear for the preservation of the United States if the German government should "retain its prestige."

TO SEIZE COAL LEFT ON TRACKS OVER 12 HOURS

New Hurry Up Order Is Issued by the Fuel Administrator.

Hereafter all coal which is not unloaded promptly by dealers will be seized by the fuel administration and turned over to some one who is short and is willing to make haste. This announcement was made yesterday by Raymond E. Durham, fuel administrator for Cook county.

If coal is received by a dealer in the morning it must be unloaded by 7 o'clock at night, the same day. Coal received in the afternoon must be out of the cars by noon next day. The railroads will report all delays in unloading and the fuel administration will immediately seize all coal remaining in cars at the hour they should be empty.

Speed Absolutely Necessary.

"While it may entail extra expense," Mr. Durham said, "it is absolutely necessary that cars should be emptied within twelve hours after being received.

"The railroads and operators are making an extraordinary effort to furnish all coal yards with sufficient supplies. They complain, however, that many dealers do not unload their coal promptly and the cars are not sent back to the mines without delay. Cases have been cited where coal has been held on tracks in yards and not unloaded for several days.

"The coöperation of all dealers in unloading coal promptly during the balance of this month will be greatly appreciated."

Mr. Durham said that shipments last week, on the whole, were good, and that arrivals should be much better this week than last.

"Trainless Day" Observed.

Most of the railroads annulled some of their passenger trains yesterday and used the extra locomotives and crews in hauling coal and food. The Chicago and Alton took off three trains Saturday night and two more yesterday in order to expedite the movement of necessities. It was thus enabled to haul about twenty trains of food and coal into the city yesterday.

The Burlington system put every extra crew to work and by last midnight had hauled 5,000 cars into the city. Of these, 1,500 were loaded with coal. Other roads reported increased movements for Sunday.

Plan to Aid Schools.

Just when all the schools will be assured of staying open depends wholly upon the amount of coal reaching the city, Administrator Durham said yesterday.

"We plan to help the schools all we can," he said, "but if the mines don't load the coal and the railroads don't haul it we are helpless. We cannot make 1,000 cars of coal serve where 2,000 cars are needed.

"We want the people to know the exact situation and will be glad to get any help or suggestions, that are constructive, from anybody."

The coal shortage, the fuel administration announced, is due to a number of different circumstances. First, the reserve supply laid in for this winter was negligible; second, the many millions of tons formerly obtained from Indiana and West Virginia were cut off; third, practically all anthracite was cut off. In addition came the severest winter in many years.

There have been no new interpretations of the Monday closing order, Earl Dean Howard, deputy fuel administrator for Illinois, announced, and the same rules will be observed today as on last Monday.

Hotels Take Out Licenses as Bakeries Under Order

Practically all hotel keepers of Chicago have taken out bakers' licenses under the new order of the food administration which puts hotel kitchens on the same footing with bake shops, according to Arthur Arroll, secretary of the Hotel Association of Chicago. Those which have not yet obtained licenses will do so today, the last day of grace, he said.

The Chicago hotel men, Mr. Arroll stated, have already effected enormous savings in wheat flour. Where fifty barrels were formerly used, only eighteen are now required.

DIES IN RAILWAY STATION.

"BIG SISTER"

Chief of Special Delivery Postal Messengers Will Open Club for Them Tonight.

MISS WYNIFRED THOMAS.

'SISTER OF 2,000' WILL OPEN CLUB TO BOYS TONIGHT

Chief of Special Delivery Messengers to See Dream Realized.

Miss Wynifred Thomas, "big sister of 2,000 boys," is probably the happiest young woman in Chicago, for tonight at 7 o'clock her dream and hope of ten years comes into being. Miss Thomas is in charge of the messenger boys of the special delivery department at the Chicago postoffice.

All these years she has been planning to form a club for the messenger boys under the auspices of some great organization which will take an interest in them and their welfare. Tonight the club will be organized at a banquet to be held at the Y. M. C. A., 19 La Salle street.

Miss Thomas, the only woman to sit at the banquet, will be toastmistress. One of the chief speakers will be Federal Judge Landis and another, probably, Postmaster W. B. Carlile. The Special Delivery Messengers' club will have access to the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

The department in the postoffice was started twenty years ago with ten boys. Miss Thomas has been at the head of the department for the last ten years. It has been a part of her work, from time to time, to recommend the brightest and best of the boys "graduating" from the department to concerns about Chicago who have wished to employ them. Many of the young men now hold important and well paying positions. They are usually recommended upon the records they make in the postoffice work. The bond of sympathy between Miss Thomas and the boys is illustrated in the statement that "her kitchen is always open to hungry boys and her fireside ready, out at her home, if they are cold."

It is estimated that more than 2,000 boys have worked under her direction. The force today consists of 300 boys on active duty.

CHURCHES OFFER COAL TO SAVE EVANSTON POOR

In reply to the statement made by Mayor Pearsons of Evanston that if the coal situation was not improved he would take it upon himself to commandeer coal from theaters, schools and possibly churches to take care of the needy families of the suburb, pastors of various Evanston churches announced that they would do all in their power to give aid to needy parishioners.

Father A. P. Smyth of St. Mary's Catholic church said that the church had only a week's supply on hand, but would gladly give it to any of their people that needed it. The Second Presbyterian church has only one half ton in its bins and will have to close next week unless more is obtained. The St. Mark's Episcopal church has no coal and services are held in the parish house. The First Baptist church has no coal, but has enough coke to last until March.

Irving C. Brower, fuel administrator for Evanston, Wilmette, and other North Shore suburbs, said yesterday that only three tons of coal had been received Saturday and that if Evanston is to get more he would have to look to Chicago for it.

Packers and Men Fail to Agree on Arbitrator

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Secretary of Labor Wilson may be compelled to impose an arbitrator of his own selection upon the Chicago packers and their employés for the settlement of the disputes over wages and working conditions.

The secretary today met attorneys representing the packers and the employés. Each side presented a list of ten men, proposing that one of them be selected for arbitrator. There was no one name common to both lists. The packers objected to every man named by the employés and the latter returned the compliment in regard to the ten proposed by their employers.

Secretary Wilson asked the attorneys to come back tomorrow for a meeting at which he will endeavor to bring about an agreement. In default of such agreement he will appoint for arbitrator one of several men he is considering.

Colby's Offer In Their February Sale
$40,000 Worth of Fine Living Room Furniture At Half Price and Less

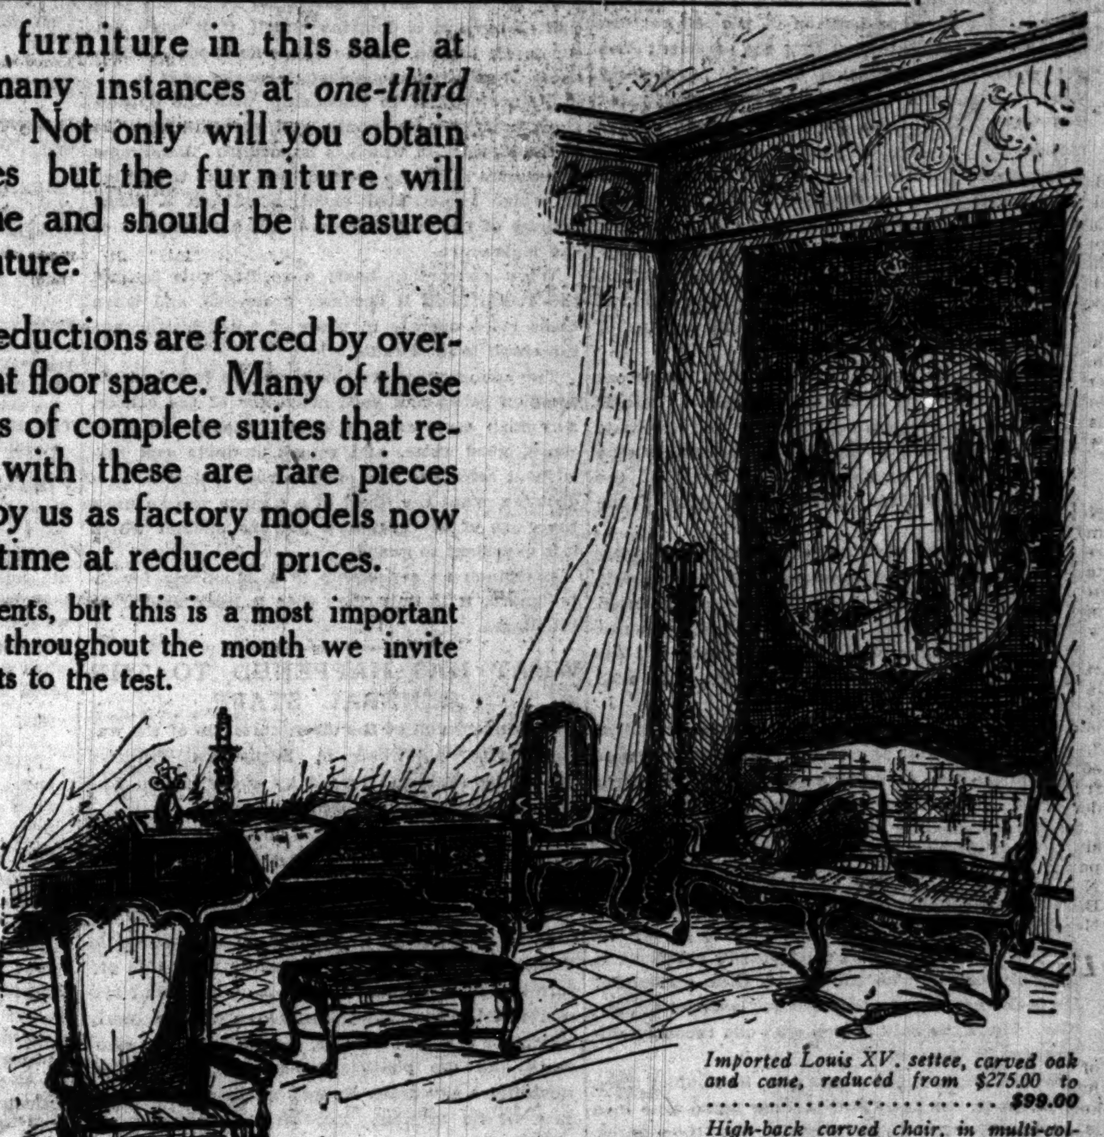
This exhibit of upholstered furniture with other pieces is shown on our 1st floor. The display is little short of magnificent. Listed below are the greatest values ever offered by the Colby store.

The furniture is the best produced in the world today and, on account of war conditions, could not be replaced. From such makers as Restall, Brown and Clennell, London, Kahn of London, Fratelli Besana, Italy, Sells and Slouer of Paris, the Colby Shops and the best American makers.

You may select furniture in this sale at one-half and in many instances at one-third the regular values. Not only will you obtain remarkable values but the furniture will beautify your home and should be treasured heirlooms in the future.

These remarkable reductions are forced by overcrowding our present floor space. Many of these rare pieces are parts of complete suites that remain unsold, and with these are rare pieces imported and used by us as factory models now offered for the first time at reduced prices.

These are strong statements, but this is a most important sale, and tomorrow and throughout the month we invite you to put our statements to the test.



Read this list of remarkable reductions. Bring it with you and compare these values with offerings in any other sale.

PUBLIC NEED VS. PERSONAL AVERSION.

President Wilson's spirit, evidently, with regard to the war council, is not one of conciliation. He has informed senators that the war measures to be considered in the senate are mischievous, that discussion of them is harmful, and that he wishes congress to dismiss the subject of war activity.

Mr. Wilson's reasons for opposing centralization, as it could be obtained in legislation proposed, are not given definitely, or if they are given to the men to whom he talks, never are reported. It is difficult to have consideration of the subject dismissed with the statement that the president does not want such legislation enacted, particularly when the need of it is so clearly demonstrated and when the reasons for it can be so clearly stated.

Argument for the superior war council rests upon public need; argument against it never gets beyond personal dislike. Partisans who attempt to follow through with argument against the council, to justify personal objection on public grounds, find nothing to offer other than the theory that it would interfere with the government's conduct of affairs.

Opposition which can find no other statement than this to justify it is thin in merit. There is no fashion in which a superior war council could interfere with the government's conduct of the war, if it were organized as the need of the country demands and as the proponents of the scheme suggest.

Agencies of the government are now interfering with each other. The function of the superior war council is to prevent that. Government is interfered with now by its own unrelated departments. We want a branch of government which will see to it that the departments do not interfere with each other.

The idea that this would take control from the president is a wild phantasy. It cannot be urged in good faith as an argument. It must represent a desire to oppose a radical and effective change by misrepresenting what is to be accomplished and what would be accomplished.

It has been pointed out frequently that Mr. Wilson personally is the sole repository of centralized authority in the government. If two departments are acting in conflict, the president is the only person who can adjust their difficulties. He is the referee of every conflict between authorities. He is the only person who can reconcile differences of opinion.

If two department heads are in conflict they must go to the president. If one board gets into a wrangle with another board, the issue must be carried to the president. If a prospect obviously requires corelated preparation by two departments or by two or more agencies, the president is the only authority.

The big affairs of management are spread over several departments. Baker's plans are dependent on McAdoo's and Hurley's. McAdoo's are dependent on Garfield's and Hoover's. Baker may provide troops and Hurley may not provide ships. Hurley may provide ships and Garfield not provide coal or Garfield may get the coal and McAdoo not get the cars.

These affairs are inextricably interrelated in fact and virtually unrelated in the theory of government. The president cannot take the place of a corelating body. The history of American effort to date reveals that costly delays have been encountered before conflicts get to him for a decision. Has the country forgotten what happened in the shipping controversy? Decisions which could avert delays and expensive blunders are not reached.

No authority can be taken away from the president. It is not intended that any should be taken away. The men on the war council would be appointed by him and they would work for him.

The demand for a superior war council rests upon public necessity. The opposition to it upon personal dislike.

CENSORSHIP OF MOVING PICTURES.

The perplexity which exists regarding the censorship of moving pictures is a genuine one. Not only the instinct for decency but prudential regard for youth and adolescence withdraws from the suggestion that production of moving pictures shall find display without censorship. Nevertheless, censorship in itself, fundamentally and essentially, is an offense to adult intelligence.

Here, as in most matters of community concern, there is necessity for compromise. The ideal condition, for adult character and intellect, would be created by no censorship at all. The ideal condition for ages in which susceptibility and pliability have not been corrected or cannot be corrected by intelligence would be found in a scheme which prevented suggestive and provocative influences from reaching them.

When it is conceded that censorship is an outrageous imposition upon grown up people who must be depended upon to have arrived at an age of judgment, it then also must be conceded that the most sincere opponent of censorship would protest against exposing immature and susceptible persons to an influence which may be wholly bad.

The inherent defect of censorship is that it defeats its own ends. So far as adults are concerned it temporizes with evil and loses all the time. Until a person is capable of selection, decision, and choice, until judgment has matured, and until the law of cause and effect can be comprehended and applied, it is expedient for a paternal authority to stand between immaturity and impressions.

But a democracy, particularly, rests upon intelligence or upon the assumption that its foundation is intelligence, and so far as it presumes to decide for its citizens it presumes to deny its own reasons for existing.

Censorship, for adults, is a decision for adults. It is a substitute of an official intelligence, or lack of intelligence, for the citizen's common sense or lack of it.

A democracy does not make decisions for its citizens—not in theory. It registers their decisions and puts them into form and action. A democracy is the decision of its citizens. Censorship denies the right of intelligence to make decisions and thereby is an injury to intelligence.

Censorship is an opening door to all sorts of possible evils affecting matters of opinion, taste, and intelligence. An enthusiast for parental control in the interest of virtue could, if given power, make a community in the long run incapable of decisions. It might be kept innocent—might be—but never could be intelligently virtuous.

Whatever the case against censorship is, and we think it is complete in theory so far as adults are concerned, the expediency of applying it for the correction of specific evils and the prevention of specific harmful consequences is just as plain.

The naive suggestion that producers of moving pictures would all give the public only productions above reproach may be dismissed with a smile. They will give what they think they can sell. The idea that the police could deal with violations of decency is attractive, but as a matter of fact we know it will not work. That is the proper way, but it will not be effective in this community at this time.

As an expedient we are obliged to tolerate censorship, apparently, and the question is what kind. We are quite certain that no fixed rules can be used without ridiculous result. The present censorship tries to apply the doctrine that nothing shall be shown in representation of an act prohibited by law, a doctrine which, if it were not constantly broken, would ridicule itself out of existence. It gets ridiculous enough results as it is.

We are dealing, in censorship, with the impressions created upon youth and susceptibility. It is the impression which is important. A valuable impression might be created by a scene the action of which represented violation of half a dozen articles of the city code or a half a dozen acts of the legislature.

When censorship holds a specific rule against the action itself it becomes grotesque, and when these rules operate in place of adult intelligence the result is intolerable.

The compromise, we think, will be found in the common sense and good character of the censor. Any man or woman of sound intelligence, good sense, good taste, and sound instincts can tell, without reference to a specific rule, a dogma, or a doctrine, what the effect of a picture will be upon the class of moving show patrons against whom it is expedient to guard.

Inasmuch as censorship is a substitute for intelligence, it is important that it itself should be intelligent.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO THE GENERAL STAFF.

The indictment of the disorganization of the war department published in Saturday's TRIBUNE should be read and reread by every citizen who wants America to help win this war.

It is a picture drawn by a man who knows not only what things are but what they should be in our military administration. Readers of THE TRIBUNE's many editorials and of the articles contributed to its columns by experts on the subject of the general staff system will realize what this picture means. The existence of a general staff system which Elihu Root initiated after the costly lessons of the Spanish war, but which the bureaucrats and the politicians have since thwarted, would have saved Mr. Baker's administration from most of its failures. But Mr. Baker could not understand this because he had no knowledge or previous interest in our defense problems.

In consequence, as this expert points out, finding the general staff system in its defective and inadequate form Mr. Baker did not at once build it up but proceeded, quite innocently, to disorganize and weaken it still further. He improvised organization under the pressure of necessity instead of taking up and perfecting the only system under which great modern armies are administered and directed.

That we can hope for a correction of this fundamental error of policy is unhappily dubious. But at least from people who have informed themselves of the history of our military inefficiency there should be a concerted protest against the present treatment of the general staff and a demand that war department reorganization for war follow the path of the experience of all competent military administrations of modern times.

Our general staff should be given the best talent in the army. It should be perfected in power, numbers, and quality of personnel, so that in the shortest possible time it will be what the general staffs of Germany, France, and England are, the expert directing body of the army, the expert agency through which the civilian authority carries out the policies of the government.

Whether Mr. Baker realizes it or not, his most devoted friend and well wisher could not bestow upon him a greater gift than a realization of his duty and opportunity in this respect.

LABOR AND DEMOCRACY.

The conference between capital and labor, to which Secretary Wilson has asked that representatives be appointed, will deal with adjustment of conditions to prevent war strikes. The delay in the formulating of a policy which will prevent labor waste when labor is most precious has been inexplicable. It has hurt. A great deal of the waste could have been avoided.

The conference has another opportunity—that of recognizing that in days which threaten an attack upon established political institutions by revolutionaries seeking a complete overthrow of everything we know as representative democracy, the interests of capital and organized labor are identical.

Capitalism and democracy are synonymous in the thought of the revolutionaries. Organized labor is democratic and the stability of democracy in the English speaking world owes much to that fact in these days.

If it is not recognized by men who represent capital, organized labor will have more difficulty in maintaining its democratic principles against those leveling revolutionaries who, whether in or out of organized labor, seek constantly to convert it into an instrument of revolution.

CRITICIZING THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

[From the Providence Journal.]

Chairman Vail of the executive committee of the League for National Unity makes an earnest appeal to the American people not to be "too critical or expect too much too quickly" in our war preparations. He argues that the administration "cannot be changed anyway," and he asks, accordingly, "Why not better give it an opportunity, untrammeled, free from nagging and irritating investigations, to do its work in comfort and peace?"

If it had not been for criticism the recent reorganization of the war department would not have been undertaken. In a democracy like ours honest criticism is not only desirable but necessary. No public official is above the people, and none can be assumed to have a monopoly of the truth.

They bask in the sunshine and purr like a cat,
The fortunate people of Medicine Hat.

Its climate is balmy in spite of its lat.;
You have a wrong notion of Medicine Hat.

At Christmas they sit on their porches and chat,
For it never gets chilly in Medicine Hat.

The Medicine Hatters all spoil for a spat
With any defamer of Medicine Hat;

They're ready and anxious to go to the mat
With any one scoffing at Medicine Hat.

The birds never migrate—they know where they're at,
For it always is summer in Medicine Hat.

No day that you can't use a heliostat;
Sunlight is eternal in Medicine Hat.

They're swatting the fly and the skeeter and gnat,
As frost never kills them in Medicine Hat.

His nature is skeptic, he's blind as a bat
Who can't see the beauties of Medicine Hat.

All jesting is flatulent, futile, and flat
That libels the climate of Medicine Hat.

Away with the knockers who knock it, and drat
The jokers who joke about Medicine Hat.

In short, it's the one, the ideal habitat,
Boy! buy me a ticket to Medicine Hat!

IF ever we were tempted to pad we should do it at this end of the column, where a longish paragraph looks better typographically than at the other end, but padding is abhorrent to us, and our only reason for exceeding three lines in a paragraph is the fear that we may fall into a snippy style from which we might not be able to extricate ourself, and so lose the capacity for sustained writing which we acquired when we wrote long editorials on free silver unhampered by the slightest knowledge of the subject.

LIFE IS GETTING SO COMPLEX!

[From the Three Rivers, Mich., Commercial.]

Mrs. Anna Butts of this city announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Bessie Uptegraft of Brooklyn, N. Y., to her former husband, Sergt. Joseph F. Uptegraft of Camp Custer.

CHARLES LAMB, happily, was spared from column conducting, and saved for the writing of delectable essays. He was at one time under contract to provide six jokes daily, at sixpence a joke, for the Morning Post, and found that what had been a recreation and delight had become drudgery. "No Egyptian taskmaster," said he, "ever devised a slavery like to that, our slavery. . . . Half a dozen jests in a day (bating Sundays, too), why, it seems nothing! We make twice the number every day in our lives as a matter of course, and claim no Sabbatical exemption. But then they come into our head. But when the head has to go out to them—when the mountain must go to Mahomet—reader, try it once, only for one short twelvemonth."

TO A FRIEND.

You tell me that another has your heart,
And that until this time you have not known
What love is. And a wedded pair must part Because an earlier, lesser love has flown.

You tell me this, and I say go your way
And read the answer in the coming years.
Were Wisdom's very self to bid you stay
Her words would fall on unattending ears.

I am not Wisdom's self, but this you'll learn:
New love is never rooted as the old;
And the old passion will revive and burn
Before the ashes of the new are cold.

Two trees that grow together to the sun
Become as one, and must as one remain;
A pair that lives a dozen years as one,
Never, my friend, can be as two again.

So Nature orders it. And who shall say
It is not founded on a law divine?
But I have done with preaching, go your way.
Pass as the idle wind these words of mine.

A CALIFORNIA NIGHT.

[From the Santa Rosa Republican.]

Homer's "Banjo Song" was in dialect, the pathos of the plantation making sentiment—"I don't play as ezzers do; but while da plays for all de worl', I jess plays for you, jess plays fer you." The "Monotone," set in the musical program for variety, proved Mr. Pratt's ability to poise and sustain his voice in the air as it were, on one note. It was B-natural, probably the best note in his octave, but his sound never quivered, though the piano at his ear broke in with the song. It was a monotone that seemed to vary into degrees and steps of many-toned sound, slipping perceptibly up and down the scale.

TWO guineas were offered for an additional number to "A Shropshire Lad." Some of the returns were rather good, but the verses that, to our notion, hit it off best were a parody. A good parody always gets nearer to the original than any mere imitation. This was the take-off:

They sound for early Service
The bells of Frognal Lane;
And I am thinking of the day
I shot my cousin Jane.

At Frognal Lane the Service
Begins at half-past eight,
And some folk get there early
While others turn up late.

But, come they late or early,
I ne'er shall be again
The careless chap of days gone by
Before I murdered Jane.

TYPHOID FEVER FACTS.

THE health department reports that in 1917 only 347 of the 2,600,000 people in Chicago had typhoid fever, and that only forty-three died of the disease. Forty-three deaths from typhoid means a death rate of 1.6 per 100,000. This is the lowest rate ever reached by any large American city, and is equal to the best rates in London and others of the best governed cities in Europe.

In order to understand just how much has been accomplished, let us see what Chicago's record has been. The highest typhoid rate in the city's history since the fire was in 1891. In that year 1,997 persons died of typhoid—a rate of 169, more than 100 times 1917's rate. In 1871 the city had 330,000 population. In that year 204 persons died from typhoid fever, and the year had a low typhoid rate, at that.

The records for Chicago prior to 1871 are very scanty, but from the data at hand it would look as though we would have to go back to the days when Chicago had about 10,000 people to find as few as forty-three deaths a year from typhoid fever.

The surgeon general reports that in 1916 there were only five deaths from typhoid fever in the entire army. Some of the cases occurred in Hawaii, Mexico, and the Philippine islands. Most of them were among the newly formed national guard regiments. Some of these national guard regiments came to camp unvaccinated against typhoid, and many of them were hurriedly vaccinated by catch as catch can methods, using whatever vaccine they could get. Compare this with the more than 20,000 cases and the more than 2,000 deaths in the smaller army in 1898.

Now that the army is better organized and the machinery for vaccinating has been perfected, the typhoid rate of the army should go even lower.

Typhoid fever has ceased to be a menace of any proportions to soldiers and to people in the larger cities. The people in the country and in the smaller cities must bring up their end of the line.

In the first place, there must be better sanitation. The water supplies, including the farm wells, must be protected against pollution, else boiling the water must become as general as pasteurizing the milk now is. The milk must be kept cleaner or else it must be home pasteurized on the farms or in the small towns. Fly breeding must be prevented.

The individual must do his share. If he is not certain of his surroundings, he can guarantee himself and family against typhoid by vaccination. Protection after vaccination lasts somewhere about three years. It is absolute. It is only slightly painful, causes no sore, and does not produce much after effect.

SYMPTOMS OF GANGRENE.

A. B. writes: "What are the symptoms of gangrene? A young man has been suffering for three weeks with erysipelas, but after reading a recent article concerning this disease I notice where gangrene sometimes occurs. I feel this is the case here. He suffered with fever the first few days, but now the fever has gone and left him in a weak condition. Is gangrene fatal and how long does the disease generally last? What causes the disease."

REPLY.

In gangrene of the leg the leg would drop off if the patient were to live long enough. Amputation is done to save life. If the dead part dries up the condition is called dry gangrene. If gas formation is prominent it is called gas gangrene. If the part is moist it is called moist gangrene. It is probable that the young man had erysipelas. Erysipelas is a severe disease and convalescence is apt to be slow.

INFORMATION ON DISEASES.

A. B. H. writes: "1. Where and how can I get your book on venereal diseases?

"2. If a man infected with syphilis ten years ago had 606 administered about five years ago, and has no external sign of the disease, can he infect his wife?

"3. What is the first sign of syphilis in a woman, and what should be done when such a sign appears?"

REPLY.

(1) Send a self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in stamps to this office.

(2) The wife cannot be infected without an open sore is present. A relapse in which the patient becomes infective after a ten year interval is no more than remotely possible. Practically there is no danger.

(3) The first sign in a woman is the same as the first sign in a man. The danger that this sign will not be recognized and that secondaries will be the first sign noticed is great.

TREATMENT FOR GALLSTONES.

G. D. writes: "1. What is the cause of gallstones?

"2. Would the food or drinking water cause them to form?

"3. Can a chiropractor remove them?

"4. What treatment would you advise?"

REPLY.

1. Infection of the gall bladder. Eating too much grease, fats, and oil. Obesity. Leading an inactive life.
2. A diet too rich in fat is an important factor.
3. No.
4. Regulate your diet. Keep your bowels regular. If the attacks do not subside under this treatment operation is advised.

CANNOT IMPROVE CONDITION.

L. T. W. writes: "Your remarks on peristalsis seem to explain a condition which I had long ago come to look on as unexplainable. For about forty years I have had this experience: Whenever I drop off to sleep in the daytime, and always when I sleep at night, the lining mucous membrane of my mouth immediately begins depositing an unpleasant secretion. This will happen every night. I am 64 years old, blood pressure 184, kidneys, lungs, heart, stomach all pronounced in healthy condition. I sleep with free course of fresh air; tramp a good deal; eat only wholesome food; do not use tobacco or liquor; bathe regularly. I am not troubled with bad breath, at least in the daytime. After my mouth and teeth are washed in the morning there is nothing to taint my breath until I sleep again. I have all my teeth, and no fillings in lower jaw, three in upper. Tonsils have been removed. Is there a way to stop it?"

REPLY.

I do not think you can improve matters.

MAY BE HEART DISEASE.

D. P. A. writes: "I am troubled with my breathing, which causes me much pain in my back and shoulders when walking. What do you think is the matter with me?"

REPLY.

See a physician. The probability is that you have heart disease. Shortness of breath is a frequent symptom of heart disease; pain is an occasional symptom.

BROKEN THIGH STILL HURTS.

W. E. writes: "Some time ago I broke my thigh and for six weeks I was in a Hodgen splint. The leg seems to have healed, but it pains very badly, especially at night, mostly around the knee joint. I cannot bear my weight on it. Please let me know what I can do for it. Will rubbing a liniment on it do any good?"

REPLY.

Use exercise and massage regularly and systematically. You will suffer some pain for a long time—months or years—in spite of the best you can do.

SAVING LAND FOR THE FIGHTERS

THE American Association for Agricultural Legislation, which has been organized at a meeting held in Philadelphia, has as its aim the investigation as well as the promotion of agricultural legislation. The intention of the founders is to unite agriculturalists and economists and, so far as may be, to bring to bear the best brains and practical experience of the country in the solution of legislative problems of an agricultural nature.

Heretofore economists and agriculturalists have been too accustomed to move along separate lines. The agricultural societies have not always had the benefits of the best scientific and economic thought while, on the other hand, the economists have too frequently lacked an appreciation of the significance of agricultural problems.

Several points in regard to this new association are to be particularly noticed. First, its scope is broad. It takes up such acute present questions as legislation on food production, consumption, and price, as well as the slightly less pressing problems connected with land settlement, which will include the settlement of the soldiers and sailors on the land.

Second, investigation is to precede all recommendations. The association has no panaceas, no formulas to be applied to all sorts of cases. Rather, it will endeavor by hard work to bring to bear the best thought of our time on the questions which it takes up.

Third, we have many agricultural organizations at present and each one sooner or later is confronted with legislative problems; and in the solution of these this new association will supplement their work.

Comparatively few topics will at first engage attention. The members of the new association realize that they have large tasks before them, requiring long and arduous toil, and their aim is not to go faster than the facts warrant. Rash and premature recommendations will be avoided and snap judgments discouraged.

Work on land settlement will be stressed. The land question is one of the greatest economic problems of the twentieth century, and perhaps the greatest. Exploitation of settlers by unscrupulous speculators is a crying evil, injurious to all legitimate landed interests. Every effort will be made to put the ownership of land and the business of dealing in land on a high plane. The best methods of putting people on the land and enabling men to acquire the ownership of land will be studied and the results of investigations published. The American idea of home ownership as promotive of good citizenship will be encouraged.

Already speculators are working on plans to exploit the returning soldiers and sailors which it will be the purpose of this association to thwart, while it will investigate, so far as its means permit, the best methods of putting the soldiers and sailors on the land, so far as they wish to become cultivators and owners of the soil.

A topic to which it is planned to give special attention in the near future is suitable legislation for farmers' marketing organizations. The urgent importance of this subject will generally be conceded.

Attention will be given the improvement of conditions of rural life and a committee will soon be appointed to deal with this subject.

Especial attention will be given to the acute present problems of food production, consumption, and price. It is believed by the counsel of this association that an independent, nonpolitical organization of students of these problems can be especially helpful at the present juncture. Accordingly a committee of specialists has been appointed. Each one of these approaching problems from a somewhat different point of view should together reach well balanced conclusions.

The following have been appointed members of the committee on land settlement: Prof. Richard T. Ely, chairman; Prof. Hector Macpherson, Prof. Elwood Mead, Prof. W. J. Spillman, Prof. H. C. Taylor.

The following have been appointed members of the committee on food production, consumption, and price: Prof. L. H. Bailey, chairman; Prof. H. J. Davenport, Prof. B. H. Hibbard, Prof. Russell Smith, Prof. G. F. Warren.

The officers of the new association are:

President, Elwood Mead, University of California, Berkeley.

Vice president, G. F. Warren, Cornell university, Ithaca.

Secretary, Richard T. Ely, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Treasurer, H. C. Taylor, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

It was voted at the Philadelphia meeting to have committees on marketing, taxation, and rural credit; but the members of these committees have not as yet been nominated.

All those interested in the work of the association are invited to send a membership fee of $2 to the secretary of the association, Prof. Richard T. Ely, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis. It is hoped to have a very large membership among business and professional people in the cities and rural districts as well as among men directly interested in agriculture.

LIABILITY FOR ACCIDENT.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Are all persons in an automobile liable in case of accident while in the machine?

A, owner of the car, not in the machine at the time; B, wife of the owner, in the machine; C, man driving (a licensed chauffeur, although not paid by owner or wife), just a friend of both; D and E, friends of A, B, and C, but having no ownership in the car.

While driving B goes on wrong side of street car and runs over boy, not killing him, but injuring him to such an extent that he is sent to hospital, remaining there three weeks, suffering from bruises. In making settlement, out of court, are D and E liable, or is C, the man driving, liable with the owner of the car, or owner's wife? INTERESTED.

A. Not liable unless the trip was taken on his business or other additional facts are involved.

B. Not liable merely on the facts stated.

C. Liable if the accident was due to his negligence, as appears to be the case.

D. and E. Not liable unless additional facts are involved, such as their being in part control, etc.

PROPRIETOR LIABLE FOR LOSS.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Is a hotel or rooming house responsible for clothing which is stolen if door is not locked and key left in proprietor's care? If they are responsible how can I recover the value of stolen clothing? H. S. H.

He would be liable in Illinois. As for money and valuables, he could protect himself by posting notices for you to deposit them in his safe.

CHARGING USURIOUS INTERTEST.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A buys an automobile from B. B wants cash. In order that B receive cash, A and B go to an automobile financing company. In the transaction A signed an agreement with the financing company to pay for automobile within ten months in semi-monthly payments. For this the automobile company charged a commission of 37½ per cent. Is this an excessive charge? E. A. J.

From the facts that you state, we would say that this commission was a subterfuge to cover usurious interest and that no more than the principal sum could be collected. Since it is probable that the case will be contested, we advise you to employ an attorney to resist.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE STAMPS NECESSARY.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Is it necessary to place revenue stamps on a note or on the extension interest coupons of a note, which when due is extended for a period of three years by making the following indorsement on the back of the principal note: "The time for the payment of the within note is extended for a period of three years, viz: (date), extentension interest coupons evidencing the semi-annual interest installments having been made and attached to said note, which note is secured by trust deed on real estate? S. H. L.

Yes, section 6 taxes notes "and each renewal thereof." You might save by making a new note covering the entire amount due.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CORPORATION'S LIABILITY.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—In a corporation formed a year ago one stockholder claims money due him from a loan to the business before incorporation, and another claims money due him for back salary, also before incorporation. Are their claims valid and must the third new stockholder, who has built up the business, have to pay these claims out of the corporation's profits? If so, what would be a just settlement of the claims? A. H. E.

Not unless the claims are in some way brought home to the corporation, for example, by showing that the corporation purchased a going business and assumed its debts. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WIFE DOES NOT INHERIT.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A man died in January leaving a wife; no children. The man's mother died in February. Is his wife an heir to his mother's property? Would it make any difference if the mother had died first? PRINCETON.

1. No.
2. Yes.

HOW'S THIS, MR. BAKER?

Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., Jan. 27.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I enlisted as a photographer and left a good position in New York to come home to Chicago and join. At Columbus barracks (Columbus, O.) we were well treated and received about half our clothes. We came here in charge of a sergeant. We have every reason to believe he deliberately grafted our food allowance.

We were given two sandwich meals each day on the train and reached here hungry yet carrying forty loaves of bread and sixteen cans of food. He was given a carton of cigarets for the men and kept the entire carton. We were deprived of our baggage when we arrived here. I have lived almost a week without soap, towel, razor, or toothbrush. We sleep in tents without sufficient bedclothes. We simply remove hat, shoes, and overcoat. It is almost impossible to get wood for our tent fires. We shiver day and night. For some time our food was scant; nearly every one without money went hungry. Bathing is out of the question. I am 39 years old and want to serve my country, but I do not wish to lose my health because of neglect or indifference or worse. ERNEST FILER,

First Casual. Co., Signal Corps.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The whole world at the present time is talking in very large numbers, but if they want to get a real big number just figure the snow that fell in the city limits of Chicago in January.

There are 27,884,400 square feet in a square mile; estimating 300 square miles as being within the corporate limits of the city, there are 8,365,320,000 square feet. The weather bureau says forty inches of snow fell, equal to three and one-third feet; therefore the fall during the month of January was 27,884,400,000 cubic feet. Estimating snow to weigh eight pounds to the cubic foot, there fell during the month of January 223,075,200,000 pounds, equivalent to 111,537,600 tons.

Is it any wonder it has not all been dumped into the lake by wagon?

F. F. VATER.

SAVE DAYLIGHT.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There is now pending in congress a bill known as "the daylight saving plan." This bill (in substance to set the clock ahead one hour, and thus secure an additional hour of daylight after the work day) was introduced by Senator Calder of New York at the last session of congress, and was then passed by the United States senate and is now in the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

The advantages promised are enormous:

[a] The great economic saving in coal and light that would result.

[b] The benefits to the health and moral and general well being of the nation.

[c] It would double the production of food by the private individuals developing small gardens.

[d] It would help to meet the present requirements of the railroads of the country and secure greater coöperation from them.

This plan has been adopted by England, France, Italy, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Portugal, Germany, and Austria. Several communities in this country have successfully tried the plan—namely: Cleveland and Detroit. The chamber of commerce of the United States has gone on record in favor of the plan. There is no doubt that it will do more to save fuel and conserve all our resources than all of the rules that have been put into force and effect up to the present time. A. P. GRUHN.

THE WORST FORM OF NEGLECT.

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Permit me to express my appreciation of your editorial this morning on "Soldier's Dependents."

I expect to be called myself this spring and I must confess that I am considerably worried over the reports that dependents are not receiving their proper allotments. My widowed mother will most certainly need her allotment of my pay as well as the authorized government allowance of $10. It will certainly be hard for me to place my body and soul at the disposal of a government that is going to neglect my mother.

You are right. It is "the worst form that neglect could take."

PUTS PUGILIST ABOVE CHAPLAIN AS MORAL FORCE

Sunday Evening Club Audience Startled by War Recreation Head.

Raymond B. Fosdick, chairman of the army and navy commission on training camp activities, startled an audience of 2,400 at the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall last night when he said that one man like Packey McFarland has more good effect on the morale of an army than "any half dozen chaplains I have ever seen."

Athletics and singing are the greatest factors in the formation of a fighting army, according to Mr. Fosdick, whose subject was "The Elements of a Fighting Army."

While the commission of which Mr. Fosdick is head is carrying on a vast campaign against all deteriorating influences in the neighborhood of the American training camps there is nothing "mollycoddlish" in its effects, he said. Athletics are taking the place of "booze," and mass singing, the reading of instructive books, and simple, playful games have supplanted the doubtful recreations that were indulged in by the soldiers along the Mexican border before a constructive plan for wholesome amusements was evolved by government officials.

Praises for Speaker.

In introducing Mr. Fosdick, Clifford W. Barnes, president of the club and a member of the navy commission, said that in the criticism recently directed at the conduct of the war there was one arm of the service that had been above criticism—that of which Mr. Fosdick is chief. The commission had set an example for the whole world, he declared, its leadership having been notably efficient from the first.

Mr. Fosdick quoted Sir Philip Sidney, who said, "If you see a good war, get into it; and when you come out, come only with scars received in honorable conflict."

"It is a regrettable fact," said Mr. Fosdick, "that a great many of our soldiers who were called into service on the Mexican border came back with scars that could not be so classed. At the beginning of our participation in the great war Secretaries Daniels, Baker, and other government officials determined that this unfortunate state of affairs should not continue.

Contented While Fighting.

"One of the first things evident in this work was that a fighting army is a contented army. Our first effort was to set up an environment, a good environment, about the camps. In this we have tried to avoid new machinery. This is a natural fault. Americans like to form committees, create organizations and like bodies. We have therefore coöperated with the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, and the Jewish board of welfare work. Later there was developed coöperation with the Y. W. C. A., in the establishment of hostess houses at the principal cantonments.

"The commanding officers were not very enthusiastic about this phase. They said they wanted no feminine element introduced. That attitude has entirely changed. Officers and men beg for them now.

Funds Are Needed.

"To meet the new problems of soldiers and sailors on furlough in communities near their camp, a national campaign is about completed to raise $4,000,000. Illinois will undertake a drive for $500,000 on Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12. The project has the personal and official approval of President Wilson, Secretary of War Baker, Secretary of Navy Daniel, and the Illinois State Council of Defense."

UNDER FIRE

Chicago Salvation Army Ensign Who Has Endeared Herself to Pershing's Men.

GEHRIG PHOTO

While other women have won the hearts of our soldiers in France through various war time activities, such as nursing and supplying them with dainties, it remained for Ensign Margaret Sheldon of the Chicago command of the Salvation Army to endear herself through the medium of hot biscuits.

Floyd Gibbons, THE TRIBUNE'S special correspondent at the front, wrote concerning her:

"Miss Sheldon already has achieved a reputation throughout the American forces for her hot biscuit."

With Miss Sheldon are Miss Emma Van Nordan, daughter of the late Warner Van Nordan, former president of the National Bank of North America and founder of the Van Nordan Trust company of New York, and Miss Louise Young, a cadet.

"These three arrived today in a village just behind the firing line," Gibbons wrote. "They have not been permitted as yet to enter the trenches, but they are well within an area which is constantly shelled by the Germans. They will be attached to the Salvation Army hut which has just been established in a billeting center, to look after the comfort of American soldiers."

Miss Sheldon has been associated with the Salvation Army in Chicago for about six years. While here she devoted herself wholly to slum work and is well known among the poor of the west side. She was sent to France about six months ago.

Thomas Estill, territorial commissioner of the Salvation Army, said yesterday that additional women are to be sent to France by the organization.

Appeal for Roumanians Made in Evanston Church

An appeal for aid in behalf of the hungry inhabitants of Roumania was made yesterday at a meeting of the current events class of the First Congregational church of Evanston by Mme. George Stanculcanu, widow of a Roumanian oculist. She is touring the country to obtain aid for her stricken countrymen.

WOMEN WOULD KEEP SOLDIERS OUT OF PARIS

Clubs Raise Funds to Provide Places for Vacations.

American soldiers in France have a new comfort awaiting them. They are to be provided with some place to go for the regular two weeks' vacation allowed them every four months through the activity of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. A fund of $250,000 will be gathered in $1 gifts from the club women of the United States for the purpose.

The plan was explained yesterday by Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, president of the national body. Mrs. Cowles lives in Los Angeles. She is the sister of Mrs. W. A. Peterson, Lincoln and Peterson avenues, where she was visiting yesterday.

Aided in Other Work.

"I have just come from Hot Springs, Va., where the General Federation of Women's Clubs launched what we call our 'War Victory Commission,'" she said.

"The women's clubs are interested in all the war movements in this country and have contributed towards them and are coöperating in helping the Y. M. C. A. abroad, but the work we now have in hand is needed in addition, and no one else has taken it in hand.

"We want to provide places where our soldiers in France can go for their regular vacations without going to Paris or other large cities and can have as many of the comforts of home as possible. The details are not worked out yet, but we have the hearty approval of President Wilson concerning the general plan.

In South of France.

"The soldiers of the English and French armies can go to their own homes for their vacations, but our soldiers can't recross the ocean for that purpose. The places selected will be in the south of France, subject to the approval of the proper governmental authorities. The details will be worked out when Raymond Fosdick returns from Europe, where he is going soon on a tour of inspection.

"We have adopted as the motto of our war victory commission the words of President Wilson, 'We dedicate our lives and our fortunes, everything we are and have.'"

CLINNIN URGES STANDING ARMY OF 2,500,000

Universal Training Plea Made by Colonel at Houston.

Camp Logan, Tex., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The first realization of the meaning of this war will come to the people of the United States when the first real casualty lists come from the battle fronts in France. This is the statement of Lieut. Col. John V. Clinnin, commander of the One Hundred and Eighth trains, in an address on universal military training at the city auditorium of Houston this afternoon.

"The horrors of war have not been brought home to the people of the United States," said the colonel. "We lack the long lists of dead and wounded. Severe losses will shock the senses of our people, strike direct at their hearts, and cause a backfire of resentment and hatred which will forever destroy pro-Germanism in this country.

"He Laughs Best Who——"

"The German ruler laughed at our army and navy. He said we could not train forces that could hope to stand before the mighty hosts of Germany. He sneers at our efforts and alleges we will not submit to the discipline that is necessary for a successful fighting army. What can be our answer to these charges? There is only one. It is either liberty or death."

The colonel's next point was that the national guard system had lost its usefulness in this country. He urged that congress be asked to pass a bill for universal military training which will insure a land force of 2,500,000 men. These men should be thoroughly trained soldiers. They should not be civilians in uniform, men who soldier a night a week or less.

"Men cannot be expected to earn a living and become efficient in the use of arms at the same time," the colonel said. "One or the other of the two things must be the loser. Both usually suffer. Our militia system which made every man between the ages of 18 and 35 a soldier in theory at least, was a product of the revolutionary war when every man carried a rifle as a frontiersman.

"At that time the system was fine, but conditions have changed and the system must change with them. Warfare is no longer a job for every man; it is a specialist's job."

School for Infantry Officers.

A school for 240 captains and first lieutenants of the infantry regiments will be started tomorrow under Capt. William H. Simpson, A. D. C., and head of the division school of arms.

The division increased over $20,000,000 in insurance in the last week. The campaign to insure all the men has been carried to the Leon Springs training camp, where about 500 noncommissioned prairie divisioners are learning to become officers. Maj. O. C. Smith, assistant division judge advocate, left today to take a census of the insurance among these men.

Husband and Wife Found Dead from Gas Fumes

Peter Regan and his wife, Annie, were found dead in bed yesterday afternoon by the police when they broke down the door of their home, at 4609 North Western avenue. The house was filled with gas which was escaping from an open burner of the gas stove in the kitchen.

It is believed by the police that the deaths were accidental.

"LET GEORGE DO IT," IS BAKER'S DOCTRINE—T. R.

More Blunders in Army Delay Revealed in Speed Up Plea.

BY THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

[Printed by Courtesy of Kansas City Star.]

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—In my last editorial I spoke of the things of which Secretary Baker explicitly or implicitly denies the existence in justifying the administration for the military delay and shortcomings that have marked our entry into war. But as to the major facts there is no room for denial, as to these Secretary Baker falls back on the comfortable doctrine that all our shortcomings are of no consequence because they are made good anyhow by the efforts of our allies, who, by the way, with preposterous silliness, are in official circles merely termed our associates.

Secretary Baker explains that, although our forces in France have no field artillery or auto rifles, this is of no consequence because the French love to give us artillery and auto rifles. He explains that the greatest German offensive movement of the war is about to take place, an offensive movement which, if successful, means that we have lost the war, and he adds that we can trust England and France to repel this offensive.

Letting "George Do It."

This is a naked statement that we are to "let George do it." We are to announce that after being at war just a year our delays have been so great that we are almost negligible in the military sense and that we must trust ot our allies to speed up the war.

This verifies the prediction of Von Hindenburg and Von Tirpitz that it would take us eighteen months to become a real factor in the war. Americans laughed at this statement, but the ruthless and brutal and intelligent Germans were right, and our soft sentimentalities were their efficient allies.

We are in the position of letting George speed up the war. Are the citizens of a proud and high spirited nation to be content with such a position?

Our major shortcomings can neither be concealed nor denied. In October I personally saw thousands of infantrymen drilling with sticks. In December I still saw artillerymen with sticks, instead of rifles.

Sticks and Logs for Guns.

A month ago most of the cannon in the national army camps which I saw were made of logs or sections of telegraph poles, and all the machine guns I saw were wooden dummies. The daily press has repeatedly published photos of these wooden rifles, cannon, and machine guns. Secretary Baker cannot deny this, nor can he deny that in modern war an army without artillery is helpless.

We are now getting a small number of machine guns. We are turning some heavy coast guns into field artillery, but as yet gallant Gen. Pershing and his gallant men in France have to trust to the French for artillery and machine guns and war planes, and, thanks to our dawdling and undecision, we have an utterly insufficient number of cargo ships.

Duty Now to Speed Up.

We have been at war a year. In April congress stated that Germany had already committed repeated acts of war against us and that our own declaration of war was formal. It was then too late to undo the criminal mischief caused by our refusal to prepare during the preceding two and a half years, but we aggravated the damage immensely by our delays and follies. If we had exercised reasonable energy we would in six months have achieved more than we have actually achieved in a year. The least we can do is now to speed up the war ourselves.

Let us insist that this be the end towards which with all our energy we now strive.

WETS BEGIN TO CHECK NAMES ON DRY PETITION

Eighty-five Clerks Copy Signatures; Watchers Are on Hand.

The saloon interests yesterday started work copying and classifying the 148,000 names on the petition to submit the liquor question to a referendum. Eighty-five employés of the Chicago Addressing company were working in the civil service examination rooms of the city hall under the direction of William W. De Wees, who directed the work on the petition of eight years ago and who has assisted the wets in checking over petitions in other campaigns.

The election commissioners' forces checked out ten sheets of the original petition to a worker and made him sign a receipt for them.

Dry Workers Present.

L. C. Lewis, S. F. Cleveland, Jason E. Hammond, and Howard E. Kershner represented the dry forces to see that no alterations were made in the original signatures.

Mr. De Wees said he expected to complete copying the petition by Tuesday night. After this the names will be indexed by wards and precincts. This will take nearly two weeks. Mr. De Wees said that while he found 28,000 errors in 74,000 signatures eight years ago, he doubted whether any such proportion of mistakes would be found in the present petition. He recalled that Napoleon, Washington, and Lincoln had signed the former petition, but he was unable to locate any obviously fictitious names this time.

Yarrow Addresses Catholics.

Dr. Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Dry Chicago federation, in the afternoon addressed 300 representatives of the Roman Catholic Lithuanian total abstinence societies at the parochial school, Union avenue and Eighteenth street. Three priests were present.

"The wets will spend more money in a few weeks in attempting to pick flaws in our petition than we have spent in the two years in organizing and promoting our work," said Dr. Yarrow. "What we want is money to push the organization and carry the election."

Finds Baby Son Dead, Its Mother Intoxicated

When Andrew Hulka of 4303 South Laflin street came home from work on Saturday afternoon he found his infant son, Andrew Jr., 3 months old, dead, apparently of neglect. Later he reported to the police the discovery of Mrs. Mary Hulka and one Peter Gill, a laborer of 1312 West Fiftieth street, both drunk. Gill was arrested.

POLICE REPEAT DEMANDS FOR 'LIVING WAGE'

Demands for a "living wage" were voiced by Chicago's patrolmen at a massmeeting in the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon.

Resolutions asserting that janitors in the city employ receive higher wages than policemen, and urging all members of the police department who are able to do so to attend the council budget hearings were adopted at the meeting.

The speakers were State Representative Michoel L. Igoe and Ald. John C. Kennedy of the Twenty-seventh ward.

Memorial Services for Dumaresq Spencer Held

Memorial services were held yesterday in the Trinity Episcopal church, at Highland Park, for Dumaresq Spencer, who was killed last week while returning from aerial patrol service over the German lines near Belfort.

The Rev. Peter Wolcott, rector of the church, conducted the services, in the presence of a large audience. Three flags were carried—an American flag by Melville Cobb, British by George Allen Mason, and French by Bowen Schumacher. Ushers were Lieut. Hannibal Chandler and Capt. Thomas Troxell of Camp Grant.

Dumaresq was one of six sons Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Spencer of 105 Wade street, Highland Park, have given to the nation in the present war. He was a member of the Franco-American flying squadron.

Church Honors Memory of William McKinley

Incidents in the life of former President William McKinley were related last evening at a memorial service in the St. James Methodist Episcopal church by the pastor, the Rev. W. R. Wedderspoon. McKinley was born Jan. 29 and yesterday was the first Sunday following the anniversary.

"When Benjamin Harrison was defeated for president after serving one term," Dr. Wedderspoon said, "Mr. McKinley, then governor of Ohio, heard some men shouting over Harrison's defeat. 'A year from now some of you men who are so jubilant will be begging for bread,' he said. He lived to see his prophecy come true.

"McKinley stopped delegates from voting for him at the time Garfield was nominated, and when Harrison was nominated, because he was loyal in the first instance to John Sherman and in the second instance to Harrison."

Farmers' Argument Over War Ends in Shooting

An argument over the war resulted in the probable fatal wounding of Anthon Seiler, 60 years old, a farmer living two miles north of Lamont, yesterday, when he was shot by Jacob Vestl, a neighboring farmer. Seiler had been calling on Vestl and they spent the afternoon discussing the war, finally growing somewhat heated. As Seiler was leaving the house Vestl is alleged to have shot him in the back, the bullet taking effect in the abdomen. Seiler was taken to a Joliet hospital. Vestl was arrested.

WAR SPEEDING UP LEADS TO ACCIDENT GAIN

Risk Companies Find That Increase in Fire Losses Follows.

BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

As the figures for 1917 are being assembled by the various state industrial boards and the insurance companies writing workmen's compensation insurance, it is evident that accident frequency has increased from 10 to 25 per cent in almost all directions along industrial lines.

Both the members of the state industrial boards and the compensation underwriters agree that the speeding up process in the factories has been the main cause for this accident increase. Employés have been pushed, the machinery has been kept going day and night without giving it time to cool, there has been more carelessness because time could not be given to cleaning up and watching conditions carefully.

Increase Fire Losses.

The fire insurance companies find that these same conditions have increased fire losses. There is more litter about a factory, machinery is kept running at a red hot pace, and hence the physical hazards have been greatly augmented.

In many cases factories that secured government contracts extended their capacity, built new structures or additions to their old buildings, gave hurry-up orders for machinery, and employed so much speed that more accidents have occurred. The construction of buildings has been hurried and hence there has not been the care used as in the past. New machinery installed is not as solid and substantial as formerly. The various safeguards have not been established.

Safety First Neglected.

Safety appliances have been more neglected. Employers are overwhelmed with orders and do not give the time to accident prevention that they did when conditions were more normal. The state industrial boards and the insurance company inspectors, however, are vigilant and are in close touch with the situation.

If the claim ratio of any industry increases it will be reflected in the rates. Workmen's compensation rates carry the individual experience of each plant. While the insurance men know that the safety first campaign has been neglected in a great many factories, yet they feel that when increasing claims begin to be reflected in the rates for insurance employers will call a halt.

Insist on Proper Safeguards.

Where a state has a factory inspection system the inspectors are requiring that carelessness be eliminated and proper safeguards be installed. The casualty underwriters say that where a safety first campaign has been inaugurated and carried on conscientiously splendid results have been obtained. Employers have not found the time to devote to this movement during the last two years. Time was formerly taken for talks on this subject or more or less instruction, but when the press of orders came and time was in so great demand the safety first movement was sidetracked.

The recent jewel robbery in the Heller-Rose company store in the Marshall Field annex building has caused many concerns that did not carry burglary insurance to protect themselves and others that were not sufficiently indemnified took larger policies.

Flat Feet, Broken Arches and Weak Ankles

CORRECTED BY

Larson's Anatomic Sta-Right Shoes

Do you suffer with pains in the small of your back or the calf of your legs, or do your nerves twitch in your lower limbs, have you pains in the insteps and ankles? Have you thought these were rheumatic pains? Thousands of people come to me each year that have thought they were rheumatic pains, but they are caused by torn ligaments, strained nerves and muscles in the instep or misplaced bones in the instep which are pushed out of place and cause a disturbance throughout the whole system. These pains are a warning that the arches are breaking, and unless given support flat feet will result. The Larson Anatomic Sta-Right Shoes are re-enforced with steel plates at the insteps—adjusted to meet the requirements of each individual.

Already Every Newly Created Mode in

Women's New Spring Suits

Fashion moves swiftly these days.

Just how fast one can see by a visit to these women's suit sections. Newness is on every side. The spring message in suits one reads is fascinatingly different. It concerns—

Tricotine Tailored-Type Suits with Vests.

The Return of the Youthful Bolero-Suit.

The Short Pony-Coat Suit, Very Smart.

Novel and decorative belts are noted. Scarcely one just straight all around. Satin gores are introduced in coats. Silk cordelieres are slipped into tunic skirts. Each group—at $37.50 to $125—is full of interest.

The Checks Fashion Endorses Are in These New Suits of Two Fabrics, $62.50

Brown and blue checked wool velour fashions the coat. The skirt is of a gray-tan serge weave. Sketched at the right.

Silk Braid Row on Row in Skirt and Coat of New Suits of Poiret Twill, $85

Here is a new coat length in the suit sketched at the left, and to prove its "1918" origin it adds a vest of white tricotine. In navy blue and tan.

February Silk Petticoat Sale

The beauty and charm of style of these petticoats are instantly captivating.

But it is their solid worth and dependability—due to quality silks and expert workmanship—that makes these petticoats such splendid values.

At $5, $5.95, $6.75 and $8.95

Are four groups singled out for specialization. Each illustrates the "value" meaning of this sale.

At $5—petticoats at right center, of flowered taffeta.
At $8.95—rich glace taffeta petticoats, left center.

At $3.95—Thousands of Silk Petticoats

Taffeta silks, jersey silks, jersey with taffeta flounces, dark colors for street wear—lighter shades for afternoon frocks. Complete size ranges throughout.

Continuing With Abundant Assortments the February Sale of Quality Silks

The sale of many silk traditions. The recurrence which has met these silk traditions again with splendid success, offering evidence of this on every side.

So the February Silk Sale is epic in its fulfillments—though not as the fruits of opportunity, but rather as the result of the dominant silk position of this store which made its own opportunities in order to take advantage of them.

A sale of quality silks always, but this year its uncommon significance is reflected in the extent of the silk assortments involved—in the wonderfully interesting showings of the new silks for spring—as well as in pricings on silks, of those dependable grades always identified with this store, which occur only during this period.

Silks in Remarkable Assortments Are Priced $1.85 Yard

These combine in one of the largest purchases of silks of this class we have ever made for the February Silk Sale, and offer values little to be imagined these days.

6,600 yards of 40-inch all silk satin cashmere de soie in a full line of fashionable colors at $1.85 yard.

Beautiful gingham silks in taffeta weaves and dainty colorings in the 36-inch width at $1.85 yard.

36-inch all silk satin de luxe, a soft, beautiful fabric in a splendid color line including light and dark shades, as well as white, $1.85 yard.

40-inch all silk black satin cashmere de soie of an excellent quality, rich in lustre, at $1.85 yard.

40-inch silk and wool dress poplins of a quality combining richness and durability at $1.85 yard.

40-inch all silk printed foulards, choice designs, new colorings, many exclusive patterns at $1.85 yard.

13,000 Yards of Fine Blouse and Shirting Silks, 85c and $1.45 Yard

This constitutes one of the greatest purchases of silks of this kind we have ever made, including so many attractive patterns and colorings in blouse and shirting weights for spring that one can hardly comprehend the extent of these assortments until they are personally seen. The values offered will be surprising when the qualities at 85c and $1.45 yard are noted.

36-inch all silk gros de Londres in a notable color line in the February Silk Sale, $1.95 yard.

36-inch all silk faille francaise in a splendid color assortment including street shades at $2.10 yard.

Women's Taffeta Frocks

Among the First New Spring Modes

The charm of a new fashion season is surely in these.

A Triple-Tuniced Taffeta Frock May Be Had at $25

The bodice, fastening to the side as do so many of the new ones, is just touched with a tracery of gold thread.

Wool Wilton Rugs

At Reductions Worth Considering Immediately

When present assortments have been sold one of the best opportunities we have been in a position to offer in many months in rugs of this character will have passed.

The excellent patterns, the desired colorings, the fine qualities—all the result of the care taken in selection, should make the following typical pricings on wool Wilton rugs of immediate consequence.

9x12-ft. Wool Wilton Rugs, $47.50
8¼x10½-ft. Wool Wilton Rugs, $44
6x9-ft. Wool Wilton Rugs, $30
4½x7½-ft. Wool Wilton Rugs, $15

These are but representative pricings — assortments include many other notable values in rugs of all wanted sizes and in a variety of patterns and colorings.

GIVES RULINGS TO COLLECT ON EXCESS PROFIT

McAdoo Issues an Order to Guide Paying of Levies.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Regulations for the payment of the excess profit tax have been approved by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. The provisions which are of general interest to the public are those which deal with the definition of invested capital of corporations and partnerships and with the treatment, under section 210 of the law, of cases in which the capital cannot be satisfactorily determined, and under section 209 of cases of nominal capital.

The provisions of section 210, which permit the deduction to be computed by reference to the deductions as determined in the ordinary way in the case of representative concerns engaged in the same trade or business are held to apply to a number of classes of exceptional cases.

Some of Favored Cases.

Among these cases are the following:

"1. Where, on account of defective accounting, it is impossible to accurately compute the invested capital.

"2. In the case of a foreign taxpayer, where the secretary finds, upon application, that the expense of securing the necessary data is unreasonable in view of the amount of tax involved or that it is impracticable to determine either the entire invested capital or the entire net come.

"3. Long established business concerns which, by reason of conservative accounting or the form and manner of their organization would, through the operation of section 207, be placed at a disadvantage in competition with representative concerns doing a similar business.

"4. Where the invested capital is seriously disproportionate to the taxable income, as, for example, because of the realization in one year of the earnings of capital unproductively invested through a period of years, or of the fruits of activities ante-dating the taxable year, or because of inability to recognize or properly allow for amortization, obsolescence, or exceptional depreciation due to the present war."

Where Services Are Personal.

Section 209, which provides an 8 per cent rate in the case of taxpayers having only a nominal invested capital, is held to apply primarily to occupation, professions, trades and businesses engaged principally in giving personal services and in which the employment of capital is not necessary, and the earnings of which are to be ascribed primarily to the activities of the owners.

In such cases the mere size of capital, form of organization, etc., are not determining factors, if the employment of the capital used is necessary because of delay or irregularity in receiving fees, etc., or if such capital is mainly used as a fund to advance salaries or wages, or to provide office furniture, equipment, etc.

The law provides that all of the activities of a corporation or partnership shall constitute a single business and that its income is deemed to be derived from that business.

In the case of an individual engaged in one or more trades or businesses having invested capital and also having income of a class taxable at the 8 per cent rate, the regulations provide that all the income of each class shall be lumped.

Capital of Corporations.

The provision which is probably of the greatest general interest is that which lays down the rule for the computation of the invested capital of corporations and partnerships. The law provides that the invested capital shall consist of the actual capital paid in and of the paid in or earned surplus and undivided profits, exclusive of the undivided profits of the taxable year.

The law also prescribes certain limitations upon the valuation of assets and other items. The regulations provide that the total of the capital, surplus, and undivided profits as shown on the books, adjusted as required by the limitations just referred to and as permitted by certain other provisions of the regulations, shall constitute the invested capital.

In the few cases, however, where this total exceeds the adjusted value of the admissible assets (the law expressly excludes assets the income from which is tax free), the invested capital must be reduced so as not to exceed the total value of the admissible assets. If there has been any change in the invested capital during the taxable year the monthly average shall be taken.

Must Make All Corrections.

In addition to the express provisions of the law relating to invested capital, several of the provisions of the regulations supplementing these of the law are of the greatest importance. If, because of failure to provide for depletion, depreciation, obsolescence, or other expenses or losses, the books of the corporation or partnership do not show its true surplus or undivided profits the necessary corrections must be made.

But, on the other hand, amounts which have been expended in the past for plants, equipment, or other tangible property still owned and in active use by the corporation or partnership, and which have been charged as current expense, may, unless such expense has been claimed as a deduction under the income tax acts of 1913 or 1916, be added to the surplus account, proper allowance being made for depletion or obsolescence.

Amounts so expended for good will, trade marks, trade brands, franchises, and other like intangible assets may be added only if bona fide payment was made therefor specifically as such in cash or tangible property.

When Conveyed by Gift.

Another important provision relating to the invested capital of a corporation or partnership is that when it can be shown by satisfactory evidence that tangible property has been conveyed to it by gift or at a value clearly and substantially in excess of the cash or par value of the stock exchanged therefor, then the amount of the excess shall be included as paid in surplus.

The invested capital of mutual insurance companies will consist of the sum of any surplus or contingent reserves maintained, general use of the business, and any legal reserves, the net additions to which are included in the net income subject to the tax. These companies are, of course, like all other corporations, subject to the general restriction already mentioned relating to tax free assets.

SHRAPNEL

Recruits are wanted for the West Twenty-sixth street military unit, home guards, now being organized by Capt. C. E. Bennett, U. S. A., retired. When a sufficient number of men have been selected the unit will be admitted to the Illinois volunteer training corps. Men between the ages of 18 and 55 years will be accepted every Friday evening at the Harrison Technical High school, West Twenty-fourth street and South Francisco avenue.

There are 800 sick soldiers in the base hospital at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., and they are lonesome. Convalescing is much more onerous than fighting. They derive their principal enjoyment from the phonograph. They have played it so often that all the records are worn down. Therefore, says Maj. W. W. Hamburger, chief of the medical staff there, if Chicagoans will contribute records they will be gratefully received.

Every one is invited to attend the rally of the Drama league tomorrow afternoon in the Grand Opera house in the interest of high class theatrical entertainment in the army training camps. Twenty-five young women of the Junior league will be ushers. Mrs. A. Starr Best is chairman and Mrs. Lyman Walton, president of the club, will preside.

They have singers, they have musicians and they have a piano at Camp Custer, Mich., but they haven't any music. And Private D. B. Stearnes, Company M, Three Hundred and Thirty-seventh infantry, writes to know if there aren't some kindhearted publishers, or private citizens, who will send some "pieces."

CHICAGO LABOR TO INVESTIGATE FOOD AND FUEL

Local Federation Plans to Fix the Blame for Shortage.

A committee to investigate the fuel and food situation was ordered appointed yesterday by the Chicago Federation of Labor. Its personnel will be announced today. The motion was introduced by Victor A. Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and was passed unanimously.

During the debate preceding the passage various reasons were advanced by delegates for the coal shortage. Delegate Madsen of the painters' union putting the blame on the producers.

Blames "Big Business."

"The blame rests with the big business men," he said. "They have kept down production in order to raise prices, never dreaming that the present crisis would come, and now they realize that they have made a noose for their own necks."

"If the coal committee wants to supply the people with coal and is not afraid of 'big business,' it can do it," another delegate said.

Among other things to be investigated will be the reports that many wealthy men have gone to Florida for the winter, leaving their basements full of coal which is of no use to them. Regarding other hoarders, it was suggested that the fuel administration ask Capt. Moffett of the Great Lakes Naval Training station for enough bluejackets to take a census of the coal in all houses, flats, and industrial plants.

Assail Food Administration.

Regarding the food situation, it was said that the food administration, while asking the people to conserve wheat and meat, has permitted the dealers to increase the prices of substitutes until the latter cost more than the former.

"If a workingman has to pay more or as much for corn as he does for wheat, is he going to buy corn?" one delegate asked. "How can the food administration expect the working people to save wheat and meat when they are forced to pay a higher price for the substitutes?"

This charge, and others, will be investigated by the committee.

Ten Smallpox Cases Are Reported in 24 Hours

Twenty-one pneumonia, seventeen diphtheria, and ten smallpox cases were reported to the health commissioner's office in the city hall in the last twenty-four hours.

DIES BETWEEN FREIGHT CARS.

James Kelcher of 4207 West North avenue, a brakeman, was instantly killed yesterday when he was crushed between two freight cars on the tracks of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad in the Mayfair yards.

I. W. W. LAWYERS READY TO BEGIN DEFENSE TODAY

Will Ask Landis to Quash Indictments and Return Seized Papers.

Attorneys for the 116 alleged members of the I. W. W., already under arrest, will open their first great offensive today. They have been laying their plans for weeks.

They are to appear before Federal Judge Landis and ask demurers, make motions to quash the indictments, and demand the return of all documents in possession of the government by attacking the writs under which the seizures of evidence were made.

Array of Legal Talent.

Charles E. Whiteside of New York, who represents a little coterie of indicted ones, including Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, alleged author of a book on "Sabotage"; Joe Ettor of Lawrence strike fame, and Arturo Giovanetti, will ask a severance for his clients. He arrived last night. These three on almost an instant's notice produced cash bond of $25,000 each.

Prominent in the defense of the other I. W. W. members will be Miss Caroline Lowe of Seattle, a Socialist editor. She is credited with having one of the keenest minds among the legal forces of the organization. George F. Vanderveer, also of Seattle, will lead in the fight.

Lawyers for Prosecution.

Assistant Attorney General William C. Fitts, himself, directing chief of all the United States district attorneys in the country, arrived from Washington yesterday. In the afternoon he went into conference with Charles F. Clyne, United States district attorney; Frank K. Nebeker, brought from Salt Lake City weeks ago to work up the I. W. W. case; Claude Porter, special district attorney of Des Moines; Oliver Pagan, indictment expert from Washington, anr several other prominent attorneys called in for counsel.

The consulttion lasted for several hours and at night it was said the government attorneys were "set" for any surprise that the I. W. W. contingent might be prepared to spring.

Christmas Kit Makes Hit; Jackie Verse Not So Worse

Seven year old Dorothy Perkins opened her penny bank along about Christmas time and counted out $2 for THE TRIBUNE kit fund. Then she waited for a letter from a soldier boy. It came last week, as follows:

You probably thought
That the package you bought
Would go to a boy in khaki.
But I am glad to say
That on Christmas day
It pleased a U. S. jackie.

It was signed "Joseph Stewart, U. S. S. Indiana." Dorothy lives at 6457 Thirty-third street, Berwyn.

Survey Shows Women Not Taking Men's Jobs

Women are not flocking to the ranks of labor in any vast numbers, in the opinion of Barney Cohen, director of the Illinois department of labor, who has just completed a survey of conditions over the state. He reports that women are not replacing men in any marked degree and that the talk of such a readjustment is greatly overdrawn. It has been discovered that the habitual labor shortage in certain localities has not changed either for better or worse. There is no change in the demand for farm and domestic help.

PLAN GARDEN NOW, IS HEALTH BUREAU'S ADVICE

"Begin planning the 1918 garden," is the suggestion of the Chicago health department in the weekly bulletin. It is urged that inasmuch as restrictions on certain foods may increase through summer and autumn it now is time to take thought of garden produce, to find vacant lots for planting, and also make arrangemnets for the kinds of produce to be cultivated.

It is the hope of the health department that those living in the suburbs will raise poultry, in addition to vegetables. It is pointed out that a small flock of chickens can be maintained on the kitchen scraps and a small additional expense.

The death rate for the week shows a decrease from that of last year from 18 per cent to 12.8 per cent. There were forty-three cases of chickenpox, as against 330 last year ,and 138 cases of pneumonia, as against 303 last year.

'New York Is Half Pagan,' Says Dr. W. T. McElveen

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—"New York is half pagan—and that in a year when Christianity and not paganism must win the war."

Thus the Rev. Dr. W. T. McElveen, lately from Evanston, Ill., described his new home city in his first sermon today at the Manhattan Congregational church.

"Convert New York City and you will do much to convert the state to Christianity," he declared. "As goes this city so goes the state and the nation. In our larger cities today the Christian church is not holding its own."

Would Have Old Glory and S. A. Flag One in Battle

Boston, Mass., Feb. 3.—"The Stars and Stripes and the Salvation Army flag should go into battle lashed abreast," Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army forces in the United States, said today.

NAVAL STUDENTS HEROES AT FIRE

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 3.—Dane hall, one of the oldest buildings on the quadrangle in the Harvard yard, was burned today. Thirty thousand rounds of ammunition in the basement were removed by men of the naval radio and ensigns' school.

Valuable records belonging to the university and the government schools also were saved.

The fire started in the basement, near the furnace, and was bursting through the roof when discovered by a naval officer. Students, working in squads, with handkerchiefs tied over their noses, groped their way to the shell boxes and brought them out without accident.

ENSIGN COMMITS SUICIDE.

New York, Feb. 3.—Ensign Reuben Titus, U. S. Naval reserves, died in the marine hospital on Staten Island today from a bullet wound in the head, self-inflicted a few hours before at his home. His wife told the police that she knew of no reason for the act, but that the officer had spent much time lately working on some sort of an invention.

Parlor Banker's Wife Thinks He's in Brooklyn

In her apartment on Albany avenue, Mrs. Wolkofsky, wife of the "parlor banker," who has departed with funds intrusted to him by his fellow countrymen, told with tears in her eyes of the efforts she is making to locate her husband.

"He must come back and answer all the questions of these people from whom he has received money," she said.

"I have sent telegrams to him in care of my brother, who lives in Philadelphia, and my sister, who lives in Brooklyn. I received an answer from my brother which said: 'Adolph is in New York. Wire to him there.' The telegram that I sent to Brooklyn was not returned, so I know he must have received it."

Leonard I. Wissman, attorney, who has been retained by Mrs. Wolkofsky to represent her husband, said he is positive the missing man has been made the tool of unscrupulous associates.

ROCKFORD PUTS 500 SKILLED MEN ON ACTIVE LIST

Camp Grant Rushes Work to Prepare for 12,000 Recruits.

Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Regimental officers, working steadily through the week end holiday today, complied with the last war department demand for artisans and met what they devoutly hope to be the last drain of trained soldiers from the division. About 500 men are numbered in the latest detail. They include carpenters and mechanics, for the most part, and have already left the cantonment to aid eventually in the industrial offensive in France.

Those picked from the various infantry units, it is pointed out, are not only artisans. They have mastered infantry drill, have become expert shots, and have been hardened to all service. Each man drawn leaves a gap. Another man will have to be trained to take his place.

8,000 in Hard Training.

Sixty seconds of every minute was utilized today, too, by the hard working junior officers assigned to whip the 8,000 volunteers in the depot brigade into shape. On the movement of these recruits hinges the ordering into camp of the last draft contingent, and every effort is being made to organize the volunteers and get them ready to leave the depot brigade by Feb. 15.

If this aim is accomplished, the 12,000 selective service men awaiting their call into service will be ordered to camp. They will be given their preliminary training in the depot brigade. If the entire 12,000 men are called they will bring the division well within its war strength.

Renewed interest and noticeably increased enthusiasm has come to men and officers alike in the preparatory action. Fighting men see in it the beginning of a rapidly moving constructive period that will bring them nearer to action each day.

Officers declare that the division will be able to move the day after the last new selectives are assigned to their companies and that their training may go forward in transit and overseas.

Officers Hard Hit.

Artillery officers experienced another financial blow today in the general order requiring the immediate purchase of every item named in the equipment regulations. First and second lieutenants, the first receiving $2,000 and the others $1,700 a year, and paying for food and clothing, will have to find more than $1,000 each in order to meet the demand.

The items named range from saddles and field glasses to Sam Brown belts and camp chairs. Among the hundred or more articles are four O. D. blankets, hip boots, canvas bucket and basin, twelve linen collars, flashlight and batteries, handkerchiefs, pistol and holster, toilet articles, special signal watch and compass, shoe strings, complete horse equipment, and extra personal equipment that will easily fill two field trunks.

CHICAGO SOLDIER DIES JUST WHEN REPORTED SAFE

On Way to Commission When Cold Leads to Pneumonia.

Corporal Robert F. Barth, son of Mrs. Mary Barth of 4519 North Ashland avenue, died yesterday at Camp Stanley, Leon Springs, Tex., of double pneumonia two hours after he had been pronounced out of danger.

Barth was selected for the national army in the Fifty-ninth district of Chicago and was among the first of the Chicago contingent sent to Rockford. From there he was transferred to Camp Logan, Houston, for service with the One Hundred and Thirtieth infantry. He had risen to corporal and had been recommended for sergeant.

On Road to Commission.

Then he was sent to the officers' training camp at Leon Springs. About two weeks ago he caught a bad cold, which developed into pneumonia.

He was given the best of care under the personal supervision of Maj. Hewitt of the Camp Stanley medical corps, who was a friend of his in civil life. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon his brother, Dr. J. J. Barth, received a telegram saying he was out of danger. At 4 o'clock a telegram arrived with news of the death.

Engaged to Wed.

Corporal Barth before the war was employed as a salesman in the furniture department of Marshal Field & Co., and later with Karpen Brothers. He was a bachelor, but was engaged to be married after the war. He was 27 years old.

Among those who survive him are three brothers, including Dr. Barth of 1424 Wilson avenue; and the Rev. Francis Barth of Escanaba, Mich., and two sisters.

Burial will be at Marquette, Mich.

DRAFT MACHINE HITTING ON ALL CYLINDERS TODAY

All of the local exemption boards and the three district appeal boards will work today. The local boards will devote most of the day to filling out census cards of registrants and will be assisted by 4,000 school teachers who have volunteered their services.

The three appeal boards will meet in joint session with all their workers this afternoon in the State Council of Defense rooms. Problems encountered in their work will be discussed and solutions sought.

Local board No. 1, 1534 First National bank building, will begin the physical examination of registrants this morning. Besides the 1,500 men placed in class 1, this board also has 1,500 men who, through failure to return the questionnaire, were automatically placed in class 1.

Chicago Instructor Wins Commission as Aviator

Rantoul, Ill., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Harry H. McDaniels of Chicago and Sergt. Golden Benefel of St. Joseph, Mo., have been commissioned as first lieutenants, it was announced at the Chanute aviation field today. McDaniels has been a civilian instructor in the experimental and repair shop.

Fall Down Basement Stairs Proves Fatal

James Skelley, 45 years old, 226 North Clark street, fell down the basement stairs at 7 East Illinois street yesterday afternoon, suffering a fracture of the skull, and died a few hours later.

Gregg Supremacy Again Proved

Mr. Eli Gans, a graduate of the Gregg Evening School, last week wrote over 60 words a minute for 15 minutes without a single error. He thereby won a brand new typewriter, which the Remington Typewriter Company offers to anyone who can equal this record. Only 12 people in the United States out of thousands who have tried have been able to do this during the past four years.

Several former Gregg graduates have held the World's Typewriter Championship, and the majority of professional typewriter operators in this country received their initial instruction from "Rational Typewriting," the method originated in Gregg School.

In every detail of shorthand training the Gregg course is unsurpassed—it is service that satisfies, that gets results. Learn more about the premier shorthand school of Chicago by sending for our Catalogue today. Start now.

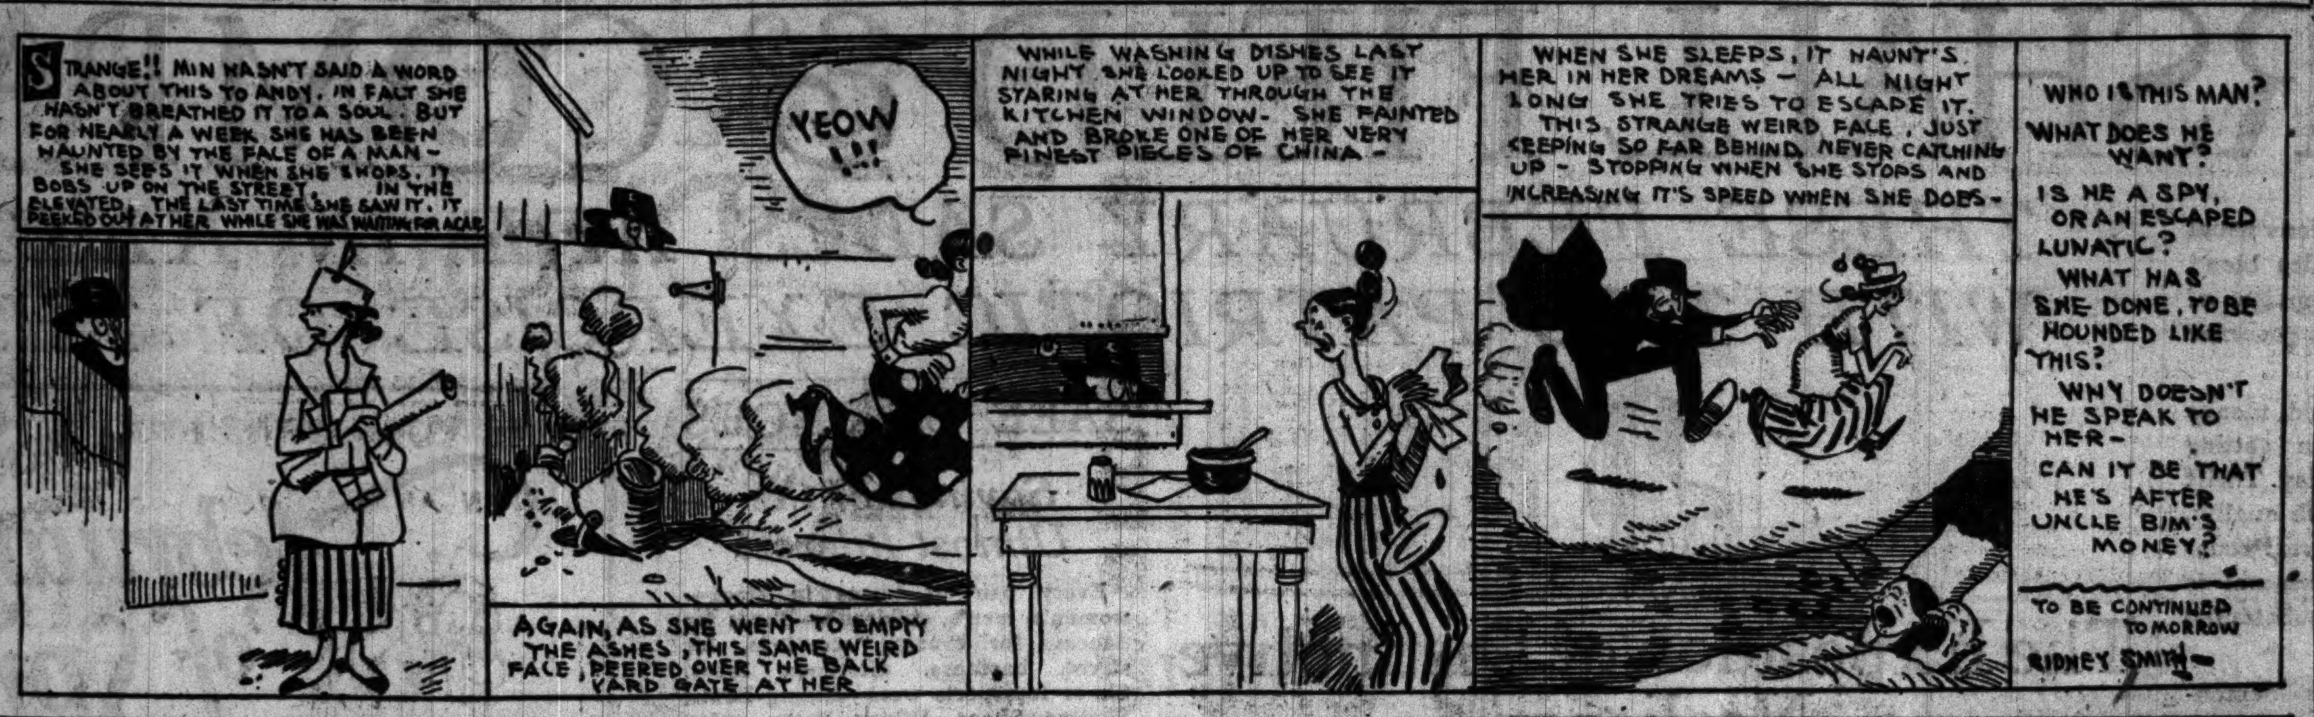
THE GUMPS—A MYSTERY!



STRANGE!! MIN HASN'T SAID A WORD ABOUT THIS TO ANDY. IN FACT SHE HASN'T BREATHED IT TO A SOUL. BUT FOR NEARLY A WEEK SHE HAS BEEN HAUNTED BY THE FACE OF A MAN - SHE SEES IT WHEN SHE SHOPS. IT BOBS UP ON THE STREET. IN THE ELEVATED. THE LAST TIME SHE SAW IT, IT PEEKED OUT AT HER WHILE SHE WAS WAITING FOR A CAR
YEOW !!!
AGAIN, AS SHE WENT TO EMPTY THE ASHES, THIS SAME WEIRD FACE, PEERED OVER THE BACK YARD GATE AT HER
WHILE WASHING DISHES LAST NIGHT SHE LOOKED UP TO SEE IT STARING AT HER THROUGH THE KITCHEN WINDOW - SHE FAINTED AND BROKE ONE OF HER VERY FINEST PIECES OF CHINA -
WHEN SHE SLEEPS, IT HAUNT'S HER IN HER DREAMS - ALL NIGHT LONG SHE TRIES TO ESCAPE IT. THIS STRANGE WEIRD FACE, JUST KEEPING SO FAR BEHIND, NEVER CATCHING UP - STOPPING WHEN SHE STOPS AND INCREASING IT'S SPEED WHEN SHE DOES -
WHO IS THIS MAN? WHAT DOES HE WANT? IS HE A SPY, OR AN ESCAPED LUNATIC? WHAT HAS SHE DONE, TO BE HOUNDED LIKE THIS? WHY DOESN'T HE SPEAK TO HER - CAN IT BE THAT HE'S AFTER UNCLE BIM'S MONEY?

BY JOE DAVIS.

Coming within one inning of tying the world's competitive record, Augie Kieckhefer, who will meet Champion De Oro for the world's three cushion title this week, gave his stock a big boost by setting a new low game mark of 37 innings in the American Billiard Players' Ambulance fund tournament at the Inter Ocean building last night. Opposing Joe Capron, a player of great defensive ability, Augie romped home a winner, 50 to 28, the game lasting a little over an hour.

Opening with a run of eight, Kieckhefer had the crowd on edge, and a four in the sixth inning brought his total to fourteen. Capron replied with a fine six in the eighth session and at the tenth inning Augie led, 14 to 11.

Two Runs of Five.

While Capron slowed up, his opponent got home two runs of five in his next ten trials, so that at twenty innings he had twenty-nine points and a chance to tie the world's low mark for tournament play. This is held jointly by Charles McCourt of Cleveland, Hubbell of Chicago, and the late Frank Day of St. Louis.

Kieckhefer by small counts brought his total up to forty at the thirtieth inning. He was shooting finely and has three whisker misses between the twenty-first and twenty-fourth innings. Joe Capron was playing his normal game and Augie had to shoot for every point he made.

Another Five in Thirty-third.

Kieckhefer drew a zero in the thirty-first inning, and after getting one in the next inning was kissed off. His chances had dimmed, but he picked off five points in the thirty-third inning, the second being a fine backup shot. He still had two innings left to beat the world's mark. He drew a cipher, then counted a single on a cushion first shot, but blew his next attempt and his chance for a record was gone. He scored a point in the thirty-sixth and went out in his next inning with a five cushion shot, followed by a four cushion bank.

Score:

Maupome Cops Close One.

Pierre Maupome, the tabasco player of the field, had to stage a brilliant finish in order to nip Clarence Jackson of Detroit at the wire, the score being 50 to 49 in 56 innings. Clarence went merrily on his way from the start and led, 20 to 9, at the twentieth inning. Ten innings later he had 28 points and led by 11.

The Clevelander then brought out his heavy artillery and the result was a great finish. Maupome cut down the lead against him, but Jackson showed plenty of nerve. With "Maup" coming down the stretch like a wild man, Jackson ran three, and needed only one point. Maupome went over the line with three fast shots. He counted 11 points in six innings to do the trick.

Heatless Monday Events at Two Park Ponds Today

In accordance with an order issued by the bureau of parks, playgrounds, and beaches, to hold either skating races or carnivals on heatless Mondays, directors of two playgrounds will conduct interesting events today.

A skating tourney will be held at Waters' playground in which all members of playgrounds in the Ravenswood district are invited to compete. Parks to be represented are Belding, Henry, Audubon, Budlong, Field Branch, McPherson, Swift, and Waters.

At Corkery playground a masque carnival will be held. Prizes will be donated by the Crawford and Twenty-sixth Street Business Men's clubs.

HOT STOVE LEAGUE

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

TWO or three Cubs who fail to show 100 proof in their trials for big league honors this spring are likely to find themselves playing with the Los Angeles team of the Pacific Coast league next summer. Some time ago the Cubs released Pattie Driscoll and Maurice Schick, infielder and outfielder, respectively, to the Angels, but a telegram from Owner Johnny Powers of that club states that both boys are about to be called for military service and wants to know if he can't get another infielder, an outfielder, and anything else the Cubs have for the discard.

Nothing is likely to be turned over to Powers until the Cubs get out to the coast for the spring training. After Manager Mitchell has had a week or so to size up his men he may turn over two or three to the Angels, providing they can be gotten out of the National league. At the present time it would be unsafe to mention any names.

There seems to be some smoke floating out of St. Louis to the effect that Fielder Jones will not be there to manage the Browns next summer, and where there is smoke there is fire. There is no doubt that the fans of the Mound City are opposed to the former famous leader of the White Sox, but Phil Ball, boss of the Browns, is the kind of a fellow who will not fire a man for that reason. He has written Jones that he must adopt a method of strict discipline this season, and, according to reports, Jones replied that his business in Oregon might prevent his returning to the Browns. Don't be surprised if a new leader is at the head of the team. From whispers heard around the circuit it may be Joe Tinker. Tinker is the two fisted kind of a leader that Phil Ball likes.

Jack Hendricks, new manager of the Cardinals, is slated to appear in Chicago tonight in the rôle of toastmaster at the dinner of the Chicago league teams at the Sherman house. All the semi-pros are to be there and Jack should feel at home, as he was one of them when he started on the road to fame.

Another exhibition game has practically been booked for the Cubs in California. The Sacramento club desired a combat on April 1, but the Cubs had already scheduled one at Fresno for that date. A wire from Fresno yesterday stated that April 2 would do just as well for the show there.

* *

According to a Pittsburgh scribe, Hugo Bezdek will adopt football methods of training his players this spring with the idea of getting them into such physical trim that they can circle the bases at top speed without becoming exhausted. That will be all right, but before a fellow has any reason for circling the bases at top speed he must hit the ball to some far corner of the lot.

WEEK OF DRILL, THEN RACE FOR SILVER SKATES

Skaters who will take part in the second annual two mile Silver Skates derby of THE TRIBUNE, to be held at Humboldt park next Sunday, will settle down to the last lap of training today. With the exception of the Northwest Sportsmen's club races, THE TRIBUNE event will be the last of importance on local ponds, the climax of the season.

Class A skaters considered contenders for the handsome prizes already are in condition and need only light work to keep them on edge. So, for the most part, entrants will confine their workouts to taking the turns, which will be sharp because of the small pond at Humboldt park.

In order to lay out a five lap track, instead of six, as was the original idea, the stretches will be lengthened. This will allow contestants to make fast time on the straightaways, but they are sure to get into trouble if they attempt to take the curves too fast.

After spending time to practice the safest way to negotiate the turns, skaters will stroke two or three miles to get more accustomed to the longer distance. They will need plenty of endurance to skate at least two heats of one mile before the final of two miles is decided.

The entry list already has exceeded that of last year, when 143 nominations were received. Although the list does not close until Thursday, the program will go to press tomorrow and entries not received in tomorrow's mail will not appear in the program.

City League Nine Cops Baseball Game on Ice

The City leaguers, a baseball team composed of prominent local semi-pro players, defeated the Northwest Sportsmen's club nine yesterday in a five inning game at Garfield park, 3 to 1. The game was played on ice and a regulation playing field was marked off. The only difference from the real article was that indoor-outdoor balls and bats were used. Score by innings:

City Leaguers ....0 3 0 0 *—3 6 1
Northwest ....0 0 0 0 0—1 5 1
Batteries—Green and Wade; Bryans and Baserak.

With Hughes making twenty-one strikeouts, De La Salle institute's indoor nine tied up the race in the Catholic High School league by taking a sharply played game from St. Patrick's Commercial academy, 8 to 4, at Central hall. The game was the last of the regular league schedule, but as it ties the winner and loser with seven victories and one defeat each the league has scheduled an extra championship battle of nine innings for next Sunday afternoon at Central hall.

Hughes did fine work for the winners. The rival flinger, McDonnell, was wild at times and helped De La Salle by his lapses of control. In the seventh inning Hughes pitched himself out of a bad hole when St. Patrick's had three on base and one out. The institute hurler fanned the next two batters, retiring the side with the three academy boys chafing for a chance to score. Score:

CENTRAL TURNERS TIE IN 11 ROUNDS

Central Turners battled the A. L. Marquettes to an 11 ining tie, 1 to 1, in an indoor game yesterday at Turner hall. Frank Halas of the Turnverein struck out twenty-eight men. Morrisey caught an excellent game and his hit sent H. Loewe in with the tying run in the ninth inning. Score:

HENNEPINS, 13; SHAWS, 4.

Hennepin Giants whaled the Shaw Taxis at St. Alphonsus gym, 13 to 4, in the first of their three game series advertised as for the indoor championship of the middle west. The teams finished one-two in the recently deceased Chicago league. Four runs in the third won for Hennepin. Shanley fanned eighteen chauffeurs and allowed four hits, while his side was combing Zuleg for thirteen smacks. Gill poled three doubles and a single for Hennepin. Score:

Exhaust Echoes

By SHEPPARD BUTLER

DAMON staged no more thrilling finish in his last minute rescue of Pythias (or was it the other way round?) than is on the cards for the Chicago Motor club's annual election, scheduled for tomorrow, but not to be held then if an insurgent faction of the organization can prevent it.

Since the club's civil war got into the Superior court last week, it's been a battle of affidavits. Three preliminary skirmishes have been fought thus far, but no testimony has been taken, "the papers," filed thick and fast by one side or the other, being the only ammunition.

As a result, the best Judge Denis J. Sullivan could do was to set the case for hearing at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning—the morning of the election—which doesn't allow much leeway if the voting is to be stopped.

The insurgents' suit was filed on Wednesday by a group of members headed by J. F. Davis, president of the Chicago Automobile Trade association. The action is directed against Charles M. Hayes, president of the motor club and the organization's board of directors, charges conspiracy in the manipulating of a ticket named by the regular nominating committee, and asks for an injunction to prevent the holding of the election.

The fight centers around the withdrawal of John P. Garner, city commissioner of public service, as the "regular" candidate for president, and the abrupt secession of the rest of the Garner ticket to an "independent" slate headed by Hayes.

This coup d'état, it is charged, was engineered by the Hayes faction through the exertion of some mysterious influence on Mr. Garner at the city hall, followed by proceedings in which the club bylaws and a part of the nominating committee were assumed to be nonexistent.

The committee as a whole, it is said, did not learn what had been done until the last day for making nominations, and then only by chance. This was really too late to do anything, the insurgents claim, though there was a hurried scramble to get under the wire with another ticket, headed by J. G. Tennant, and to organize the forces which have carried the fight into the courts.

MAROONS DROP PREP TOURNEYS AS THRIFT MOVE

University of Chicago basketball, track, and tennis interscholastics have been canceled for the year. Director of Athletics A. A. Stagg at the Midway made the announcement yesterday.

"It is with great regret," Stagg said, "that we announce this change in our plans. The university believes strongly in the continuance of athletics in our colleges and schools for the sake of physical preparation for war as well as for the preservation of the normalities of life. We feel, however, that the extensive traveling involved by the high school men from many distant points, in coming to Chicago to compete in these events in the times of war conservation would be an unjustifiable extravagance and not in harmony with the efforts which are now being made throughout the country to curtail unnecessary expenditures."

The university did not consider the action of other universities in making its decision, for the Chicago track meet is so much greater than any other tournament in the country that it has become a national institution in prep circles.

Irish Confetti Battle Follows Basket Games

A running fight on the street in which players of Marcy center five were struck by bricks followed the double victory of Marcy over University settlement fives in Intersettlement league games at the University gym Saturday night. Marcy heavies won, 72 to 7, but the lightweight game developed into a nip and tuck battle which went to Marcy, 18 to 17.

HARRY L. WAIDNER AGAIN WILL DIRECT WESTERN NET BODY

President L. Harry Waidner of the Western Lawn Tennis association will be renominated for the office at the annual meeting and election Feb. 12 at the Hotel Sherman. The delegate of the Western Tennis association to the meeting of the National also will be elected and instructed.

Waidner, who lives in Winnetka, is one of the best known men of the Chicago district and last year headed the fight in the national meeting at New York against the rigid amateur rule which would have barred McLoughlin, Johnston, Strachan, Alexander, and Wright from competition. He probably will be named delegate of the west to this year's national session in New York Feb. 15 and 16.

The nominating committee, headed by Samuel Hardy, made its complete recommendations for officers yesterday. The slate, headed by Waidner and including Secretary-Treasurer J. C. Stewart of the Sherwood club of Chicago, also up for reëlection, follows:

President—L. H. Waidner, Winnetka Tennis club, Winnetka.

Vice president—R. L. Van Arsdale, South Side Tennis club, Chicago.

Second vice president—F. H. Floyd, Detroit Tennis club.

Secretary-treasurer—J. C. Stewart, Sherwood Tennis club, Chicago.

Members of executive committee—A. von Reppert, St. Louis Triple A. club; Dr. N. A. Goddard, Wisconsin Tennis association, Milwaukee; J. H. Felt, Rockhill club, Kansas City, Mo.; Harry S. Knox, South Side Tennis club, Chicago; H. L. Beyers, Grinnell Country club, Grinnell, Ia.; Walter T. Hayes, Chicago Tennis club.

MISS "TRIBUNE"

Tennis Players in Ambulance Section Will Receive Favorite Sporting Page.

THE United States army ambulance force of tennis players, recruited and outfitted by the National Lawn Tennis association, will receive THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE at its Allentown camp, and wherever else the scrapping net men go. The reason is: Fifty tennis players from Chicago in the two net sections, all of them TRIBUNE sporting page fans, made vigorous lamentations when they found copies scarcer than coal at Allentown.

L. W. Stratton of the Western Electric tennis team wrote: "One thing we do miss down here is getting the sporting page of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE." President C. B. Pierce of the Chicago Tennis association happened to see the letter yesterday.

So promptly tomorrow morning a subscription to THE TRIBUNE will start for the ambulance volunteers, all of whom are incorporated for the time in one large section, No. 603, at the Allentown camp.

Evanston High to Play Strong Kalamazoo Five

Coach Bixby of Evanston High school team has accepted a challenge from Kalamazoo High school basketball team for a game to be played Saturday on the Evanston Y. M. C. A. floor. Kalamazoo has defeated all leading teams in the race for the championship of Michigan, winning ten games and losing one. Their one defeat was by the Camp Custer officers' team, which contains many former college stars.

T. R. MAY SERVE AS PALLBEARER FOR "JOHN L."

Roosevelt, Old Friend of Fighter, Expected at the Last Rites.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 3.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt was notified tonight that a place had been reserved for him on the list of pallbearers at the funeral here Wednesday of his old friend, John L. Sullivan. Relatives of the former heavyweight champion said a reply was expected from Col. Roosevelt tomorrow.

While plans for the funeral were being made the body was brought from the Sullivan farm in Abington to the home of his sister, Mrs. Annie E. Lennin, in the Roxbury district. A small army of friends passed through the parlor of the Lennin home to gaze for the last time on the features of the old fighter.

Quit Booze Inauguration Day.

Among the visitors was Clarence W. Rowley, former attorney for Sullivan, and his confidant for many years. Rowley told of John L.'s friendship for Col. Roosevelt, and said Sullivan took the pledge of temperance on the day Roosevelt was inaugurated president.

The first man to hear the good news was Col. Cody (Buffalo Bill). Col. Cody's show was in Lawrence at the time and Sullivan went there to see him. As they met John L. exclaimed, "I've cut out the booze! I stopped drinking the day Teddy was inaugurated president."

Sport Celebrities at Funeral.

Scores of men of note in the sporting world telegraphed today they were on their way to Boston to attend the funeral. There will be eight pall bearers and eight honorary bearers. The list as arranged thus far includes Mayor James M. Curley, Capt. James P. Sullivan of the Boston police department, City Councilor Daniel J. McDonald, Clarence W. Rowley, "Yank" Sullivan, a boxer of Syracuse; William Hogarty, Sullivan's barber for many years, and Edward Curran, a boyhood friend.

Zbyszko Meets Freiberg in Mat Feature Tonight

A comparison of the relative merits of Joe Stecher and Wladek Zbyszko will be afforded tonight, when the latter tackles John Freiberg in a wrestling match at the Chicago theater. Last week Stecher had to go over an hour to pin Freiberg. Zbyszko promises to flop John twice in half that time. The remainder of the local card will pit Ben Reuben against Pergantis, a Gary Greek, and Steve Savage against Pat Conley.

THESE FEBRUARY SALES ARE IN KEEPING WITH THE PATRIOTIC EXERCISE OF THRIFT

THE generous reductions usual in our February Sales blend perfectly with the campaign of thrift inaugurated by the governor of this State.

Thrift, properly applied, means prudence in buying—in getting the utmost value for outlay. Thrift inherently is welded with quality, for only in quality lies real economy. Buying the ephemeral is extravagance; the substantial alone endures.

Our February Sales demonstrate that in this Store you get the best qualities procurable for the prices paid.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS "A single strand in the cables which uphold the great Brooklyn Bridge is not very strong, but thousands of these strands bound together uphold one of the great thoroughfares of the world."

The 25c you spend whenever you can spare it for a War Savings Stamp may seem little enough, but if everyone helps it will materially hasten the victorious ending of the war.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS ISSUED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

War Savings Stamps are for sale in every section of this Store.

"Smileage Books"

"THE BOY FROM HOME takes out his book from home—the book bears upon it the name of the giver—and smiles as he tears out the coupons. As on a railway he would tear out miles, so he tears out smiles. He exchanges as many smile coupons at the camp box office as the attraction demands—twenty-five cents is the top limit—and is happy for two and a half hours, despite cold, lonesomeness, hard work, war."

HERE'S ONE WAY you can cheer the men fighting for us all. "Smileage Books" are for sale at the Information Bureau, Third Floor. $1 or $5. The government has built theaters in all the national army cantonments and put up chautauqua tents in all the national guard encampments. The theatrical and lyceum heads of the country are providing a variety of good entertainment at cost. The "Smileage Book" supplies the soldier with admittance coupons.

RARE CHINESE ANTIQUES Porcelains and Enamels—the classical handiwork of the Sung, Ming and Chien Lung Dynasties—are now on exhibition in the Oriental Room, Second Floor. These pieces have just arrived and add interest to the Sale of Antiques now in progress.

The Exposition of Distinctive Negligees

Commencing Tuesday morning, the Negligee Section presents a special Exposition of the most artistic new Negligees the designers have created. Fitting backgrounds have been arranged—rose-colored silken cords define three little boudoir settings, where delicate ivory enameled dressing tables, handsome rugs and rich pillows harmonize with the beauty of the Negligees displayed.

In addition, secluded fitting rooms in gray enamel have been arranged, beautifully apointed, that are worth a woman's viewing.

A boudoir adjacent to the French Lingerie Room is hung with rose draperies, and rare old embroidered stuffs are used for decoration.

Pictures Created Especially for This Display

Made entirely of fabrics—laces, velvets, silks and metal tissues, supplemented with pearls and beads. The subjects are ladies of the Marquise de Pompadour's time, as well as of the present, and are very decorative, Kay Nielsen and poster effects being cleverly simulated.

The Negligees Are Indeed Lovely

A Negligee to take on journeys is all of black satin, Chinese coated and trousered, with a turned-up hem forming little pockets.

Lovely soft green crepe Georgette makes the plaited skirt of an exquisitely feminine robe with over-bodice of gray crepe, its motifs embroidered in green wools.

A taffeta Negligee has a knitting bag cleverly attached to make a bouffant silhouette.

Orchid-tinted satin makes the cowl collar on a turquoise blue satin Negligee, girdled with the two colors united in a heavy silken cord.

Turkish in its pink satin bloomers, Spanish in its low-placed Bayadere ribbon girdle, another novel Negligee takes panels of black chiffon for additional contrast.

There are many others and a

The Sale of Oriental Rugs

THROUGHOUT the Orient today, as for countless centuries in the past, the people as a class are weavers. Weaving with them is a passion, a labor of love and veneration, in which the element of time is disregarded. Hence one Oriental Rug may represent years of craftsmanship.

Oriental Rugs essentially are a hand product. They are built up, knot by knot, by human labor—slowly, patiently, laboriously, skilfully—the completed fabric to be cherished for generations.

Into the lines and colors of these Rugs are woven the joys and sorrows, successes and failures, of the weavers—the religion, the aspirations, these mystic races.

No similar article in the history of modern merchandising has become so universally popular. Because of their wearing quality, their softness and harmonious colorings these Rugs hold lasting esteem, and are treasured as might be a fine painting or other prized work of art.

Important Reductions Now

The prices on a large portion of our present stock have been reduced radically.

In this Sale can be found splendid Rugs for home or office—Rugs that lend charm to the fireside or give cheer to the surroundings of business.

In spite of trying conditions engendered by war our Rug Section carries—as always—what we believe is the finest collection of Rugs in the West.

Our representatives are continuously in the Orient, offering constructive western ideas to eastern genius. At many choice points we control the looms and output. Most pieces are imported direct, eliminating the middleman.

February Sale of Spring Silks

THE very name of Silk visions up stately ladies of long ago, resplendent in brocades, their silvered hair shining above their gleaming shoulders. It is a fabric forever linked with romance and femininity. Its lustrous surface speaks of soft moonlight and the softer light that dwells in women's eyes and challenges its beauty with a greater glory.

It tells of glorious days and of the ceremonies of old courts—of knights in bepowdered wigs and ladies coquetting from behind their sweeping fans.

MORE—it tells of modern times, of what was worn on the occasions that have meant most to the modern woman. Always it will be the fabric women will most desire—will look loveliest in. And in turn it becomes the most patriotic fabric a woman can buy now—it does not lend itself to the comfort of the soldiers, it is not essential in munitions making.

It will be the fabric of Spring!

SILK promises to be the patriotic fabric of Spring—it is not urgently needed in government contracts and it does not greatly assist in the comfort of our soldiers. So much of originality and beauty has been expressed in these Sale Silks that every woman will be interested in the displays—to see on what fashion has set her seal of approval. Their names are legion, with additional emphasis placed on such weaves as foulard, Shantungs, tussahs and pongee.

HENEY IN CITY TO PRESS FIGHT UPON PACKERS

First Act Is to Ask When the Grand Jury Will Meet.

Francis J. Heney, conducting the investigation into the packing house industries, arrived in Chicago yesterday afternoon direct from Washington. Also came William C. Fitts, assistant attorney general, first aid to Thomas W. Gregory, attorney general of the United States.

One of the first acts of Mr. Heney, it was revealed last night, was to get in touch with Charles F. Clyne, United States district attorney, and ask him how soon he would have a federal grand jury in session. He was told that one would be convened Wednesday.

Legal Talent Here.

Judge S. R. Rush of Omaha and Judge Slack of Indianapolis arrived in Chicago Saturday. Others already here, prepared to assist in any work required, are Oliver Pagan, federal indictment expert, of Washington; Frank C. Nebeker of Salt Lake City and Claude Porter of Des Moines, special district attorneys, and Joseph Fleming, assistant to Mr. Clyne.

With this array of federal talent it was predicted last night that Mr. Heney will be able to secure the data he requires for his investigation into the multitudinous ramifications of the packing industries.

First of all Mr. Heney interested himself in the locked and sealed vaults of Henry Veeder, attorney for Swift & Co., and M. W. Borders, attorney for Morris & Co. and Wilson & Co. These vaults were sealed by Hugh J. McIsaac, federal trade commission examiner.

Holds Veeder Liable.

Mr. Veeder, Mr. Heney says, is making an effort to block the work of the trade commission, which has legal power to seize and investigate documents without writ or warrant, and has laid himself liable under the federal law. Mr. Heney quoted from the law last night and said:

"The penalty is not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000 fine or imprisonment of not more than three years. Veeder has, I believe, laid himself open to punishment for violation of the law by his refusal to let us see documents.

"As long ago as the investigation of the packing house business in 1911 and 1912 it was shown that Mr. Veeder was a sort of 'clearing house' for the packing interests. Recent correspondence from the files of Armour, Swift, Morris, and Wilson show that he is still this 'clearing house' to a considerable extent.

Agent Rather than Lawyer.

"He acts as agent rather than attorney in a very large number of matters, we are convinced, and consequently we want to examine his files and correspondence which relate to the subject matter under investigation. At first he permitted Mr. McIsaac to look into some of his files. It was quickly and clearly shown that they refer to the subject under investigation.

"Then he suddenly balked and refused to let Mr. McIsaac go further. It was then that the vaults were sealed. He has been permitted each day to take out such papers as he needed in his business, each paper being inspected and the seals refixed.

"I have come here to help enforce the legal rights of the trade commission. What I do, what action is taken, depends upon whether we meet further resistance."

No Hearing Here.

There will be no hearing of the federal trade commission in Chicago at this time. That much was made clear last night. The documents will be seized and taken to Washington for examination unless the examiners satisfy themselves with copies or photographs.

The commission is investigating the "ownership, manufacturing, storage, products, and byproducts" of the packers to find evidence of "manipulations, contracts, trusts, combinations, conspiracies, or restraints of trade."

Two-Man Sugar Trust Runs Afoul the Police

Orlando Mendidini bumped into Patrolman Schutz last night at Orleans and West Ohio streets and the sack which he was carrying on his back fell to the ground. It contained 100 pounds of sugar. Mr. Schutz called the patrol and took Mendidini and the sugar into custody. Mendidini said a watchman for a warehouse at Erie and Kingsbury streets was in the habit of giving him a sack of sugar every night. They shipped them to a dealer in Wisconsin, Mendidini said. The police were unable to find the watchman last night. Mendidini had $230, which he said he had garnered from 5 years in sugar.

Woman's Threats Lead to Arrests in Murder Case

Two men are held by the West Chicago avenue police in connection with their investigation of the murder of John Ferro, 28 years old, an Italian laborer, who was shot three times by an unidentified assailant, who stepped from an alley at West Ohio and Noble streets Saturday morning.

The suspected men are Peter Falo of 416 North Racine avenue and Samuel De Blasio. Falo is the brother-in-law of the victim and was arrested as the result of information furnished the police.

Ferro's widow, Anna, said her sister has several times threatened her life.

WANTED—A STOCKING

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

OUR old pal, the needy youth who pretends that he is married in order to defraud his rich uncle, is with us again, this time in "Mary's Ankle," at the Princess.

There is usually one or two of him somewhere about in the theaters. Penniless, scheming, troubled, lying, explaining, flitting from comic dismay to comic happiness and back again, he is a staple hero of farce, and, though frequent, is welcome. At least he was so last evening in the dependable esteem of those who sit in judgment on the drama of a Sunday night.

Not so much for himself, perhaps, as for his associates is he popular in the present boisterous didoes. Concerned in his enlivening stratagems is a company of vociferous personalities, assigned to the performance of the tricks in which they have become most proficient.

Walter Jones, for instance, is admirably the brusque, humorous, and breezy uncle from Fargo who has been deceived by his nephew, James Spottswood. This young doctor and his two friends have been reduced to the indigence of having to pawn the parrot. A counterfeit wedding invitation has been sent to Mr. Jones in the hope that he will come across with pawnable presents. What fun do we have when the gifts arrive! They consist of lady's underclothing, and we always are happy when comedians walk down to the footlights and exhibit with prodigious gestures the silken secrets of the bed chamber.

Then there is Miss Zelda Sears, known for skill in subtle burlesque of middle aged females of the die-away type. She is a hypochondriac landlady whose imaginary ailments extend to her pet parrot. And Leo Donnelley, than whom no actor is better at impersonating brash young fellows, with much gab and a great front. You will recall him as the salesless salesman in "Potash and Perlmutter." Mr. Donnelley seemed to be the pet last night, though Miss Mae Melville, from the varieties, banged away at the rôle of the landlady's candid daughter, certainly the freshest and, to me, the funniest endeavor of the evening.

Just at the well known juncture when the rich uncle is about to visit his poor nephew to welcome the mythical bride into the family, Miss Alma Belwin is carried into the room with a sprained foot. So it is she who acts as the counterfeit wife. Miss Belwin is fair of face; in her voice there is much music and she acts well. But after a scrutiny of the wounded member last night I think that we were all glad that it was "Mary's Ankle," not "Mary's Ankles." One was enough.

It is generally known, except by showmen, that the human toe, when bare, is nothing much to look upon. Invaluable as an aid to locomotion, it is of no consequence as ornament. Miss Belwin's foot, I surmise, is beautiful, so far as such things may be beautiful, but it is handicapped on the ankle bone by a large pink blotch, painted there to represent an abrasion. Remaining visible through most of the play, it gives the performance the aspect of a clinic. Another stocking is suggested, leaving the imaginative audience to articulate for itself more poetic joints and tendons. As a rule it is indelicate to write in aspersion on so personal a topic, but in a play named "Mary's Ankle" surely an impression may be ventured as to the efficacy as drama of Mary's ankle.

At the end of "Mary's Ankle" they all go to Bermuda on the Bermudian, with the proper persons engaged to be married, and the curtain falls on an illusive panorama of the New York sky line from the sea. The time of the play is the present, the place New York, A. H. Woods the producer, and Miss May Tully, a star in vaudeville, the author.

'DYNAMITE GIRL' REVEALS MORE DETAILS OF LIFE

Says Elusive Sweetheart Introduced Her to Anarchist.

Linda Giose, the "dynamite girl," sitting in her cell in the Waukegan jail last night, opened her heart and told a representative of THE TRIUBNE many facts about herself probably not even known by the federal operatives who have been investigating her case. "Giose," she said her name is, not "Jose," as she has been known since her arrest.

She told the name of her mysterious sweetheart, hunted by a hundred federal operatives and still uncaught. She said it is not "Carl," the only name by which he is known to government forces, but Albert Carlo Ludi. She said that her husband, married twenty-two months ago, is Emanuel Giose, and she referred to him as "Gugu"—a love name, she explained.

"I called him that before we were married," she said.

Admits Sweetheart's Complicity.

Albert Carlo Ludi, it was, she said, who introduced her to the "man" who gave her the dynamite, handed to her in Youngstown, O. She admitted that she "knew slightly" John Scusseli, arrested in Youngstown as this man.

It was this arrest which led to two raids on alleged anarchist headquarters in Chicago. Scusseli, federal officials found, had received a telegram from Chicago. It was signed by one Alphonse, 722 Blue Island avenue, Chicago. Freely translated from the Italian, it read: "Factories closed. Come to Chicago for instructions."

A reply to this was wired, saying: "Am sending you help." The word "help," the federal operatives believe, was a code for dynamite. This reply was addressed to S. Scilri, 455 East Ninety-first street, Chicago. Investigators were sent to the address armed with a search warrant issued by Lewis F. Mason, United States commissioner.

Valuable Papers Found.

Though Scilri was in the house he escaped. His effects were ransacked and many documents taken. Federal investigators, from these, labeled the house an "anarchist headquarters." When they were examined it was shown that Scilri and his associates had been collecting a large fund to be paid to Attorney Clarence Darrow of Chicago to be employed in the defense of the ten Milwaukee Italians recently convicted there.

These, convicted of the riots which led to thirteen deaths in Milwaukee in gun fights and explosions, were given terms ranging from eighteen to twenty-five years in a Wisconsin penitentiary. Investigators say that the Blue Island address bears every earmark of being a "sub-center" of anarchy.

The Giose girl said last night that she was married in New Britain, Conn., and that before and after her marriage she worked in the New Departure Ball Bearing company, New Britain. Here she met "Carl," the elusive, who got her into all her trouble. He was 22 and her husband 28, she said. The "Alphonse" of Chicago, whose last name she still refuses to reveal, she said last night is her cousin and not her uncle, as she told investigators.

Expects Brother Here.

When the house at the address was searched he was not there. She also said that she had wired her "favorite brother," who lives in a New Jersey village, and expected that he would come to Chicago to try to help her.

Scilri, it also became known last night, fell into the hands of government men by a ruse on their part. After his papers had been confiscated he telephoned to a federal official and made protest, saying they were taken without right.

"Alright, come down and get them," he was told.

"Where will I find them?" he asked.

"In the office of United States Commissioner Mason," he was told.

An hour later he walked briskly in and two or three United States deputy marshals stepped in right behind him and made an immediate arrest. Later, because the man denied connection with the whole affair when taken, and because other evidence connecting him up with the plot was lacking, it was decided that he could not be held legally and he was released.

Linda Giose, it is understood, with several others, was indicted by the federal grand jury last week.

DENIES REPORT VATICAN FUNDS ARE CRIPPLED

Papal Secretary Says Finances Are in Good Shape.

ROME, Feb. 2, via London, Feb. 3.—"It is all nonsense," were the words with which Mgr. Beretti, secretary to Cardinal Gaspari, papal secretary of state, described to the correspondent today the report the vatican's finances are in an alarming condition. It was Mgr. Beretti who recently gave out a statement in behalf of the pope that he would not aid Germany's expected peace drive.

"Of course, the vatican feels the financial effects of the war, like everybody else," Mgr. Beretti said, "but considering the abnormal state of affairs we can congratulate ourselves on being in good condition. As to our being in an alarming state you can set American's minds at rest on that. You can emphatically deny this report, which has no foundation whatever."

"I wish they could arrange some quicker means of communication between this country and America," he said today, showing a letter from America dated Dec. 26. "These long delays makes business so hard."

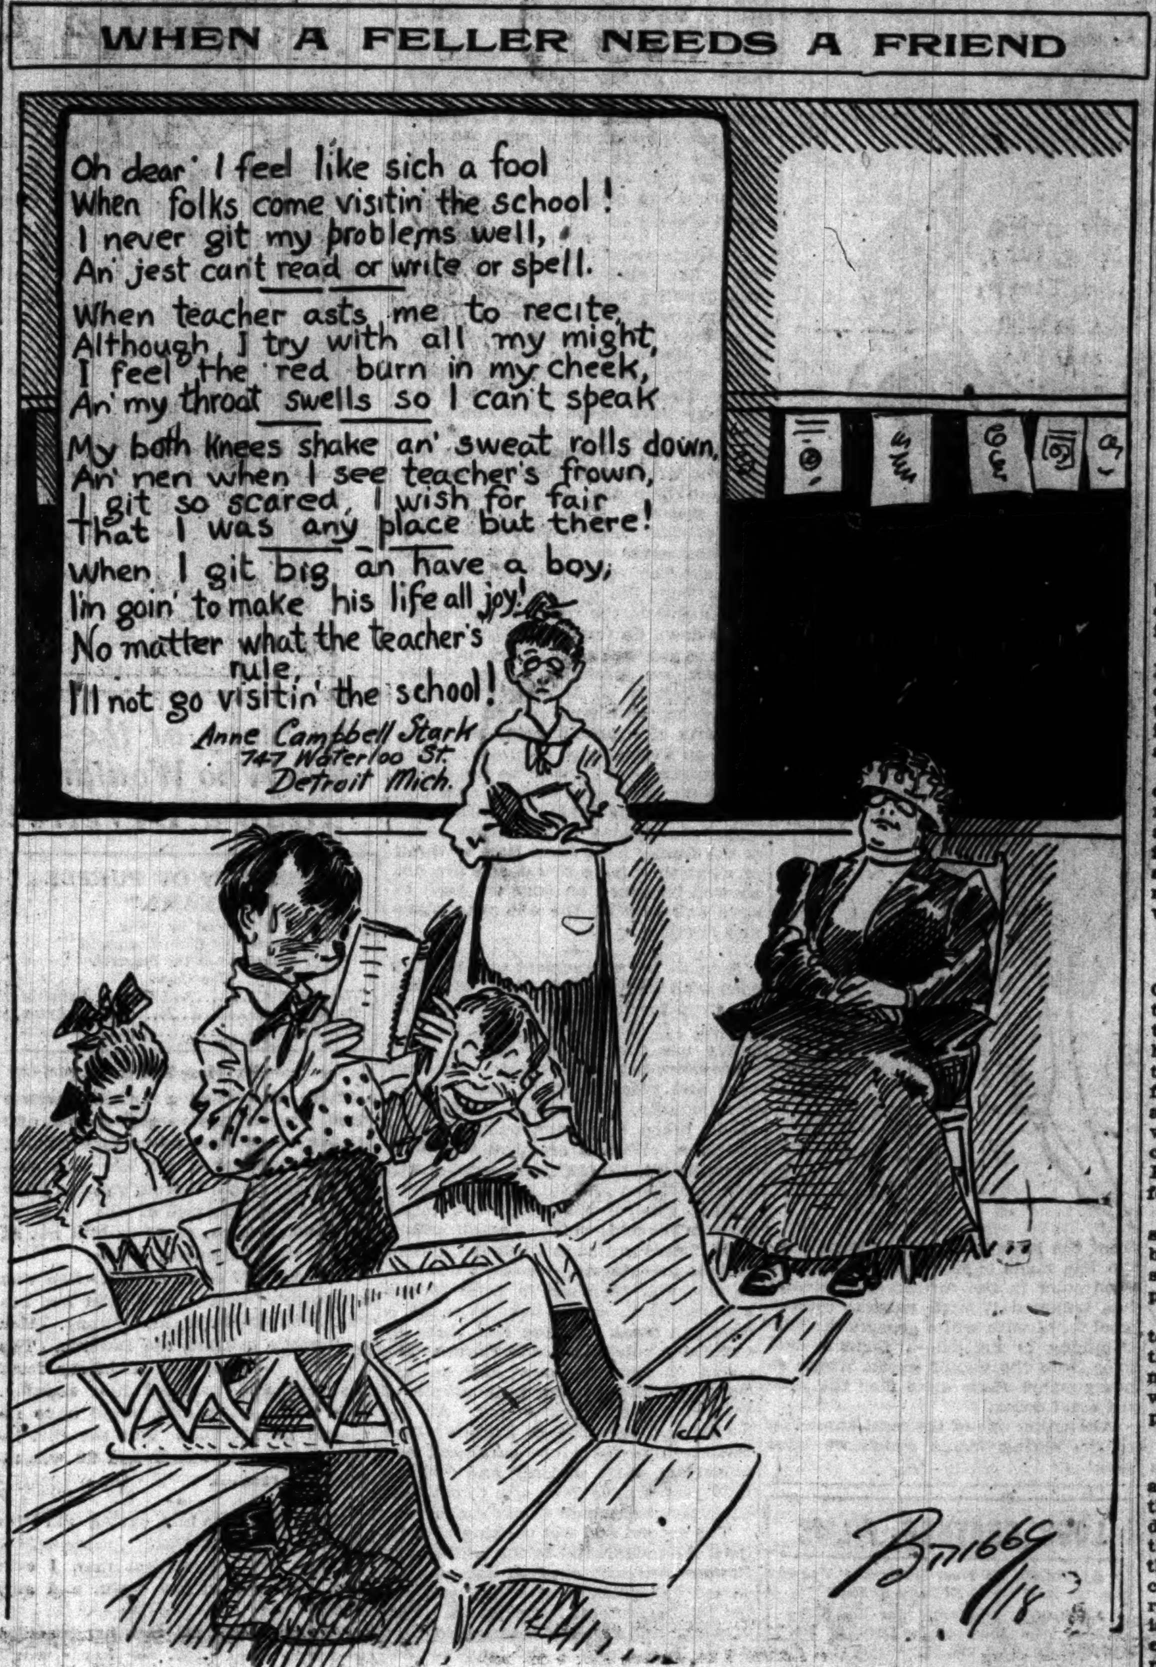
$25,000 STOCK STOLEN FROM CARS RECOVERED

Recovery of $25,000 worth of goods stolen from freight cars was announced by the South Chicago police last night, consequent upon the arrest of Fred Fewyer of 2121 East Ninety-third street, a switchman, on Saturday. Fewyer was employed by the Belt railroad. He confessed, and gave the names of nine accomplices.

Raids were made and these were arrested: Robert Wisen of 950 West Seventy-seventh street, James McClelland of 9348 Yates avenue, Alfred Jackson of 9315 Chappell avenue, Frank A. Harley of 2121 East Ninety-third street, J. R. Shomo of 7874 Coles avenue, Henry Rosenthal of 415 East Sixty-fourth place, Patrick Hamilton of 2016 East Ninety-third street, Robert Beville of 10634 Avenue O, and Charles Dunlap of 6023 South Green street.

Auto Injures Two Young Women; Driver Is Held

Miss Ruth Hanquist of 2208 East Seventy-sixth street and Miss Alice Matthews of 7957 South Shore avenue were seriously injured last night when they were hit by an automobile owned and driven by Emil Jackson of 2636 East Seventy-fourth street. The accident took place on Coles avenue, just south of Seventy-seventh street. Jackson was arrested.



WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

Oh dear! I feel like sich a fool
When folks come visitin' the school!
I never git my problems well,
An' jest can't read or write or spell.
When teacher asts me to recite,
Although I try with all my might,
I feel the red burn in my cheek,
An' my throat swells so I can't speak
My both knees shake an' sweat rolls down,
An' nen when I see teacher's frown,
I git so scared, I wish for fair
That I was any place but there!
When I git big an have a boy,
I'm goin' to make his life all joy!
No matter what the teacher's rule,
I'll not go visitin' the school!

TWO EFFORTS TO KILL GIRL PUT YOUTH IN CELL

Robert Wagner attempted last night to kill the girl who had rejected him, Miss Minnie Spoerl, at her home, 737 West Sixty-first place. He was good enough to telephone Miss Spoerl that he was on the way with a revolver. She told her brother-in-law, Michael Albert, and Michael went to the door when Wagner rang the bell.

"What do you want?" Albert asked.

"I'm going to kill Minnie because she won't marry me," replied Wagner.

"You're crazy from the heat," said Albert.

Wagner drew a revolver. Albert wrested it from him, gave him a kick, and told him to be on his way.

An hour later Wagner telephoned that he was on his way with another gun. Policemen from the Englewood station caught him. He was locked up.

Auto Robbers Get $24,000; Shoot Officer and Escape

Boston, Mass., Feb. 3.—Four automobile bandits broke into the general store of Timberlake & Small, in the Neponset district, today, robbed the safe of $2,000 in cash and $22,000 in securtities, and escaped after exchanging shots with Patrolman Thomas Gallagher, who received a slight wound on his head.

Nat C. Goodwin Is Ill; Condition Now Improving

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Nat C. Goodwin, playing in "Why Marry?" at the Astor theater, soon after the performance Saturday night had a severe chill, it was learned today. Dr. Wolk, the hotel physician, who attended him, said tonight his condition was improved.

DOCTOR'S DOG AIDS PATIENTS

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Dr. William J. Obse has a dog, a full-blooded Airedale, that keeps in touch with the work of the doctor and looks after the patients almost as faithfully as the doctor himself, and occasionally makes a call by himself. Recently a man who had been accidentally burned called at the doctor's office for daily treatments. The dog, seeing that the customer was a good patient, made friends and usually accompanied the patient home. When the calls became unnecessary and the patient failed to arrive at the usual time the dog called at the man's home and insisted on taking the patient to the doctor's office.

2 U. S. $50,000,000 Powder Plants Soon to Be Working

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—Production will begin not later than August in the government's big $50,000,000 smokeless powder plants to be constructed at Charleston, W. Va., and Nashville, Tenn., the war department predicted tonight, formally announcing for the first time that the plants had been contracted for. Each of the plants will employ from ten to fifteen thousand men.

Train Wrecks Hearse and Hurls Body Aside

A train on the Grand Trunk railroad struck a hearse containing the body of the mother of P. L. Kramer of 2707 Potwyne place, at noon yesterday, wrecking the hearse, injuring the driver, and throwing the body a distance from the track. The accident took place at Evergreen park, the funeral cortége being on the way to St. Mary's.

FLED FROM HOME, BUT NOT FROM DISH WASHING

Six months of buffeting away from home has convinced Joe Koscelhak, 17 years old, that Rib Lake, Wis., is not such a bad place after all. He left the parental roof because his mother made him help wash the dishes.

The boy was picked up by Detectives Zink and O'Hare as an alien enemy suspect. Money to pay his railroad transportation home is expected today.

"I've got five brothers and three sisters, all younger than me," Joe said. "Mother used to make me help her with the dishes and I ran away to Minneapolis. The only thing I could get to do was washing dishes at Fort Snelling. I washed dishes all the way from Minneapolis to Chicago.

"If they need a dishwasher at the National hotel at Rib Lake, I'll take the job.

"We've got a moving picture show house at Rib Lake and an opera hall. I guess they'll be able to hold me the rest of my life."

B'nai B'rith Will Give Minstrel for Army Fund

A minstrel for the benefit of sailors and soldiers will be given Sunday evening, Feb. 24, by the members of Ramah lodge, B'nai B'rith, at the Hotel La Salle. The play is written and will be staged by Dave Wolff. Dancing will follow the show. Among those who will participate are the Misses Bernice Haas, Elsa Meyerson, Sara Brin, Jeannette Hoffman, Frances Ludmer, Ada Goldberg, and Harry Boyle, Less Weisskopf, Edward Levy, Bobby Eisendrath, Gus Bing, Abe Balaban, and Sam Klawans.

PLEADS FOR THE GIRLS SOLDIERS LEAVE BEHIND

Domestic Court Report Shows 435 War Babies Listed Here.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The problem of what to do with war babies is now to be added to the other difficulties with which Chicago is dealing.

The annual report of Mrs. Julia L. McQuire, social secretary of the Court of Domestic Relations, puts the question not only squarely up to the municipal authorities but to the national administration as well.

Mrs. McQuire named the condition of the "girl the soldier left behind" as most serious because no provision is as yet made to compel the soldier to face the consequences. She advocated a change in the law or a special commission to deal with the situation. It will not admit of delay, she said.

435 Cases Listed.

How many war babies there are in Chicago Mrs. McQuire was unwilling to estimate, but she listed in her report the number of cases coming under her department at 435. How many of these children had soldier or sailor fathers she would not say, but that an alarming proportion of the number were such she admitted. She gave credit to the efforts of the Juvenile Protective association and other reform agencies in protecting many girls.

"I know of one instance where a soldier is the father of two babies, one born and the other soon to be born," she said. In her report she said in part:

"Of the many war victims that came to the social service department of the Court of Domestic Relations the most pitiable is the girl left without a wedding ring and with a baby to support.

No Solution Offered.

"So far as I know, the government, although it has done much to keep the morals of the army and navy sound despite the disturbances caused by the war, has done nothing to solve this war problem. The social agencies can do no more than give temporary relief to the prospective mother. This is not enough. The welfare of the child is of more importance than the mother, who is usually able to care for herself. If we are to save these 'war babies' from dependency some definite plan should be made immediately for their protection and support.

"The government has placed the men responsible for this unprecedented social complication beyond the reach of state laws and beyond the pleadings of the girls. Are soldiers' and sailors' children to become public charges, always a burden to society, or will the government expand its plan of conservation so that it will conserve the lives of the babies that are, in a way, its wards?

Asks U. S. Provision.

"The patriotic and humane thing is to save the babies of the men who are helping to defend our country, to provide by federal enactment, if that is possible, for their support and education in those cases where parentage can be established. The illegitimate child should not be ignored when the government makes its allotment for the support of soldiers' and sailors' children. The sooner we face it and settle it the less will it cost society.

"In dealing with the unmarried mothers the social service department gives first consideration to the child. The law compels the father to pay $550 towards the support of the illegitimate child, but we have no guaranty that the money will be spent solely on the child. In a case that came before the court recently we found that a young mother had spent the first allotment of $50 on finery for herself, and it is quite possible her baby suffered in consequence.

Cases of Child Brides.

"Child brides as well as war brides are unfortunates. Drastic action should be taken to have the law prohibiting the issuance of marriage licenses to minors enforced.

"Not long ago a 13 year old bride was brought into the Court of Domestic Relations. She wanted to have her husband arrested for nonsupport. Though unaccompanied to the license bureau by her mother or guardian, she was able to get a minister to marry her to a man twice her age. The man was sent to the house of correction for a long term and a heavy fine imposed, but this did not right the wrong inflicted upon the child."

The statistics of the report include: Number complaints made, 12,895; nonsupport wife or child, 3,687; contributing to dependency, 137; to delinquency, 319; bastardy, 435; extradition asked, 184; divorced women asking support for children, 138.

Oak Park Church Raises $16,000 Fund at Dedication

Nearly $16,000 was subscribed yesterday at the dedication of the Washington Boulevard Methodist Episcopal church, Washington and Austin boulevards, Oak Park.

Bishop Thomas Nicholson preached the morning sermon, and the Rev. Frank D. Sheets, district superintendent, preached the evening sermon. Both speakers urged observance of thrift week and commended the national movement in favor of saving. The Rev. John Thompson made the appeal for the subscriptions, and the Rev. Aubrey S. Moore, the pastor, was in general charge.

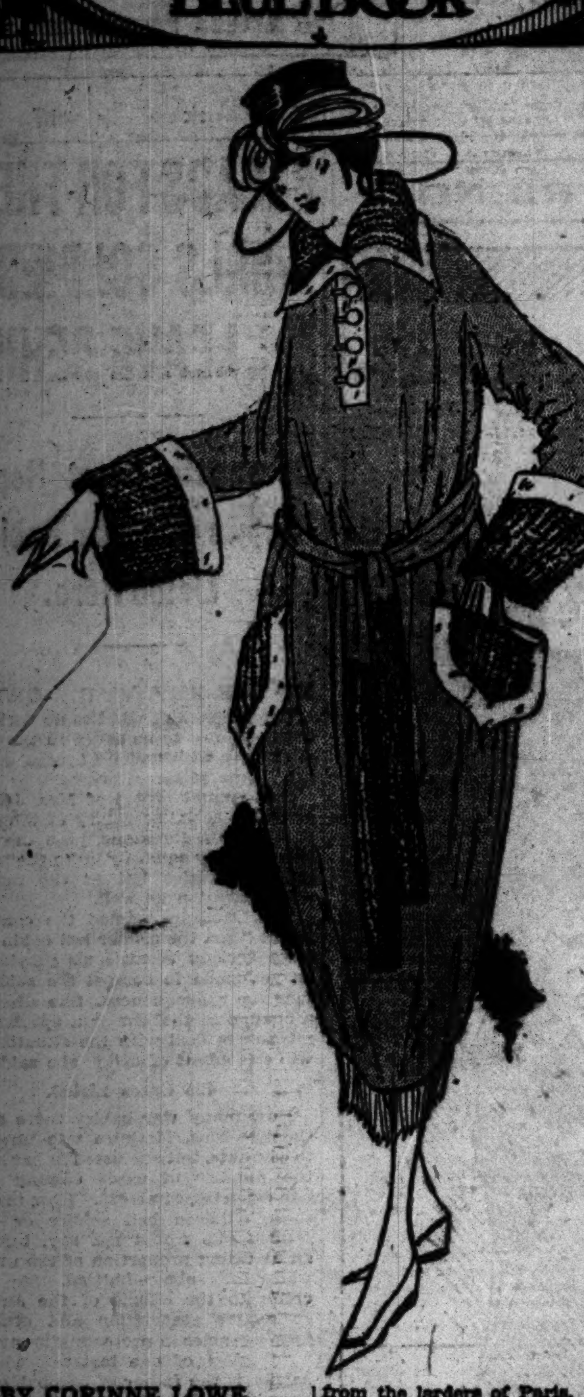
FASHION'S BLUE BOOK



BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Nowadays no garment is a respecter of coiffures. Milady's head is the outpost of the toilette, the sentinel that keeps watch and guard over every new costume. These trip over the head things—we have had them in blouses and dresses and suits and occasionally we find one even in the coat.

Even so with the above coat, fresh from the larders of Paris. Here Lanvin has made a stunning garment of sand color in the softest of wool and has trimmed it with natural colored wool faced with white grosgrain. This trimming is knitted—a fashion held over from the winter modes where so many smart Paris suits flew the knitted scarf collar.

Altogether one of the most appealing of the spring wraps which we have seen!

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Corn Cakes.

One of the most accomplished cooks in America, in running a restaurant in connection with one of the great expositions, did not serve pie, doughnuts, nor some of the other things objectionable to her. She had in their place foods so attractive that no one missed the stock supplies.

It seems to me that we need to do something of the sort today in our homes. The general public has sufficient access to my ear, so I know it is too much thinking about what we may not have and too little skill in cooking what we may legitimately use that is rendering the present situation "disconcerting."

If using animal foods to get our food fuel is like using brass bound mahogany furniture when pine sticks would give just as good a fire and not leave a residue of twisted metal, using up human tissue for the same purpose is an extravagance many times multiplied. Though the bearer of that tissue may have saved some ounces of food, the world is tons poorer. This is the truer for the reason that the people who are giving their hearts and souls to help the world today were never wasters. They seem to me to need caution today before they sacrifice themselves too far. I know that they are the readers of this column rather than the other sort who need to be urged in the name of patriotism to cut down on their diet.

But to get back to the starting point. Suppose we specialize so completely and effectively on Monday with corn, on Tuesday with potatoes, on Wednesday with rice, on Thursday with oatmeal, on Friday with corn again, that by Saturday and Sunday we can afford to use our allowance of flour as a luxury of the type that goes with week ends. On Sunday in particular, some of the family have more time to think of what they have to eat and are not so well informed on why we need to save and how as the one who plans and provides.

Suppose we supplement our Monday corn with milk for breakfast, with maple sirup for luncheon, with cheese at dinner. In some such way we can safely use corn all day as the chief sustenance at each meal. We can turn and twist about in many ways. For instance, a cornmeal souffle or a spoon bread is always palatable and delicious. With a creamed vegetable along with it we may have a delightful and handsome and satisfying meal.

Meat gravies with what are called Roman gnocchi, which is mush with a little cheese grated in when hot, spread in half inch layers, covered so as not to dry, and then cut in little rounds and recooked, easily help to make a complete meal. I have had these at expensive hotel dinners in Europe. The cooks of Europe know how to use cornmeal, though the poor people of France and England do not. All the people in the region of France where Pasteur was born use cornmeal, and in certain parts of Italy and Switzerland people have little else to eat than their polenta, which is our mush.

The second and wet cooking of cornmeal is fundamental to the best effects. Suppose we cook one-half cup of granulated cornmeal, with which you can get the best effects for mush, in a pint of water and one-half teaspoon of salt, for at least an hour, and longer is better. When it is partly cool, let us add a well beaten egg and then thin it with cream so that it will spread on an aluminum griddle. It should have also a little oil or butter, so that it will not stick and the griddle should not be overhot. In little cakes this is highly glorified mush.

ASK ME! ASK ME!

MOTHER: No, the "Elsie Dinsmore" stories have never been pictured. I am afraid "Elsie" was never naughty enough to become popular on the screen. I agree with you that children should not be taken to see just anything that happens to come along. There are many delightful pictures suitable for children and the managers of most neighborhood theaters take care to book these when they are released. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope, I will mail you a list of the pictures I think your little boy and girl would enjoy. Don't feel that way about it. I am always at your service, and delighted to be.

FRITZI BRUNETTE

She Said Once Several Years Ago: "I Hope I Never Leave Selig." She's Still There.

The Story of the Man Who Wouldn't Stay a Derelict

"THE CITY OF PURPLE DREAMS."

Produced by Selig.
Directed by Colin Campbell.
Presented at the Ziegfeld.
The Cast:

The Derelict	Thomas Santschi
The Girl	Bessie Eyton
The Anarchist	Fritzi Brunette

By Mae Tinée.

There was once a Derelict whose hand was against every man's and against whom was every man's hand. The heavy paw of the law was constantly shoving him from place to place and he had arrived at the state of mind when it mattered to him not at all just what happened to him.

Into his life came a Girl. She was a Daughter of the Rich and her life had been sheltered and happy. Her automobile brushed the Derelict. The Derelict removed the chauffeur from his seat and spanked him soundly. The police came and would have removed the Derelict. But the Girl intervened in his behalf and he was allowed to remain.

Said the Girl to him, eyeing him with calm interest:

"You are the dirtiest man I ever saw. Take this, get clean, and stay clean!"

She climbed back into her machine and was gone. But her words would always remain.

The Derelict purchased soap and got clean. From then on it was his ambition to climb. He would mount the pinnacle where the girl dwelt. That he had to use as stepping stones, The Anarchist, a dark, intense woman who loved him, the man who loved her and various and sundry others encountered in the journey upward, mattered not at all.

He wanted the Girl. He got her.

That's the story. It is interesting enough and exceedingly well played. The book from which it was taken is Edwin Baird's. Bessie Eyton and Fritzi Brunette, who look a great deal alike, are among the ablest of the stock players. Thomas Santschi gives forceful character delineations usually, and this time is no exception, though the part is not one of his best.

It seemed to me that too many of the "sets" were too apparently "sets." The movie camouflage of the day is so apt that we feel a little cheated when we detect the ribs beneath the silken covering.

Real Love Stories

And Now It's True.

Returning to college from a week end visit, I missed my connections and was forced to wait several hours for the next train. It was Sunday evening and the station was deserted, except for a disreputable looking man, with an alcoholic atmosphere, asleep in the corner. Even the agent had shut his window and gone home between trains.

I chose the corner farthest from the alcoholic one, settled myself, and soon was deeply interested in a magazine story. Some time later a stealthy footfall penetrated my absorption. My companion had waked up, discovered me, and was coming unsteadily across the floor to make himself agreeable.

It was terrifying. To scream would be worse than useless, for if heard at all, in that part of town it was more likely to bring another assailant than a protector. So I summoned all my nerve, stared coldly and steadily at the man's ingratiating smile, then dropped my eyes again to the magazine.

It worked! But only temporarily, for in five minutes he was coming toward me again. And this time I felt that it would take more than freezing glances to keep him from touching me. Just as I was about to faint from sheer terror, the door opened and a young man came in. One look at my white face must have been enough, for he crossed the floor quickly, slipped his hand through the man's arm, swung him around, and led him away.

Shortly my preserver came back. "Pardon me," he said, "but to keep that man from annoying you I had to tell him I was your husband. If I don't stay with you he won't believe it."

Well, that was five years ago, and now whenever Lewis tells a man that he is my husband it is the truth.

D. B. H.

Thank Him for Pleasure.

"Dear Miss Blake: If a boy takes me home from a party, is it proper to thank him? What is the proper thing to say when parting?

"BLUE EYES."

Mrs. Grundy would have us believe that it is bad form to thank a man after he has given you entertainment and escorted you home. Knowing how we all like to be appreciated, I overrule this edict. I believe in a girl telling a boy she has had a very happy evening, if she has had it, and in giving him a simple expression of thanks for the pleasure.

WOMEN IN WARTIME

Here is a story about a woman of 40 for whom the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense has been able to find work. She came into the committee's employment office last week, along with several hundred other applicants, and told the women in charge that she wanted to offer her services to the nation in place of her son, who had recently died in a military camp at Montgomery, Ala. This was one of the cases where the experience of the woman of 40 made her a valuable person. She was immediately given a position as secretary and will go abroad to work for the Y. M. C. A. Because of her son's insurance money she was able to volunteer her services without a salary.

Did anybody ever eat a mock sausage? It has been offered in the woman's committee meatless meat contest, which closes on Feb. 10. It is made of beans and bread and seasoned so that it tastes like sausage. Horticultural bean loaf is another recipe sent to the committee. It is created by a skillful amalgamation of beans, tomatoes, and bread crumbs. Meatless meat soups are barred from the contest, the committee announces. The dish must, they announce, look as well as taste like meat.

An organization meeting for the Twenty-third ward will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the residence of Mrs. Arthur Meeker, 3030 Lake Shore drive. The speakers will be Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Mrs. Dunlap Smith, Mrs. Harlan Ward Cooley, and Mrs. Henry Solomon.

A patriotic rally for girls will be held at the Chicago Commons at 4 p. m. today under the auspices of the woman's committee. Another has been called for Feb. 8 at Hull house.

The Allied Arts unit of the Red Cross has among its various groups of workers fifty energetic and loyal women, members of the Swedish-American club, who spend a large part of their time at the allied arts workrooms on North Michigan avenue. Another effective group is that composed of members of the Buena Catholic Woman's club. These latter women, members of the parish of Our Lady of the Lake, work for the allied arts unit at the parish house on Kenmore and Buena avenues.

On Saturday evening there will be a large ball given by Le Cenacle at the Swedish club for the benefit of the fatherless children of France. Mrs. W. C. Schulze is the chairman in charge of arrangements.

Today is Red Cross day with the Irving Park Woman's club, which will meet at 2 p. m. in Myrtle Masonic temple. Mrs. Jean Hull will speak on Red Cross work in France.

The Big Sisters, an organization formed to aid and protect young girls in the city, will hold its regular quarterly meeting on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Hotel Sherman, west room. The Rev. Frederic Siedenburg of Loyola university and Judge Victor P. Arnold of the Juvenile court will address the meeting. An invitation is extended to all Catholic women of the city to be present.

The United States Daughters of 1812 did not organize for war work until November, 1917, because the members were almost without exception working with other clubs or with Red Cross auxiliaries.

In November, however, a unit for war work was organized, with the sole object of furnishing knitted articles in response to special appeals. Mrs. Morton W. Thompson of 5002 Drexel boulevard was made chairman and during the two months which have elapsed since the unit was established has forwarded approximately 150 knitted garments, many of them to a base hospital at one of the cantonments, for convalescent men.

Put Your Heart in Your Brush When Combing Your Hair

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

WAS IT YOU?

It was New Year's eve. Which New Year's eve I will not say—except that it was a recent New Year's eve. A young woman sat combing her hair before a mirror, which is as it should be. The young woman's heart was not in her brush and the hair responded lusterlessly to her efforts. The young woman's mind was not on her hair, although be it said in all fairness her hair was on her mind. For she really had a mind. The trouble was that it didn't work consecutively or consistently. And maybe that was why on New Year's eve the young woman found herself the stay at home of the whole large boarding house.

"There must be something wrong with me," she mused, grudgingly at first.

"There is something radically wrong with me," she convinced herself after the first thought had wormed itself safely into her conscious mentality.

"I get these spells of downheartedness worst when I slump in my looks. And I notice when I have a vigilant spell on I have a better time. But the days I feel shifty not even old faithful George in the cashier's cage gives me encouragement. Knowing this I wonder why I ever get shifty!

"And how I hate being left out of things! And here it's New Year's eve and everybody else out having a good time.

"Well, here's my belated resolution! Next time I feel like slumping into bed without scrubbing my face and without a warm bath, without brushing my hair I'm going to recall this ghastly lonely evening."

And the young woman's heart went into her brush!

Bright Sayings of the Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Write on one side of the paper only. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

Dorothy was sent to a butcher's shop for some round steak. On finding that the butcher had no more round steak she said timidly, "Well, then, just div me the square." D. L.

At a family reunion every one laughed heartily at one of grandpa's jokes. Ruth laughed, too, although she hadn't the slightest idea what it was all about. When the fun was over she remarked breathlessly: "O, dear, gran'pa, I guess that's the cutest thing you ever said." L. M.

A friend liked to tease Max. One day when he thought she had been too rough with him he jammed his hands deep into his overall pockets and, backing away from her, asked, "What do you think I is—something to pay with or something weal?" M. E. W.

DRIVE AWAY HEADACHE
Rub Musterole on Forehead and Temples

A headache remedy without the dangers of "headache medicine." Relieves headache and that miserable feeling from colds or congestion. And it acts at once! Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Used only externally, and in no way can it affect stomach and heart, as some internal medicines do.

Excellent for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, all pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

Gentlemen:
You may be pleased to know that I have had brilliant success with your Goat Milk in feeding. In selected cases, which did poorly on cow's milk for any reason, I have used Goat's Milk with very good results.
During the recent typhoid fever epidemic in Modesto, Goat's Milk proved especially valuable.
I have fed my own baby on Goat's Milk for the past two months, and the results have been very gratifying.

Chrissie Tomlins, Traveler, Back in Home Town for Good

Every one who remembers little Chrissie Tomlins, who used to play with her girlhood friends in Chicago and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Tomlins, have been delighted of late to know that the traveler and lecturer, Miss Christine Tomlins of London and New York, is in the city—her own city, she insists—for good and all.

Miss Tomlins has been a frequent visitor—or returner—here, but she has always left just as we were beginning to know her over again. But after doing a lot of war relief work in London and later coming to New York, she is now here with her father, and they are living at 118 East Superior street.

Next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock she is to speak at the Cordon, and before this there will be several luncheon parties at the club, at one of which she is to be the guest of honor when Mrs. William Scott Bond will entertain for her.

The North Side Current Events class will meet at 701 Rush street this morning. Miss Julie Adams will speak on "Political Unrest in Germany."

Mme. Marie Lydia Standish will give a program of musical readings in costume, accompanied by Mrs. Estelle Hibbard Osborne at the piano, this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Blackstone hotel, under the auspices of the woman's branch of the State Council of Defense.

Armour institute will give its annual sophomore prom on Friday evening in the Colonial room of the Edgewater Beach hotel. Miss Nadine Reno and Homer E. Anderson will lead the grand march.

The regular monthly meeting of the Chicago center, U. S. A. branch of the English Folk Dance society, will be held this evening at 7:45 o'clock at Bartlett gymnasium, University of Chicago. Cecil Sharp and Miss Karpeles of the parent society will be present.

The Chicago Wellesley club will give a recital at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Playhouse, the proceeds of which will go to the fund to be raised for sending a Wellesley unit to France.

A card party will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. F. D. Breit of 5700 Washington boulevard by the members of St. Catherine's High school auxiliary.

Mrs. Frederick H. Hammond of 1016 Berwyn avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Katherine Margaret, to E. Chatfield Koogle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Iredale Koogle of Evanston.

The engagement is announced of Miss Agnes Marion Daley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Daley of 4236 St. Lawrence avenue, to Austin E. Walsh, son of David T. Walsh. Mr. Walsh is stationed at Camp Grant.

The marriage of Miss Blanche Mayer, daughter of Mrs. Melanie Mayer of [illegible] Michigan avenue, to Walter Loeb of Clinton, Ill., will take place today at the Hotel Sherman.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Ruth H. Bernbaum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Bernbaum of [illegible] East Fiftieth place, to Leo L. Kaplan, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Kaplan.

What Do You Think of the Tombola Idea for Charity's Sake?

BY CINDERELLA.

I know it's rather soon to be talking about another great charitable matter, when the ink's hardly dry on the Great Lakes benefit checks. But such is the perspective. Something has to be doing for our local charities, the ones that profit by the annual charity ball, and what that something will be is not yet decided.

In London this winter they had a very remunerative thing called a tombola, which people made lots of fun of, because they said it was an early Victorian idea. But it seems to have made heaps and heaps of money. The idea seems to have been to get dressmakers to give gowns and opera coats, and the furriers to give furs, and the milliners to give hats, and the jewelers to give jewels, and real estate people to give houses and lots, and others to give motors and horses and live stock, and then they sell tickets and everybody gets something and somebody gets the good things.

It took like wildfire in London. Course I don't know how the tombola would appeal to our local dressmakers, furriers, etc.

The Great Lakes benefit on Saturday night at Medinah temple was the most brilliant one of the winter. It went off so well. The women wore pretty clothes, gay colors, and I think I even say a tiny tiara of diamonds in Mrs. Hamilton McCormick's hair. Mrs. Pullman, Mrs. Agnes McCormick, Mrs. Watson Blair, Mrs. Arthur Ryerson, Mrs. Chalmers, Mrs. Charles Pike, Mrs. Countiss, and many others dined large parties beforehand and brought them. The great Sousa led the famous band and rosy cheeked jackies in snowy linen sailor suits (brr!) did the ushering.

Putting guns together under our very noses, also aero engines, and sinking submarines was a part of the evening's work. But the wonderful Swedish exercise drill was what stirred everybody up to go home and do likewise.

And what clog dancing and acrobatics by the sprightly jack tars, and what cunning clowns they were! And when the war is over it appears to me Maestro Campanini can find a rather good baritone among the sailor boys, or was he a basso?

The navy people all came down from Great Lakes in Lieut. and Mrs. Goodman's party, occupying the central or royal box—they all came, that is, except Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, wife of Lieut. Dewey, aid of Capt. Moffett. Mrs. Dewey has recently overworked, broken down, and been very ill in the beautiful Georgian house in the Green Bay road north of Lake Forest.

Mrs. Dewey has been foremost in navy relief work, and she has four lovely little children. These, with fifteen feet of snow on Green Bay road, make la vie un peu compliquée.

Another active one who has been compelled to forego work is Mrs. Mitchell Follansbee, who is ill with typhoid fever in New York. Mrs. Follansbee went to Washington for the suffrage convention, was the wellest of the well a fortnight ago, dropped down to Florida, and then back to New York to meet her husband. Her illness developed there.

Shattuck in Early Victorian Mood; a Quiet Sunday

Sunday's concert schedule, normally a mad Tam o' Shanter ride for the music critic, was yesterday a placid matter of but three concerts.

At the Grand Opera house that crisp and straightforward pianist, Arthur Shattuck, closed his program with a group of early Victorian compositions unprofitably rescued from oblivion. One must except from this unattractive classification the beautiful A flat study of Liszt, which was delivered with fine, swinging rhythm and splendid feeling for its noble poetry.

But his invasion of the nursery with the tinkling trivialities of Moscheles' "Fairy Tale" was tedious in a stepmotherly fashion. Likewise his excursion into oratorio brought forth a banal arrangement of Mephisto's serenade from "The Damnation of Faust," and his revival of the empty technicalities of Thalberg, despite the brilliant display effected, made the listener grateful that one epoch of piano playing has passed into the discard.

It is gratifying to record that Mr. Shattuck was heard by a more numerous audience than in former seasons, for he has patriotically donated a private income of $50,000 a year to war charities and is supporting himself by his art.

The season's only program devoted entirely to American music was offered in the Studebaker theater by the American Choral society assisted by the American Symphony orchestra. Again it is pleasant to record that the response of the public was generous. It must be a source of deep satisfaction to Mr. Gunn, who first championed the cause of native music in these parts, to witness the steady growth of interest which has followed his efforts.

Yesterday's program opened with a gently conventional overture by Roland Leach, who left his place among the first violins of the orchestra to conduct his work with taste and authority. Miss Belle Tannenbaum, whose wholesome charm happily typified young American womanhood, displayed that fortunate combination of poise, imagination, and technical efficiency which make for artistic authority, in a brilliant performance of the MacDowell A minor concerto.

The American Choral society, under Dr. Protheroe, provided the second half of the program, offering Horatio Parker's "King Gorm the Grim," a new patriotic hymn entitled "My Land," by Protheroe, which must serve for the purposes of this review, and sundry unaccompanied numbers for mixed and female chorus. It is an efficient body of singers, well drilled as to ensemble, producing a solid body of tone, vital in fortissimo and efficient in matters of contrast. The orchestra seemed to be on it mettle and gave a splendid account of itself.

Roger Bromley, baritone, gave a program in Fine Arts Recital hall. The young man has a good natural voice of considerable warmth. R. M.

OBITUARY.

John Minwegen's Funeral to Be Held This Morning

The funeral services for John Minwegen, ex-alderman, who was asphyxiated while attempting to repair a leaking gas pipe, will be held this morning at 9:30 from the residence, 115 East Oak street, and at 10 o'clock from St. Joseph's church, Hill and Orleans streets. Interment at St. Boniface.

The pallbearers will be Judge John M. O'Connor, Judge John A. Mahoney, Silas Robinson, Matt Weiss, Tom O'Hare, and Bernard Conlon.

Daughter of Ex-Justice Beckwith Dies in East

Mrs. Anna Beckwith Cutter, widow of Edward Payson Cutter, is dead at Attleboro, Mass. She was born in Chicago in 1854 and was a daughter of the late Corydon Beckwith, former justice of the Illinois Supreme court and later for thirty years general counsel of the Chicago and Alton. John W. Beckwith, formerly Municipal judge, is a brother. Burial will be at Cambridge, Mass.

MRS. ELECTA THAYER, widow of Sylvester Thayer, who was among the early residents of Chicago, died yesterday in her residence at 611 Groveland Park. She was 98 years old. Mr. Thayer was one of the charter members of Grace Episcopal church and one of the founders of St. Luke's hospital. Mrs. Thayer was the oldest member of Grace church.

Galli-Curci Crowds the N. Y. Hippodrome

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Enough persons to populate a village crowded into the Hippodrome tonight to greet Mme. Galli-Curci at her first New York concert appearance with the Chicago Opera company orchestra. There were 5,970 persons present. It was a $20,000 house, which is a record. Of this, $12,000 will go to the Society for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis.

Mme. Galli-Curci, though singing under difficult conditions, left no doubt in the minds of those who had heard her in opera that she is a great artist. Despite the vastness of the Hippodrome auditorium, which is unsuited to the singing voice, the prima donna convinced the many who heard her of her premiership.

M'ADOO TO BE WHOLE POWER OF NEW BANK PLAN

Will Name Four Directors and Has Power to Dismiss Them.

BY EUGENE HECTOR.
[Financial Editor of The Tribune.]

Some study of the provisions of the bill introduced in congress at the request of Secretary McAdoo, providing for a "War Finance Corporation," with an authorized capital of $500,000,000, seems to indicate a desire, on the part of the secretary, to provide a government surplus, or reserve fund, to take care of any financial emergency which may arise during the progress of the war. If confidence be placed in the plan, and its objects are properly understood, it should beget a sense of financial security co-equal, almost, with that inspired by the federal reserve bank system.

It is, however, an emergency organization, though in a way has behind it during its lifetime, the period of the war, the resources of the government. As the draft of the bill stands the secretary of the treasury is the whole power under the bill, for, with the approval of the president, he not only appoints the four directors other than the secretary of the treasury, but also may dismiss them.

Time Not Specified.

While the authorized capital under the bill is $500,000,000, and congress is asked to appropriate that amount of money with which to subscribe for the stock, the bill does not provide that all the capital shall be issued at any one time. It might, for instance, start with $50,000,000 or $100,000,000. Its full capitalization would depend upon the increasing necessity for lending money.

If the full $500,000,000 capital should be subscribed, the lending power of the war finance corporation would be $4,000,000,000, eight times the amount of the capital, as provided in the bill. It would be possible to raise this amount, since the notes of the corporation are to be received at the federal reserve bank and discounted the same as other government bonds and certificates.

That $4,000,000,000 is a relatively large sum will be understood when comparison is made with the loans of the entire national banking system of the United States which, on Nov. 20, were $9,535,000,000. The secretary of the treasury, therefore, with his single war finance corporation, will be able to lend nearly one-half as much as the combined 7,656 national banks of the country.

Object of the Bill.

Primarily, the object of the bill is: "To make advances upon such terms not inconsistent herewith as it (the war finance corporation) may decide for periods not exceeding five years from the respective dates of such advances, [1] to any bank, banker, or trust company which has outstanding any loan or loans to any person, firm, corporation, or association whose operations shall be necessary or contributory to the prosecution of the war, and evidenced by note or notes, or

"To any bank, banker, or trust company which has rendered financial assistance, directly or indirectly, to any such person, firm, corporation, or association by the purchase of its bonds or other obligation, etc."

Also, the corporation may make advances to savings banks or other banking institutions which receive savings deposits, that have advanced money deemed necessary or contributory to the prosecution of the war, "or important to the public interest." This latter provision affords room for liberal interpretation by the treasury department.

May Make Direct Advances.

It is also provided that the corporation may—

"In exceptional cases, make advances directly to any person, firm, corporation, or association whose operations shall be necessary or contributory to the prosecution of the war."

Finally, in order to restrict as much as possible the necessity for government help, the bill provides that the war finance corporation may, "under rules and regulations to be prescribed by the corporation, with the approval of the secretary of the treasury, investigate and license, or refuse to license, the sale or offerings of sale, or for subscription of securities, as hereinafter provided.

Must Have McAdoo's O. K.

"No person, firm, corporation, or association shall sell, or offer for sale, or for subscription, any issue or any part of any issue of securities hereafter issued, the par or face value of which shall be in excess of $100,000, except in accordance with such rules and regulations as the corporation, with the approval of the secretary of the treasury, shall prescribe, nor when required by such rules and regulations, except as permitted by licenses granted by the corporation."

The secretary's plan provides, therefore, a strict scrutiny of new capital issues, which scrutiny means whether the new capital will be contributory to the prosecution of the war;

For assisting any banking institution which may be carrying an unusual load of credit extended to aid a concern contributing to the prosecution of the war;

For lending money in an emergency to take care of which may be "important to the public interest."

Might Swamp the Concern.

But the secretary of the treasury has in his bill another provision whose exercise might swamp the concern. It is the authority: "To subscribe for, acquire and own, buy, sell, and deal in bonds and obligations of the United States to such an extent as the secretary of the treasury may, from time to time, determine."

Bankers probably will regard with the most concern the provision which makes the notes of the war finance corporation discountable at the federal reserve banks and for which discounts federal reserve notes may be issued. However, it must be a matter of public trust in the intelligent and careful exercise of the provisions of the plan.

CHICAGO BANKS MAKE RECORD BREAKING EARNINGS

A detailed accounting of the record breaking earnings of the banks of Chicago during the calendar year just closed is contained in the following compilation by Babcock, Rushton & Co.

It is interesting to note that the more nearly the banks approached exclusive commercial operations the greater their earnings proportionately. Trust companies doing a large bond business lost a part of the large earnings shown by their loaning business because of the writing off of losses in bonds on their shelves.

The earnings shown are sufficient explanation of the fact that bank stocks suffered less, marketwise, than any other high grade security. Net reported should be considered in connection with the practice of the banks at the close of the year in charging off everything possible. The majority could have shown much larger earnings by appropriating for normal charges.

By following the entries for each bank from left to right, a complete report of its operating results for the year are shown; deposits, capital, surplus, undivided profits, earnings for the year and their ratio to capital, and the yield of the stock on its market price:

MORRIS EARNS MORE BUT PAYS LESS DIVIDENDS

Profits Are $5,400,000 or 14 1-4% on Capital Investment.

Morris & Co. report for the fiscal year ended Nov. 3, 1917, earnings both net and gross of practically double those of the previous year. Net earnings were $5,401,071, or 14¼ per cent on the $38,000,000 average capital investment for the year.

The net amounts to 180.03 per cent on the $3,000,000 capital stock, and compares to $3,832,212, or 127.74 per cent earned in the previous year. The company paid but $150,000 in dividends during the year, 5 per cent on the stock, as compared to $1,000,000, or 33 1-3 per cent paid during the previous year.

Inventories Increase.

The balance sheet shows inventories of $42,000,000, as compared to $26,000,000 a year ago. Like all packers, Morris & Co. have been heavy borrowers in financing the turnover. Bills payable amount to $25,900,000, as compared to $9,200,000 a year ago.

In his report to stockholders, Nelson Morris, chairman of the board, says:

"We take pleasure in again reporting the best year in our history, with profits of $5,400,000, or 14¼ per cent on our capital investment of $38,000,000 after making our usual liberal reserve for depreciation and all taxes.

Two Wage Increases.

"We have made two voluntary wage increases during the year and have given the pension fund a special Christmas gift of $100,000 in addition to our usual annual gift of $25,000, which has enabled the trustees to remove all restrictions and thus make every employé eligible.

"Over 700 of our men have joined the colors.

"We are operating under the federal food administration license and are cooperating in every possible manner with the government."

Junk Shop Fire Causes Loss Estimated at $15,000

Fire damaged a four story brick building at 1333 Sloan street yesterday afternoon owned by M. Dry, who conducted a junk shop on the first floor and lived above the store.

The fire started among rags in the shop and spread rapidly to the floors above.

The loss is estimated by Dry to be $15,000, of which $10,000 is covered by insurance.

TO THE HOLDERS OF
First and Refunding Mortgage Five Per Cent. Gold Bonds
OF
The Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Co.
issued under the Mortgage dated August 1, 1908,
to Bankers Trust Company, as Trustee:

Default has been made in the payment of the interest due February 1st, 1918, on the above bonds, although a surplus over all fixed charges was earned during the calendar year 1917 and notwithstanding the fact that, other than the Western Pacific judgment which is junior to said bonds, the Company had no unusual floating debt and its voucher account was not beyond the normal amount incident to its going business. It is possible that this default may be cured before the expiration of the period of grace provided in the mortgage, and the Committee is using every effort to bring about this result. It must, however, be evident to all bondholders that, if under such circumstances a default is permitted to take place, immediate co-operation for their protection is necessary. Bondholders are therefore requested to promptly deposit their bonds with the Depositary or Sub-Depositary named below.

All deposited bonds, whether registered or coupon, must be in negotiable form and coupon bonds must bear the coupon of February 1, 1918, and all subsequent coupons. Upon such deposit, certificates of deposit will be issued as provided in the Deposit Agreement, dated May 28, 1917.

Copies of the Deposit Agreement may be obtained upon application to the Depositary or Sub-Depositary or to the Secretary of the Committee.

ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY

The annual meeting of the stockholders of Commonwealth Edison Company will be held at the office of the company, Room 1700, Edison Building, 72 West Adams Street, Chicago, Illinois, on Monday, February 25th, 1918, at 12:00 o'clock noon, for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors and transacting such other business as may properly be brought before such meeting.

The meeting is called for Monday, February 25th, in conformity with the provisions of the by-laws, but in view of the recent order of the Fuel Administration, practically closing office buildings on Mondays for ten weeks, the meeting will probably be adjourned to the following day at the same hour and place.

BELIEVE WHEAT SUPPLY ON FARM STILL LIBERAL

Continued Decrease in Movement of This Grain Attracts Much Notice.

The steady decrease in the movement of wheat is attracting attention and the question arises as to whether the crop is closely marketed or whether farmers are holding back liberal supplies. The latter is generally accepted as true and most of the trade believe that there is plenty of wheat back. Where farmers have no other grain but wheat to sell there is little reason for holding it, but in those districts where they have also corn, oats, or barley to market, it can readily be seen why they would be in no hurry to sell wheat.

They know that the price of wheat will not decline, but realize that existing high values for the other grains are the result of railroad congestion and that as soon as a movement something like normal takes place there is apt to be a severe slump in prices for corn, oats, and barley.

Some Think Crop Over-Estimated.

Some have advanced the idea that the wheat crop might have been overestimated, but on the other hand, most of the trade are of the opinion that the government figures did not do justice to the winter wheat yield.

Wheat receipts at the primary markets for the season total only 145,[illegible] bu, compared with 279,394,000 bu for a similar period last year and [illegible] bu two years ago.

Oats at New High Mark.

New high prices for the season were established in the oats market in the last week, after which the market reacted and closed slightly below the resting spots of the previous Saturday. Small receipts and steadily advancing premiums for cash oats created much buying enthusiasm during the early part of the week.

Corn futures were dull and disposed to follow the movements of oats. Prices show little change for the week, the near deliveries being firm and May [illegible] weak.

Mandel Brothers' 43d February sale of silks

—annual affair brimming with economic benefits to all Chicago

In this forty-third yearly recurrence of a widely noted event, silk fabrics, in extraordinary variety—and silk apparel for outer and under wear—are centers of widespread interest, aroused by the incomparable newness, freshness, smartness of the displays, and the greatness of the values.

February sale of silks by the yard—newest of 1918 spring styles

Prominently featuring satin baronette in plain and novelty effects; pussy willow silks, panel and Batik printings, khaki kool in plain and novelty patterns; Italian silk jersey, tricolette fiber jersey, foulard silks in a wonderful range; "silkgingham" plaids. Refreshingly novel patterns, weaves and colors.

36-in. foulard silks

Foulards the favorites of all spring silks; cleverly arranged patterns and popular colors—advance styles for spring.

at 1.95

Coin dots, stripes and all-over patterns. Navy-and-white, copenhagen-and-white and black-and-white.

—32-inch silk shirtings, 1.28—

Absolutely pure silk, and imported direct from Japan. Stripes in many sizes and arrangements. Styles for men's shirts and for women's wear.

36-inch washable satin in white or flesh; all-silk; for utility garments; at 1.55. Daylight silk section, second floor.

All-silk shantungs

at 78c

A 32-inch hand-loom product from China, and in the natural color. 78c is about one-fourth less than regular.

Black chiffon taffeta

at 1.38

35-inch; rich, lustrous, chiffon finish; adaptable to every outer garment. Value of extraordinary merit. Second floor.

The February sale of

Tricot silk underwear

—a sale we arranged for at lower figures months ago.

Tricot silk vests, 1.55

Hemstitched or tailor top; reinforcing; choose flesh or white.

Tricot knicker bloomers, in flesh or white, 2.25.

Tricot silk union suits; tailor band finish; at 3.50.

Tricot silk vests, lace trimmed and strapless; 1.95.

Novelty tricot silk bloomers, 1.95

—in green, purple, navy, black or gold. Unusual value. 3rd floor.

The above garments may be had in extra sizes, at a slight advance in price.

Silk petticoats—Feb. sale

remarkable for beauty of styles—and for excellence of values.

Milanese silk jersey top petticoats—taffeta silk flounce—

at 3.95

The taffeta of heavy quality and in changeable colorings. 3.95.

Hand made filet lace edges—3½ to 6 inch—2.45

They're a large consignment recently secured by our representative in China and shipped to us direct. 2.45 yd. is an extremely low quotation on hand made laces of such high quality. First floor.

—5,000 yds. of filet picot edges, special at 48c yd.—

These, likewise, are exceedingly well made; and they are much in demand. 48c is an exceptionally moderate price.

Ultra-modish wool and silk poplins at 1.75

You'll admire the rich, silky luster, and find it easy to choose from a wide range of fashionable spring colors and black. These cloths, while very dressy, are unusually durable. They're a bargain at 1.75 yd.

Chuddah crepe, special, 1.95

A very handsome, light weight, lustrous, close clinging fabric that is to be very popular this season. Second floor.

54-inch, fine grade, all-wool jersey cloths, preferred for stylish suits and dresses. Every wanted color.

Georgette crepe blouses

in a February sale of far more than ordinary importance.

The front daintily hand embroidered—the blouses special

at $6

Drawn work and tucked yoke back. White or flesh. Style pictured.

Tailored madras blouses at $2

Striped madras blouses with convertible collar, pocket and pearl buttons. Blouse shop, third floor.

Women's selected kid gloves

at 1.85

Made of imported stock, pique sewn, and with 4-row embroidered back. Correct in style and weight.

Women's imported French lambskin gloves, 1.45

—gloves of selected stock, in white, and overseam sewn. Very special. First floor.

Tailored frocks such as now are ultra-fashionable. The values are quite out of the common run.

Smart serge frocks

29.50

A variety of smart new models in all serge or serge and satin combined. Navy, tan or black.

Tailored frocks, $35

The model pictured in navy serge and styled with collar and tucked yoke of georgette crepe.

Spring coats, $50

A clever design developed in the newest tone of silver-tipped velour; the coats fully peau de cygne lined. Fourth floor.

Madeira sample h'dk'fs in a half-price sale

Clearing, at substantial savings, the entire sample line of a large Madeira establishment. First floor.

Lot 1:—at 35c

Lot 2:—at 50c

Lot 3:—at 75c

at 50c

Finest quality; khaki and dark oxford yarn for sweaters, light gray for socks. Full 2-ounce skeins.

Luncheon set stamped for cross stitch, 35c

Center scarf ends, and four doilies stamped in colors, in floral design. Third floor.

Mandel Brothers' 28th February homefurnishing sale

A famous opportunity for Chicagoans to gratify their pride in their homes—and at savings entirely in keeping with the national program of war-time thrift. The selling events here enumerated indicate the character of the opportunities—not their scope.

The February sale of furniture—our entire stock reduced

This the famous annual event widely famed for broad variety, high quality, and low price. Many pieces are reduced 25 to 50 per cent. These specials typical of hundreds more.

Clearance of American rugs

The nation is making increased demands on all the materials used in rug weaving—and the resultant high costs render these low prices quite remarkable:

at $35

8.3x10.6 quality royal seamless axminster rugs, at 31.50.
